Door Remaining Open Before Guinea Drive

Indonesia Has No Fear of Dutch, But Wants Peace

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Foreign Minister Subandrio told parliament Tuesday night that Indonesia can't be blamed if it takes West New Guinea by force but that the door is still open to a peaceful settlement with the Dutch rulers of the island territory.

Stresses Control

He made clear that Indonesia will accept only a settlement giving it control of the western half of the big island, which the Netherlands retained in 1949 when it granted the rest of the Netherlands East Indies independence.

Meanwhile, said Subandrio, "for us there is no other way but to carry out the people's command" by President Sukarno who ordered total mobilization of the nation Tuesday. Sukarno said he had instructed the armed forces to prepare to seize West New Guinea "at any time from now on."

Chance to Keep Peace

"The possibility has not yet been entirely closed that this question may be settled peacefully. The door is still open," Subandrio said in a lengthy statement explaining Indonesian policy toward the area it calls West Irian.

He invited the Dutch to "seize this opportunity before it is too late" and asserted that the world could not blame the Sukarno government if it launches military action to prevent the Dutch from carrying out their plan to transform West New Guinea into the state of West Papua which would have the right of ultimate self-determination.

"Let the Dutch not underestimate our strength," the foreign minister declared. "Let the Dutch not consider the hand extended by President Sukarno as weakness of Indonesia but as a final appeal to seek a peaceful way."

Pressure mounted in Holland for direct negotiations and the Dutch government said it was willing to talk under the auspices of the United Nations.

Urged by Kennedy

In Washington, ambassadors from both nations indicated to newsmen after separate talks at the State Department that their governments might accept outside help in reaching a solution. President Kennedy has urged both Indonesia and the Netherlands to seek a peaceful agreement.

Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant appealed in identical notes to Sukarno and Dutch Prime Minister Jan E. De Quay for both governments to "take no action which could give rise to a threat to peace and security."

To Halt Air Pollution

State Will Require Plans on Plants

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—In an effort to halt further air pollution, New York State soon will require approval of plans for construction or modification of industrial installations.

Beginning April 2, the State Air Pollution Control Board will pass on all plans for building or modifying large heating or power plants, incinerators and most manufacturing plants.

The board, in a statewide regulation Tuesday, said its approval would be required for such construction. Exempt from the order, the first issued by the board since it was established in 1957, are fuel-oil heaters in homes, small apartment buildings, restaurants and small bakeries.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner and board chairman, said the order was designed to "hold the line against increasing air pollution from new sources."

Hilleboe said that after April 2, a person who builds or modifies an installation covered by the order without state approval runs the risk of being ordered to tear down or modify the structure.

Willful violations of the order could result in fines and jail terms, he said.

The board emphasized that the order did not prohibit local governments from establishing and enforcing their own air-pollution laws. Many of the state's larger cities have local pollution ordinances.

Hilleboe said that the board now would concentrate on establishing air-quality standards on an area-by-area basis throughout the state.

When these standards are established, he said, air polluters will be required to take corrective action to conform to the state standards.

Site Decision Due Later

JFK, Macmillan May Shift Bermuda Talks

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy's ailing father, hospitalized with a stroke that caused partial paralysis, was somewhat improved this morning. And there definitely will be a meeting between the President and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain Thursday.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters, however, that there is a possibility the conference may be shifted from Bermuda to Palm Beach.

Await Doctor's Report

He said Macmillan, who arrived in Bermuda today, has been in touch with the chief executive and places himself at the President's disposal. A decision on the site of the conference will be reached late today on the basis of a report at that time from physicians attending 73-year-old Joseph P. Kennedy, one-time ambassador to Britain.

One doctor said the patient has "a slight paralysis of the left side," but he said the elder Kennedy was better than when he entered St. Mary's Hospital yesterday and better than he was last night.

Announcement that the Kennedy-Macmillan conference will go on came just before the President left the oceanfront mansion in Palm Beach where he is staying to drive to the hospital several miles away in West Palm Beach.

Osteopath Found Guilty in Death Of 12 Patients

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)— Dr. Albert L. Weiner, an osteopathic physician specializing in psychiatry, was found guilty Tuesday night of manslaughter for the deaths of 12 patients. He was acquitted of criminal responsibility in the deaths of three others.

A jury returned its verdict shortly before midnight, after 12 hours of deliberation.

It ended a trial that began 58 days ago in Camden County Court and included the testimony of nearly 200 witnesses.

Lengthy Records

Many were former patients who testified they saw dried blood on infusion tubing in Weiner's office. Nearly a score of the witnesses were medical experts. Records of the case filled 6,500 pages.

The state went beyond the language of the 15-count indictment which spoke only of hepatitis, a liver disease, to prove that the deaths were caused by serum hepatitis.

Prosecutor Norman Heine said he did this to show the deaths were attributable to Weiner's use of unsterile and contaminated equipment and drugs, said to be the cause of serum hepatitis.

The jury foreman, Miss Clara Szombat, 51, a secretary, responded "not guilty" to the court clerk's

Fire Is Blamed On Yule Lights

Too many outside Christmas lights on one circuit were blamed for a fire Tuesday night that drove Mr. and Mrs. Charles Golnek and five children from their Route 9W home in the Town of Ulster.

According to Chief Harry Lowe, an overloaded circuit caused fire to break out in the cellar of the Golnek home. Ulster Fire Company No. 5 responded and quickly extinguished the blaze with a CO2 extinguisher. Damage was kept to a minimum the chief said. The alarm was sounded at 8:15 p. m. and the Vols were back in the firehouse in an hour.

Discussion On Salary Is Heard

No Major Changes Due in Figures

A meeting of the Budget Committee, preparatory to adoption of a 1962 county budget, was scheduled this afternoon by the Board of Supervisors. Adoption of a final budget will take place tonight.

No major change in the tentative gross budget of $7,542,044.14 is expected, except for some corrections of errors which were made in preparation of copies of the proposed budget.

At the public hearing Tuesday night, attended by a few supervisors and a small delegation of the public, the principal objection was voiced by Thomas A. Brann, field representative of the Civil Employes Association, Inc., of Albany who termed the $120 across the board increase in pay for some 440 county employes "insufficient" and amounting to "less than nothing."

Letter Asks 12 Per Cent

James P. Martin, president of the Ulster Chapter, Civil Employes Association who had proposed a 12 per cent across the board increase, was present at the meeting but did not address it. He had proposed by letter that a 12 per cent increase be granted to bring local salaries up to that of other similar counties.

Alderman John P. Heitzman, (D) 12th ward, asked if County Superintendent of Highways Roland H. Green was aware of materials referred to by Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk which could save the city of Kingston upwards of $200,000 in street work in the city. Heitzman referred to a $25,000 increase in the cost of materials and supplies in the Highway Department budget and asked that it be explained.

Superintendent Green was not present at the hearing.

Asked if Green would be available at the meeting tonight for questioning, Chairman Robert F. Phinney said he did not know what Green's "commitments" might be.

JOSEPH P. KENNEDY

President's Dad Improves, Four Doctors on Hand

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy's father was reported "somewhat improved" this morning. The former ambassador to England, Joseph P. Kennedy, 73, spent a good night, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said.

There was still no decision, Salinger said, as to whether the President will go to Bermuda Thursday for his scheduled talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Awaits Further Reports

Kennedy was awaiting further reports from the doctors who are attending his father, seriously ill after suffering a stroke which left him slightly paralyzed.

The elder Kennedy was reported able to recognize his youngest son,

Assembly Nearing Windup

U.N. Charges Portugal On Refusing Land Data

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Weary U.N. delegates pushed to wind up the first part of the General Assembly session tonight after condemning Portugal for refusing to give the U.N. information on its overseas territories.

It was the second U.N. decision against Portugal within 24 hours. A Soviet veto Monday night blocked Security Council approval of a resolution calling on India to pull back its invasion of the three small Portuguese colonies on the west coast of India. The Indian army completed its conquest Tuesday.

India Leads Campaign

India led the campaign to condemn Portugal for refusing to furnish information on non-self-governing territories required by the U.N. charter. The vote was 90-3 with Portugal, South Africa and Spain voting no and Bolivia and France abstaining. The United States voted for the resolution after an unsuccessful attempt to soften the language of the resolution.

The resolution authorized creation of a seven-man committee to conduct an investigation of conditions in the Portuguese territories and called on member states "to deny to Portugal any support and assistance which may be used by it for the suppression of people of its non-self-governing territories."

NATO Chief Targets

The chief targets of the latter provision were the United States, Britain and other members of the North Atlantic Alliance from whom Portugal obtains military supplies as a member of NATO.

The steering committee called for adjournment by midnight until Jan. 15, but the assembly was expected to sit past the deadline in order to clear a number of items from its agenda.

The 104-nation budgetary committee assured assembly approval of a $200-million, 25-year bond issue to save the world body from bankruptcy. The committee rec-

Ellenville Area Breaks Are Under Troopers' Probe

The Ellenville Bowling Alley on Route 209, just outside the village was entered through a rear door. Pinball and cigarette machine coin boxes were smashed open and the intruders took upwards of $100 in change, according to Corporal Michael Bonney and Investigator Charles Teelon. The alleys are operated by Morris Winegar and Benjamin Elter of Ellenville.

The second burglary occurred at a garage in Napanoch operated by Willard and Robert Smith. There the intruders entered through a window and stole two tires and four to five dollars in pennies, the officers reported.

No clues to either break had been obtained this morning and according to the officers, there was no immediate indication that the burglaries had been committed by the same party.

Enclaves Barred to Reporters

Menon's Decision Puzzling to U.N.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian forces tidied up their hold on Portuguese Goa today behind an iron curtain. Newsmen were banned from the tiny enclaves seized in a 36-hour blitzkreig.

The Defense Ministry announced that the remaining points of resistance in Goa had collapsed but kept dozens of reporters and photographers waiting outside of the biggest enclave at the Indian command post town of Belgaum. The smaller enclaves of Damao and Diu, north of Bombay, fell earlier before the lightning attack launched early Sunday.

Must Clear Mines

Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, en route to the United Nations in New York, reportedly said prior to his departure that the military government had to organize and clear roads of mines and that it woud be some days before journalists would be allowed to enter.

The news ban left the outside world dependent on official Indian reports of the capitulation of Portuguese rule in the city.

Menon tod newsmen during a stopover in Cairo that he was returning to New York to place India's case clearly before the United Nations.

Diplomats at U.N. headquarters in New York were puzzled by Menon's haste. The General Assembly planned to recess today until mid-January, and the Soviet Union vetoed a Western cease-fire resolution in the Security Council Tuesday as India was completing its conquest. No further arraignment of India in the council or the assembly was expected.

Reds Acclaim Nehru

The Communist bloc and the Asian-African nations acclaimed the action by Prime Minister Nehru's forces. The United States, Britain, and other Western nations strongly condemned it.

Menon said India had been forced to liberate the three enclaves because 14 years of negotiation with Portugal had proved futile.

Nehru told newsmen that the ease with which India took over the three enclaves and the lack of casualties—the government said it lost eight dead and that Portuguese casualties were "small"—proved the "correctness of the Indian assessment of the situation."

"The colonial administration had cracked up and the people wanted and welcome india," Nehru said. He said U.N. critics of India were "obviously ignorant of the facts now as well as in the last dozen years or more."

Says Court Action Shows Welfare Changes Needed

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—City Manager Joseph Mitchell says the State Supreme Court action invalidating 12 of the 13 points of the city's controversial welfare code emphasizes a need for legislative changes at both the state and national levels.

"Here is a city trying to improve itself but being prevented from doing so by state and federal law," he said.

"We've had no grievances at all. We've cut taxes and the welfare budget. Our performance indicates we're right and the law should be changed."

The only point left standing after Justice Robert Doscher handed down his ruling Tuesday in the state-instigated action requires able-bodied relief recipients to report to the welfare department once a month.

Among those ruled illegal were ones denying relief payments to women continuing to have children out of wedlock and to able-bodied men refusing to work.

The plan, which turned this Hudson River Valley community into a seat of national controversy, was put into effect July 15.

The 12 points were placed under a temporary injunction Aug. 18 when the state began its move for a permanent injunction.

Mitchell, who fathered the welfare code, claimed it was designed to knock chiselers off the relief rolls and to cut the city's welfare bill. He said in July that one-third of the city's annual $3 million budget went into welfare expense.

Mahoney Says It's Early To Decide No Tax Refund

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Senate majority leader Walter J. Mahoney maintains that any decision on a tax refund next year is premature, despite an apparent attack on this view from within the Rockefeller administration.

There are indications that Gov. Rockefeller, who is a candidate for re-election next year, feels that talk about tax relief could hurt him at the polls.

The Republican governor frequently is called on to emphasize his decision against tax relief.

The state government will be hard-pressed to balance the budget next year and a tax refund is out of the question, sources close to the governor maintain.

But Mahoney, when asked for comment on these reports, said Tuesday he would need complete information on the state's finances for the current fiscal year, which ends next March 31, before he could make a final decision on tax relief.

Mahoney said his position was that any conclusions on tax rebate should not be reached at this time. If things are as economy as administration sources report, the Republican leader said, there will be no tax cut.

In 1960, Mahoney advocated a 10 per cent rebate on personal income taxes. Rockefeller originally opposed the plan but eventually agreed to the $90 million rebate, which was given this year.

The administration, as it drafts a new budget, is emphasizing the high cost of meeting the needs of the state's population and providing services the people request from the government.

This approach apparently is intended to offset any sense of loss among taxpayers over statements there will be no tax rebate this year.

Rockefeller will outline his 1962 program, without the exact cost, in his annual message to the joint opening session of the Legislature Jan. 3. The budget will be submitted Feb. 1.

Trying Simple Approach To Lighten Welfare Costs

By TOM NOLAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — National attention is now centered on a District of Columbia plan for reducing its public welfare costs without resorting to the Newburgh, N. Y., formula. If the Washington experiment lives up to its promises, it may provide an example that can be copied in any of the 50 states to lighten their public assistance programs in the next two years.

The new D.C. project is intended to train mothers receiving checks under the Aid-to-Dependent-Children (ADC) program to become self-supporting, eliminating further welfare payments.

ADC payments for the entire United States are now averagin in better than $100 million a month. District of Columbia costs are $825,000 a month for 6,000 mothers and 17,000 children.

The Washington rehabilitation project is a "simple approach to a complex problem," according to Miss Mary E. Switzer, of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation (OVR), U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"What we do is focus all the resources of community agencies on this group of mothers," says Miss Switzer. "This unified approach means that each agency is not left alone to deal with the problem in its own way."

First year cost of the D.C. program is budgeted at $76,700. A Federal grant of $21,200 from OVR financed a new Rehabilitation Training Center. The remainder of the cost is met by such local Washington agencies as the department of public welfare, public health and recreation and the board of education. Contributions from local business and charity organizations also help finance the plan.

To be acceptable for the program a mother must have a physical, mental or emotional disability. Serious mental and physical defects are treated elsewhere.

Emotional handicaps are common among the mothers, many of them second or third generation public-aid receivers. "Most of them are completely helpless in facing everyday situations, such as buying food or riding a bus," says Fred A. Schumacher, OVR's expert on mental retardation. "There's a lot to teach them before they can become useful, self-supporting members of a community."

Mothers move into the center along with their children, remain there until they are trained, obtain paid employment and placed in modern public housing developments.

Training includes personal hygiene, cooking, learning how to talk on a telephone and how to make a bed.

Each woman goes through a lengthy employment - evaluation session which decides her future occupation. Job training follows, including how to act on a job, what to say durig a job interview, and how to use public transportation to get to work.

During her three or four months at the center, a mother contributes her monthly ADC check.

Most mothers start working before leaving the center. When they become adjusted to their jobs, they are placed in public housing. The D.C. National Housing Authority cooperates by giving them priority on housing lists.

Of the first 32 mothers admitted to the program, 28 are now employed full-time and are off the public welfare rolls. The jobs—produced by U. S. Employment Service and D. C. Department of Vocational Rehabilitation—range from a waitress and a cook's helper to an accountant and a doctor's aide.

The 28 mothers earn a total of $5,282 per month, an average of $188 each, compared to a total of $3,037 a month in ADC checks, an average of $108 each.

Welfare Department officials, figuring a 30 per cent placement rate would be a good result, are pleasantly surprised at the initial 88 per cent success. "It's just too good," says one.

OVR plans to continue its grant to the center—now training a second batch of 30 mothers—for two more years. "We need at least that long to completeiy evaluate the program," Schumacher says. "We have to follow up to make sure each person is well enough adjusted to stick to her job."

Then, if OVR is convinced the results are worthwhile, it will set up demonstration centers in each state. Local agencies will be free to adopt the program if they wish.

"We're not too bright, but everyone is very patient," says one woman presently in training, proudly adding: "I just learned how to make a square corner on my blanket."

A JOG FROM UNCLE SAM

The melancholy days are here again, and it's too bad. Too bad, that is, that we must start thinking about income tax returns during the joyful Yule season.

This year, because of new policy pronouncements by the Internal Revenue Service, the melancholia may take on a deeper indigo hue. For some, at least. That "some" includes thousands of housewives who have not been filing returns on wages paid domestic employes. It also includes their spouses who haven't been reporting interest and dividend payments they receive.

The law requires this and always has, but some of us just "forget." That forgetfulness, it is now estimated, has been losing Uncle Sam four to five billion dollars a year. So this year the old gentleman is offering us what he seems to regard as a break, to wit: Report this "forgotten" income this year, he says, and all will be forgiven about our past neglect.

But if we don't comply this year, look out! Our past may come crashing down about our ears. We might have to pay a penalty on that past forgetfulness. To refurbish an honored phrase, a word to the wives is sufficient. The word may suffice for their coupon-clipping husbands, too.

Rolling stones may gather no moss—but neither do they have to worry about fighting crabgrass.

PRICE OF PEACE

Occasionally the headline on a news story tells a good deal more than the bare words. This was such a case:

"Tanganyika, Set Free, Faces Budget Deficit."

This newest of the independent African nations is launched on its way with much hope it will pursue a domestic and world course marked by moderate democracy.

Yet it seems so typical of this age that it should be "born into trouble." It could not enjoy the comfort of a single day with a balanced budget, but was plunged instantly into the financial red.

Nowhere but in freedom can men's souls find the uplift that befits human nature. Today, however, they are learning that gaining and holding liberty compels them increasingly to bear painful, frustrating burdens which mar enjoyment of their prize.

Castro tells Cubans to wait for tomorrow, when "nothing will be lacking." They'll have to go some to beat the Russians and Red Chinese at that waiting game.

WATER WITH A 'HEAD'

Sometimes a small incident highlights a situation more effectively than a voluminous report. This was the case recently when, in a town on the East Coast, a glass of water from a private well tap bubbled over with detergent suds before the glass was half filled.

This has occurred in a number of communities. In some of them, synthetic detergents have been found in private water supplies for the past several years. The presence of detergent foam in tap water indicates the urgency of improving controls of water pollution.

More research and greater facilities are needed—and that means more money. The only consolation is that money devoted to assuring supplies of pure water to meet growing requirements will be money well spent.

That Communist registration law has a lot of Reds purple with rage.

ABOUT TO ROLL

Politics in off-years is much like the rest of public affairs. Everything comes in shades of gray, there is much too much talk, and very little is settled.

Politics in election years is like baseball. You play a certain length of time, and you get a result. There is still plenty of talk and fuzzy nonsense, but it all ends on the great cutoff day in November.

The already denied reports that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York would bow out of politics as a result of personal problems evidently fit properly the off-year atmosphere.

In scant days it will be 1962, election year, and we will have action instead of reports of impending action. There is always a certain welcome relief in it.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

AN UNKNOWING PROFESSOR

I do not know who Professor Stanley Spector is but he signs himself "Associate Professor, Far Eastern Affairs, Washington University," St. Louis, Missouri. I would be willing to bet dollars to doughnuts that the professor never knew Dr. Sun Yat-sen and that his letter to the "St. Louis Post Dispatch" is distant from the realities.

Now to state my own bona fides. When I arrived in Shanghai in 1919, my first job was on the Kuomintang newspaper which was nominally owned by Eugene Chen but actually controlled by Dr. Sun. It became customary for me to visit Dr. Sun most afternoons at about 4 p. m. I proof-read the English of some of his books; I would bring visitors from the United States and other countries to see him and to discuss matters with him. For instance, when Thomas Lamont of J. P. Morgan came to China to deal with questions of the Consortium, I set up his appointments with Sun Yat-sen and was present at all of them.

Associate Professor Spector writes:

"The stamp which countless American children lick each day pays tribute to a man guilty of the following crimes against stability and conservatism, to say the very least:

"1. He did knowingly accept money, aid and advisers from agents of the Communist International."

There is much history related to this which the professor apparently does not know and the documentation for which is in my possession:

Dr. Sun asked me to discuss with Major Arthur Bassett, then attached to the 15th Infantry, and Colonel Drysdale, then our military attache, the possibility of establishing a West Point for the Kuomintang armies. Had this proposal gone through, Dr. Sun's forces would have been American directed. He also discussed this matter with Roy Anderson, one of the most knowledgeable Americans in China. The American government turned the proposal down. Dr. Sun then thought that he might make some connection with General Ludendorff who was then at the head of the German officer veterans. Later some of these German officer veterans did come to China.

I was in Dr. Sun's house in Shanghai when an invitation came to him to visit Soviet Russia. The telegram came from Lenin and while it might have been sent via Siberia and North China, the Russians preferred to send it via England so that the governments of the Western countries would know that Lenin was moving in on Sun.

Ultimately the Russians sent Adolf Joffe to Shanghai to confer with Sun and as a result Michael Borodin and General Bleucher-Galens came to Shanghai to assit Dr. Sun in his revolutionary movement.

Dr. Sun never became a Communist. He thought that Marxism was primitive and would not help China. It was to offset the assumption that because Sun dealt with the Russians, he had become a Marxist that he expressed his interest in a book written by Dr. Maurice Williams, a Brooklyn dentist, I believe, on the social rather than economic interpretation of history. Dr. Williams became one of the sages of Kuomintang philosophy.

Dr. Sun never went to Russia. Chiang Kai-shek did go there and although he spoke no Russian, came back to China as an expert on Russian military education. Eugene Chen, a West Indian Chinese, British educated, who was a friend of my first wife and was at my wedding, went to Russia and when the Kuomintang government was set up, he became Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Dr. Sun died on March 12, 1925 before his revolutionary movement got under way. It was expected that Hu Han-ming or Wang Ching-wei would take over. Borodin preferred Chiang Kai-shek.

To say that Sun was subsidized by the Russians is to display ignorance of what happened. The final agreement was consummated between Borodin and Chiang Kai-shek. The Chinese paid for everything they got from Russia. Most of the arms and munitions came from dumps of American supplies left behind in Siberia by the American forces after World War I. To pay for these arms, munitions and medical supplies, which the Russians did not really own, a gasoline monopoly was set up in Canton. T. V. Soong managed this, assisted by Tommy Tong. The Russians were paid before Chiang broke with them and drove them out of the country.

I was a witness and in some instances a participant in all these affairs.

If on Salt-Free Diet, Use Other Spices on Food

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you're on a salt-restricted diet and have learned the hard way that "there are six flavors and of them all, salt is the chief," here are some suggestions for flavoring your food from Dr. Milton Plotz, clinical professor of medicine at New York State University:

Mashed potato. Add freshly grated onion and nutmeg.

Peas. Boil in sweetened water, drain and add butter with chopped or powdered mint.

Green or lima beans. Add nutmeg and butter.

Corn. Add sugar and freshly ground pepper.

Tomato. Stew with bay leaf, onion and oregano.

String beans. Add majoram.

Onions. Boil with clove and thyme.

Stew or goulash. Cook with onion, bay leaf, sweet paprika, pepper, rosemary leaves or oregano.

Chops. Rub with pepper and ginger before broiling.

Roasts. Rub meat with pepper and ground ginger before cooking. Add one large bay leaf to pan and baste every 15 minutes.

All oof the mentioned flavorings, alone and in combinations, can be purchased in most grocery stores and markets and by mail order. Considering the minute amounts used in food preparation, they are not expensive. Indeed, they may cost less per serving than salt substitutes.

To those suggested by Dr. Plotz, a favorite in our household is a mixture of horseradish and orange marmalade, to be used with meats. And then, of course, there's applesauce for pork, cranberry sauce for poultry and drops of bitters that sharpen the taste of most otherwise flat foods and fluids.

Dr. Plotz also calls attention to hidden sources of salt in foods. Such, for example, as canned meats, most frozen foods and, to my surprise, candies made with Dutch-processed chocolate.

"How Did We Ever Get on This Side?"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Overhaul of the 25-year-old, $4 billion-a-year federal-state assistance programs is in the works. This includes not only the Kennedy administration health insurance plan for the aged—to replace the Kerr-Mills plan adopted during the Eisenhower administration—but also a complete revamping of the aid to dependent children programs.

This is to be renamed the "Bureau of Family Services" and the emphasis is to be put on rehabilitation to get more people off relief and into useful employment.

MANY PEOPLE WILL SAY it's about time. Some contend that the whole business of relief should be abolished, just because of abuses in a small minority of the cases handled.

Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, for instance, says in his book, "The Conscience of a Conservative," that "the recipient of welfarism . . . mortgages himself to the federal government" and eliminates "any feeling of responsibility for his own family and that of his neighbors." His conclusion is:

"Let welfare be a private concern." Or, 'if we deem public intervention necessary, let the job be done by local and state authorities that are incapable of accumulating the vast political power that is so inimical to our liberties."

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff maintains that the states run the programs now.

The federal government, he says, merely supplies matching funds for state programs after they're approved by Washington as meeting certain minimum standards. The states act as transmission belts to pass the money to local government to hand out.

AS GOVERNOR OF Connecticut for six years, Ribicoff had to deal with public assistance programs first-hand. He says they caused him more concern than anything else. And he came back to Washington as head of HEW determined to correct them.

The 10 new regulations he has just announced for administering aid to dependent children are his first step.

Some additional legislation will be requested of the new Congress and another $17 million will be required—half federal, half state funds—to put his reforms in effect. But, "We're trying to save on a long-range basis," he says, "and we can bring down the costs of relief."

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE programs were born in the depths the great depression, when private charity and local governments found themselves unable to cope with their problems. They dropped off during World War II years, but have been on the increase ever since. And there is no predicting where they will go if they continue in the present wrong directions.

Public assistance administrators are waking up to the fact that they now have dependent children on their rolls who are the third generation in families that have been on relief for a quarter of a century.

The problem is to get such of these people as are able to work off the relief roles and onto some paying job. Many of them are uneducated and untrained for any work today. Thre is no incentive to get off easy relief money and onto a payroll.

A KEY TROUBLE HERE, says Ribicoff, is that there aren't enough competent people administering public assistance. Of 32,000 social workers, fewer than 5 per cent have been trained for their jobs. Such social workers as there are have too much to do. Instead of having, say, 150 cases in their care, they have 300. They can't possibly make the rounds.

One of the goals in the new Ribicoff plan is to give incentives to the states to train more social workers, then have the states adopt standards that relief families be visited at least once every three months in efforts to get them off relief.

It is of course hard to get tough about people on relief at Christmas time. When Ribicoff was asked if his new problem was a "businessman's approach" to public assistance, he was stopped for a moment. Then he observed, "There's a heck of a lot of businessmen don't know about government. This is a hardhead and compassionate heart approach.

India Seen Retrogressing To Time of Genghis Khan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — India has turned the clock back several centuries to espouse the doctrine that might makes right. No longer is India "non-aligned." It now is aligned with the aggressors—the Soviet Union and Red China—in grabbing near-by territory and arguing that it is merely "the tide of history." The theft of the Portuguese province of Goa by India's military forces indeed has put a black mark on the pages of history.

What is to happen to Mr. Nehru's cause if Red China starts moving across the Tibetan border to invade Indian or uses his argument to justify a seizure of the adjacent territory of Hong Kong from Britain? What becomes of the validity of treaty rights and international law if at any moment these can be converted into "scraps of paper" just as Hitler did in the 1930s?

Plainly the quest for peace by the process of reason has suffered a setback. It is all the more distressing because the new violator of human rights—Premier Nehru — has hitherto been their staunchest defender. He has been the world's chief exponent of non-violence and of the pacific settlement of disputes.

How Can UN Sit By?

Worst of all is the hypocritical and transparently immoral behavior of the United Nations itself. How can respect for that organization be maintained when it tolerates acts that tear to shreds the solemn obligations of its charter?

The Security Council was stopped by the Soviet veto from dealing with India's action, but the General Assembly can still function and express itself. It now is said this would be futile because the Afro-Asian bloc would vote down any resolution condemning India's aggression. Nevertheless, a record vote would go a long way toward defining the issue for the future. If the charter is to be formally repudiated, the sooner the world knows it the earlier a new organization will be formed to bring together the nations that sincerely believe in a rule of law.

The Charter Clause

A re-reading of the United Nations charter adopted in 1945 at San Francisco is pertinent today. Here are some extracts that place aggression outside the pale of civilized conduct:

"Purposes and principles . . . to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace, and for the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace. . . .

"All members shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any state. . . .

"All members, in order to insure to all of them the rights and benefits resulting from membership, shall fulfill in good faith the obligations assumed by them in accordance with the present charter."

Adlai Stevenson, the U. S. ambassador to the UN, acting upon instructions from Washington, made some pointed comments during the debate at the Security Council meeting at which the Soviet veto was registered against any action by the council denouncing India's course.

He said:

"Can any one believe that huge India is acting in self-defense against this little territory? . . . The League of Nations died, I remind you, when its members no longer resisted the use of aggressive forces. . . .

"The failure of the Security Council to call for a cease-fire in these simple circumstances is a failure of the United Nations. The veto of the Soviet Union is consistent with its long role of obstruction. But I find the attitude of some other members of the council profoundly disturbing and ominous because we have witnessed an effort to rewrite the Charter, to sanction the use of force in international relations when it suits one's own purposes. This approach can only lead to chaos and to the disintegration of the United Nations."

The foregoing remarks point up the weakness that has been revealed time and again in the UN—that nations do their voting on the basis of political self-interest rather than from the viewpoint of international justice.

The Consequences

What are the tragic consequences already? Indonesia is preparing militarily to move against Dutch-held west New Guinea, which is located on an island hundreds of miles away from Indonesian seat of government. The sole claim of Indonesia is that it has a right to whatever the Netherlands owns in the archipelago. Will the UN step in to avoid the use of force? Will it help the people of New Guinea to exercise their right of self-determination?

And suppose the Peiping government decides to go back a few centuries to the days when Genghis Khan claimed all of Asia, including India, and asserts now that Red China has inherited all the land once claimed by preceding regimes?

There are many places in the world where bloodshed could ensue if the doctrine that might makes right is to be employed to justify seizing areas now held by other governments, whether as colonies or as integral parts of the sovereign territory of the nation attacked.

Throughout Africa the torches of more war have been lighted. A West African newspaper says: "The amazing thing was that Nehru was so patient. When independent African countries are strong enough to give the command to pack up and go, Angola, Mogambique and Portuguese Guinea will suffer the same fate as Goa."

Nuclear wars may perhaps be averted, but little wars that can grow into big wars seem destined to plague the world. Sooner or later the United Nations must be reorganized to include truly free nations which are willing to make sacrifices to establish a rule of law for the settlement of international disputes.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

TUCSON, Dec. 19—Under the remote leadership of Senator Barry Goldwater, the Republicans have elected two of the last three Arizona governors. Howard Pyle, who failed on reelection and broke the continuity, was beaten only by an awkward state police action against a band of squatters up along the Grand Canyon. They were suspected of polygamy. So when Pyle sent cops to roust them along, the publicity was an embarrassing reminder that the Mormons had held with polygamy in their pioneer days. They abhor it now, but Pyle was blamed for stirring up mischief.

The Council of Tucson, the No. 2 city of the state, is now unanimously Republican. It consists of the Mayor and six Councilmen. A Democratic Mayor and three Democratic Councilmen were tossed out lately in favor of Republicans. The three holdover city Councilmen are Republicans. This repudiation so soon after the close election of President Kennedy prompted Senator Goldwater to remark that poor old Bill Mathews, the editor of the Arizona Star, couldn't carry a suburban bond issue any more. Mr. Mathews is a New Deal-Fair Deal Democrat who practices a morning rite of tightening the drawstring of his pajamas and salaaming three times in the direction of The New York Times to which he writes vox pop letters of majestic solemnity. He also runs the Times' blue-plate opinions, but with the difference that he pays them for this whereas they pay him nothing for his lucubrations. Soon after the Republicans swept the city hall Mr. Mathews took off for the South Pole under the auspices of the U. S. Navy. He has been sending back stark, human documents about long-handled underwear and the amenities of penguins in the sweet throes of love.

Goldwater has been scattering himself all over the country and some foreign climes including East Berlin where he was photographed in the uniform of a Brigadier General of the U. S. Air Force. Up to a point, Barry seemed determined to strive for the Republican nomination in '64. But there came a psychological fix in which it seemed that if he didn't shut his bazoo he might be stuck with it and, possibly, elected.

He and Mrs. Goldwater are unusually quiet and reserved. And it seems almost that this proximity to fate frightened them. He has been so demure of late that the cat may have got his tongue.

Meanwhile, the Udall boys, Stewart, the Secretary of the Interior, and Morris, or Moe, who was scantily elected over an unknown Republican to succeed Stewart as Congressman, have been making a good deal of medicine, as the term goes, in an Indian state. They come from a prominent, numerous and politically ambidextrous Mormon family. Stewart went to Japan and, with fanfare and ruffles, climbed a mountain called Fuji. It is 12,000 feet high, but only 3,000 feet higher than the Big Cat of the Tucson Catalinas which has snow down over its shoulders as I peer at it through the fourth day of an unusual term of morose weather for here. Some Japs belittled Stewart's feat with the observation that when school lets out Fuji will be positively crawling with kindergarten moppets who clammer up and come down on the seat of their panties, squealing in Japanese.

Both Udalls have been baby-kissing the Indians of the Western mountains and desert and the Indians are getting pretty damn sick at their stomach. Indians do not even kiss their own babies to excess and when long-faced adult white politicians come along trying to smooch Indians they quietly go indoors and squat on their hunkers or down to the taverns and get blind on bust-head. They have had centuries of baby-kissing by the white man. They are eligible to vote nowadays, but many will not bother to learn the white man's language. That would make it easier for the white man to do it again. Those who do vote have resisted "grouping" because they suspect the motives of Republicans and Democrats equally. They have been right so far.

Another thing about the white man, he is always trying to de-Indianize the Indians. But the challenge to that is "what for?" A genuine white man is bad enough so why should a real Indian try to white-manize himself Harry L. Stevens, a San Carlos Apache, employed in the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Phoenix (which means that Stewart Udall is his boss), said that when I argued that way I was getting onto controversial ground. He seems more or less de-Indianized himself. From his accent, he might come from Galesburg. He does not grunt or say anything is heap-big.

The Udalls are lawyers and there are Republican Udalls, too. They may stand off Stewart and Moe when Barry Goldwater starts doing whatever he aims to do.

In Oklahoma the type known as the Big Toe Cherokee outnumbers the full-blood about 100 to one. The full-blood is darkish and the adult male wears a flat black hat and braids tied in back. The full-blood women are womanhood in perfection. They do the house work, hoe the strawberry hills and keep their mouths shut. The Big Toe Cherokee has "about as much Indian blood as you could get in your big toe." They hang around in night clubs in New York and drop the remark "I am a Cherokee princess" to hear white folks exclaim, "You are!"

A Big Toe attorney who can get the Court of Claims to award $250 each to an Indian tribe or nation may get a fee of a million. The individual Indian back home may hear at last that the tribal council has voted to keep the money in the kitty. The Udall brothers have years ahead of them. Regardless of election returns, as lawyers they have got it made in problems of public lands, tribal interests, irrigation rights and minerals in a domain of states where the federal land titles cover three-fourths of the whole spread.

So They Say..

So bad is the situation (in Latin America) that, it seems as if some evil genie mysteriously was contriving . . . to drag the American republics into such a morass of socialism as in due course would meld us into "one world" communism with the Soviets.

—Spruille Braden, former ambassador to Cuba, Argentina and Colombia.

CHICAGO (AP)—Old 2903, a giant steam locomotive donated by the Santa Fe Railway to the Museum of Science and Industry here, arrived by way of a bridle path.

The 340-ton railroad engine was inched toward its destination by repeatedly laying fourteen 39-foot track section that were removed after the locomotive passed over them. A tractor-dozer with a winch pulled the huge locomotive and an air compressor mounted on the tender supplied pressure for its braking system.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— The Hollywood studios, turning out television series by the yard, have earned—often with justice — the nickname of sausage factories. During the current season, however, Dick Powell has been giving a weekly demonstration that it is not necessary to sacrifice quality in favor of quantity.

His anthology series on NBC has been consistently good and sometimes superb, with absorbing plots, imaginative production and good acting.

Tuesday night's program, while not the best of the series by a long shot, was a workmanlike mystery about the murder of a faith healer.

It's a substantial series that deserves more attention.

The new year will bring some confusing changes in the network schedules. The biggest shift will involve CBS' dropping of "the Investigators," leaving an hour on Thursday night to be filled. "The Gertrude Berg Show" will be moved into half of the hour and the new "Tell It to Groucho" program will take the other 30 minutes.

Into Wednesday night's lineup moves "The Dick Van Dyke Show," and a night-time version of "Password" will start Jan. 2 on Tuesday nights.

Big impending change at NBC is the dropping, after all these years, of the afternoon serial, "Young Doctor Malone." Viewer complaints are still piling into the network. Replacement is an audience participation show, "Your First Impression," starting Jan. 2. Host on the show will be Monte Hall, who does the same chore on rival CBS' "Video Village."

ABC will replace "The Roaring 20s" on Dec. 27 with "Calvin and the Colonel," a cartoon series, and a new situation comedy, "Room for One More." Repeats of the Winston Churchill series probably will take up half the time left when Steve Allen's show departs after next week, but no show has been found yet for the first half hour.

Recommended tonight: "Wagon Train," NBC, 7:30-8:30 (EST)—Bette Davis is the guest star; "The Coming of Christ," NBC, 8:30-9—repeat of a moving project 20 treatment of the Christmas story; Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10—annual Christmas show.

Any maple syrup in the house? You can whip up a nutritious drink teen-agers will love! For each cup of chilled milk add three tablespoons of maple syrup; mix well and top with a big scoop (one-quarter pint) vanilla ice cream. That will hold them!

Reservoir Charge Sets Schedule at Christmas Time

The Christmas Eve candlelight service for all people in the reservoir area will be held Sunday, 7 p. m., with the Ashokan church taking its turn as host. The story of the Nativity by Matthew and Luke will be echoed by carols, while art of the Nativity will be shown during the prelude.

The Sunday services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Ashokan; 11 a. m., West Hurley; and 12:30 p. m., Glenford, with the sermon, God's Good News! Sunday schools are at 9:30 a. m., West Hurley; 10:45 a. m., Ashokan; 11:30 a. m., Glenford.

A Birthday Party for Jesus will be held Thursday to close the weekday church school for the 1961 school year. The Rev. William Hunter's grade 5 class will assist the staff in the program. Other teachers are Mrs. Walter Behringer and Mrs. Herbert Burns, Grade 2; Mrs. Robert Finke, Grade 3; Mrs. Charles Williams, Grade 4. The school's enrollment is 51.

Choir rehearsals will be held Thursday, West Hurley junior choir, 7 p. m.; senior choir, 8 p. m.; Glenford choir, 9 p. m.

Back-Tracked

In conservative families of Korea, a woman rarely has a name. Men refer to her merely as the wife, daughter or mother of some other male and she eats after the men and in a different place.

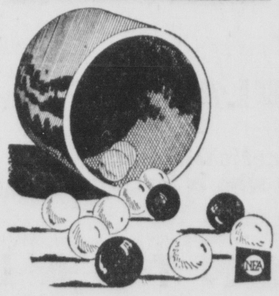
matter of Fact



How did such an expression as "blackballed" originate? It comes from the time when black and white balls were actually used as tokens for voting. When someone was up for membership in a club, white and black balls were used to represent votes for or against. Enough black balls and the individual was not admitted.

White Paper Is Issued on 'Why Me?'

Guardsmen, Reservists Get Army Views on Active Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is distributing to all National Guardsmen and Reservists who have been called up a pamphlet entitled "Why Me?"

Amounting to a "white paper" to meet criticism and complaints about the service summons when no hot war exists, the 11-page pamphlet sums up the reasons and policies.

Quotes JFK, Stahr

It quotes from speeches and statements by President Kennedy and Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr., and discusses the questions it says are most frequently asked by men called to active service last October.

As a preamble, the "Why Me?" pamphlet outlines the doctrine behind the decision.

"Increasingly hostile behavior by the Sino-Soviet bloc made it necessary to build up U.S. military strength immediately to demonstrate determination to resist aggression; Soviet threats to liquidate Allied rights in Berlin called for urgent development of combat-ready forces for dispatch to Europe, if required; increasing tension elsewhere required development of strategic Reserve forces to meet possible trouble at widely separated points."

Questions, Answers

Then the pamphlet gets down to questions and answers.

Here are some:

Has the Army been expanded just to meet the Berlin crisis?

"No. Although world attention has been centered on Berlin for months, there are other major trouble spots—and many more potential trouble spots."

What has the call-up accomplished?

"It has stimulated action by many of our allies to strengthen their military forces; it has demonstrated to Communist leaders the determination to fight, if necessary; it has helped Berlin to stand intact; it has "increased markedly the ability of the United States to deter the Sino-Soviet bloc from using force to expand its territory and influence."

Instead of calling up Army National Guardsmen and Reserves, why not expand the active Army by bigger draft calls?

Training Takes Time

The Army is being expanded by larger draft calls but draftees are untrained men and it will be months before they are trained, and once they are trained as individuals still more time will be needed to weld them into fighting units. "Raw recruits are no answer to Communist aggression today. Trained reservists and National Guardsmen are."

Why were men called who were not assigned to units?

Very few Guard and Reserve units were at full strength. When these units were called to duty, they had to be filled out with trained individuals as soon as possible. "The only immediately available source of trained personnel was the Ready Reserve reinforcement pool."

Fair Play Governs All

Why were men called as fillers who had enlisted for only six months active duty under the Reserve Forces Act?

"Fair play. After serving six months these men are obligated for an additional period of from 3 to 5½ years in the Ready Reserve." Highest priority was given to Reservists with the least previous active duty so long as they met requirements for specific skills and grades.

Why were men called as fillers who had two or more years previous active duty?

The six-months Reserve Forces Act men were not qualified to fill many of the positions in active units. Therefore, men with two or more years previous duty had to be called.

Some men in paid drill status who had only six months active duty have not been called—why?

They are members of Reserve component units; the current law prohibits the ordering to active duty as individuals those persons who are members of Reserve component units.

Questions Foreign Duty

If the Reserve units were needed, why were they not sent overseas?

About 40 per cent of the Army already is overseas. Many of the recalled units have replaced regular Army units sent to Europe to reinforce the 7th Army. "The critical need was to establish a powerful strategic reserve in the United States, capable of immediate deployment overseas when and as needed."

What is the basis for exemption?

Guardsmen or Reservists pursuing graduate studies on a full-time basis "in a field of primary interest to the Army" may be deferred; a member whose active duty would result in "extreme personal or community hardship" also may be deferred.

"No individual can qualify for deferment on a personal or community hardship basis unless he can establish that his call to active duty will create problems very much more severe than those which will be created by the call to active duty of any other National Guardsmen or Reservists."

Why have recent draft calls been smaller than at the outset of the buildup?

The first quotas were large in order to bring the regular Army to its higher authorized strength rapidly. "The requirements of this expansion are approaching fulfillment" and enlistment and re-enlistment rates have increased.

The Light Touch

If you are making-up for daytime apply cosmetics near a window where the light is abundant enough to guide you. Otherwise, use bright daylight bulbs and check the results in front of a window before going out.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is joy on the movie screens this Christmas season, proving that film makers have not lost their touch in making entertainment.

Sometimes you wonder. Producers have been so enamored with the downbeat and the depraved this year that you fear they have forgotten their ability to entertain.

Five Rate Plaudits

But at the close of the year, the film companies managed to bring out some films that prove happiness hasn't gone out of style. Five of the new offerings—two musicals, two comedies and an adventure drama—seem to have those showmanly qualities to make the box office cash registers play "Jingle Bells."

1. "El Cid" is much better than a reviewer has a right to expect. It is a romantic adventure in the best sense of the term. The characters, especially Charlton Heston's Cid, are truly heroic, and that's not easy to pull off nowadays.

"El Cid" is the most beautifully photographed movie in years—perhaps of all time. Almost every scene is stunning.

2. "A Majority of One" is a modern fable about the romance of a Jewish widow and a Japanese tycoon. It never quite rises above the level of a fable, but it is played with such warm-heartedness that you want to believe it.

Roz Does Fine

The casting of Rosalind Russell in the role originated by Gertrude Berg was roundly criticized, but by gum, if she doesn't pull it off! Alec Guinness is effective though not as convincing in his impersonation.

The nice thing about "A Majority of One" is the pleasant glow it leaves you with afterward. That feeling is hard to find in films nowadays.

3. "Babes in Toyland" is something for the kiddies. Old master Walt Disney has a sure touch for entertaining the small fry while not antagonizing the parents.

Scenically, the film is rich in imagination. A grown-up might might wish that the comedy would be on less primary level and music less dated. Best of the performers is Ray Bolger as a sneaky, sniveling, deep-dyed villain.

Happy Musical

4. "Flower Drum Song" is a gay, glib, garish musical about life in San Francisco's Chinatown. It is a happy musical, not to be taken seriously, just enjoyed. The music is not first-rate Rodgers and Hammerstein, but even a secondary R&H score is better than most. The players are a pleasure to watch, especially the well-formed Nancy Kwan.

5. "Lover Come Back" reunites two of the most attractive people in the world, Doris Day and Rock Hudson. As in "Pillow Talk," the comedy revolves around sex, and it (the comedy) is greatly aided by the presence of Tony Randall.

The Eider Canal — opened through the Danish-ruled duchies of Schleswig and Holstein in 1784—was the first of the world's great canals.

Retired Police Chief Phinney to Be 80 Thursday

Former Police Chief Charles Phinney, of 49 Shufeldt Street, observes his 80th birthday Thursday.

Retired since May 1, 1946, he had served the local police department for 38 years and four months.

Appointed first as a special officer on Jan. 2, 1908, he was named in May of that year to serve as an ordinance officer in the city. He became a patrolman on Dec. 7, 1909, and was promoted to sergeant Feb. 6, 1917.

For several years he and the late James V. Simpson were the department's only two sergeants and the only two men with rank above that of patrolmen, excepting the chief.

After being named a lieutenant on Sept. 1, 1937, he became acting chief on April 1, 1940, from which post he retired slightly more than six years later.

In observance of his 64th birthday in 1945, during the administration of former Mayor William F. Edelmuth, he was given a birthday party by fellow city employes and friends.

Watch Those Hands

A graceful, relaxed attitude is important to beauty. Don't twist or fuss with your jewelry or your hair. Keep your hands as still and relaxed as possible, for what you do with them in public can add to or detract from the impression you create.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The famous Kingston and Rondout directory of 1858 was compiled by William H. Boyd, directory publisher, Appletons' Building, 346 Broadway. Then it also gives credit to Francis S. Wynkoop and John Chipp Jr. of Kingston and Ann Winter of Rondout. This book was loaned to me by O. A. Goodsell.

It is interesting to read in this 1858 Kingston-Rondout Directory that there was a Kingston Library Association and also the Rondout Circulating Library Association. Each one had been organized in 1854. The one uptown was at 5 Wall Street and open from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. every day, Sundays excepted.

W. B. Finch was the librarian. W. B. Wright was president; George Waters, George H. Sharp were vice presidents; J. Bruyn was corresponding secretary; J. B. Hardenbergh was the recording secretary; F. S. Wynkoop, was treasurer; H. H. Reynolds, E. W. Budington, A. Schoonmaker, S. S. Hommel and W. B. Finch were the trustees.

The Rondout Circulating Library Association contained 600 volumes and was open at all times. Thomas Cornell was president; Walter B. Crane, vice president; Cornelius Keuren, secretary; Thomas Cornell, Walter B. Crane, James G. Lindsley, John R. Stebbins, William C. More, George C. Woolsey, R. H. Atwater, John P. Hageman and Cornelius Van Keuren, trustees; T. F. Hibbard, librarian. You may notice that the most prominent men of the two communities conducted these two library associations. I wonder where the downtown library was at the time. The address is not given here.

They had a listing of wharves for boat landing. There was the famous Delaware and Hudson Canal Company's wharf which extended from Canal Street to the bounds of the village (except 240 feet belonging to G. F. Von Beck and Adam Breitenbacher, situated about in the center of the wharf.) Then there was the Thomas Cornell's wharf adjoining from canal northeasterly. John O'Reilly's wharf adjoined from Cornell's wharf. Joseph F. Davis' wharf came next from C. O'Reilly's dock. Romer and and Tremper's wharf, adjoined O'Reilly's wharf and extended to the Sleightsburg Ferry. Thomas Cornell's wharf extended from the Ferry to Dillon's wharf. Dillon's dock extended to George North's wharf. George North's wharf extended to the bounds of the village. No doubt readers having any part of this property now may find the above names on their old deeds.

You will notice that George F. Van Beck was a very prominent person in Kingston and especially in Rondout, and owned much of Connelly. He also built the Mansion House and the Masonic Temple in Rondout, two handsome structures now over a hundred years old. George F. Von Beck also owned the ferry which went to South Rondout, from above the end of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company's wharf. The ferry which went to Sleightsburg from Rondout, is not listed here by any name. It was owned by I. and A. D. Sleight, and went from the foot of Hasbrouck avenue.

The stages were very important in the life of Kingstonians in 1858. There was the Rondout and Delhi, a stage that left the Mansion House in Rondout every day, except Sunday, for Delhi at 6 a. m. and Delhi at 3 a. m. Fare each way was $2.75. This was also owned by George F. Von Beck.

New Flare-Up on Front

Tshombe Ready For Cease-Fire

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe and Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula opened their long-awaited negotiations to end the secession of Katanga today after warming the icy political atmosphere with friendly embraces and reminiscing.

Hope to Resolve Issues

The two political enemies got down to business in a conference room of the hospital of the U.N.'s Kitona military base, near the mouth of the Congo River. In secret, conversations they hoped to resolve the explosive issues separating Tshombe's wealthy province from the impoverished rest of the Congo.

Adoula and Tshombe met Tuesday to make preliminary arrangements. It was their first meeting in months. They astonished U.N. and American diplomats as they sat together on a couch for 20 minutes, laughing, swapping stories and slapping each other on the leg.

Diplomats in close touch with events at Kitona were unwilling to predict what the talks will produce.

Adoula Differs

Tshombe confided to associates that what he is most eager for is a cease-fire between his battered forces and the United Nations.

But Adoula has insisted that there be no halt in the military initiative until a political solution for ending the Katanga secession is assured.

In Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, there was a new flareup of fighting Tuesday. The United Nations said sniping by civilians and mercenaries had forced its troops to occupy several installations of the big Belgian mining company, the Union Miniere de Haut Katanga. Three U.N. Ethiopian soldiers were reported wounded.

With U.N. forces in nominal control of Elisabethville after two weeks of battling Tshombe's white-led Katangan troops, Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant had ordered his soldiers to hold their fire for the duration of the talks between Tshombe and Adoula. He said they would shoot back if fired on.

Tshombe and Adoula arrived separately Tuesday at the U.N. base.

Adoua said he hoped the talks would end by tonight, but this seemed likely only if they broke down.

Troops Guard Base

When last quoted, Adoula was adamant that Tshombe must end his secession and submit to the central government's authority. The Katanga president was equally insistent that his province, by far the Congo's wealthiest because of rich mineral deposits, must get a large degree of autonomy.

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, on hand to help with the talks if asked, threw a cordon of U.N. Nigerian troops around the base and barred newsmen so the Congoese politicians would not be able to sound off to the world.

This duplicated the U.N. tactic last summer when it arranged for the Congoese Parliament to meet in complete isolation at Lovanium University outside Leopodville. After 10 days of seclusion the legislators agreed on a central government headed by Adoula.

The infant daughter of an Air Force Sergeant stationed at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, was killed when a heavy dresser in a bedroom fell on the child.

The wife of Sgt. Wayne Struble told state police that she found the body of Cindy Lee Stauble, aged one, pinned beneath the heavy dresser. She said the baby apparently had tipped the piece of furniture over trying to clamber into one of the drawers.

Mrs. Struble said she was in another bedroom of her home when the accident occurred.

The charge against the latter was lodged by his wife, Elizabeth.

Bail was fixed at $500 for Morello, and at $250 cash or $1,000 property for Fisher. It was not immediately posted for either.

President's Dad

Edward, in his hospital room this morning, and also his young niece, Ann Gargan. Both had spent the night at St. Mary's Hospital where Kennedy was rushed by ambulance Tuesday afternoon after he was stricken while playing golf.

Salinger, talking to reporters at 9 a.m., said only that "the ambassador spent a good night. He is somewhat improved."

Doctors said Tuesday night that it would be 24 to 48 hours before they know more about the elder Kennedy's chances.

Specialist Arrives

Dr. William T. Foley, a New York specialist on blood vessel obstruction, arrived at the hospital shortly before 9 a.m. to examine Kennedy a second time. He had examined him the first time shortly after flying from New York Tuesday night.

Members of the family, including the President and his wife, gathered at the hospital. They prayed in its small white chapel.

Four doctors were attending the elder Kennedy.

The doctors earlier had decided that Kennedy's condition was not one which could be relieved by an operation. The location of the blood clot—inside the cranial area —was such that it could not be relieved by surgery, they said.

Unable to Speak

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Joseph Kennedy had recognized the President, Jacqueline Kennedy, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy when he regained consciousness but that he was unable to speak to them.

President Kennedy, who had made an emergency jet plane dash to Palm Beach to his father's bedside, left the hospital wearily with his wife just before midnight. They went to the oceanfront home of Col. and Mrs. Capton Paul, which was loaned to them for the Christmas holidays.

The President's younger brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, who flew in with Foley, took up an overnight vigil at the hospital with his young cousin, Ann Gargan of Boston. She had been golfing with her uncle when he was stricken.

Had Gone to Airport

The former ambassador had gone to the West Palm Beach Airport early Tuesday morning to see his president-son off to Washington. The President had made a one-day stopover in Palm Beach ill himself with a cold and earache which developed on his rugged weekend Latin American trip.

In sports attire — navy blue shorts and a beige sweater—the father watched his son depart and then went to the golf course.

A few hours after Kennedy got back to work at the White House he was notified his father had been taken to the hospital.

Admitted at 2 p.m. to the 250-bed Catholic hospital he had supported financially and served as a former trustee, the elder Kennedy was considered in critical condition.

Last Rites Given

As is customary in such cases, he was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church by Father Eugene Seraphin, hospital chaplain.

His wife, Rose Kennedy, had followed his ambulance in a private car. Jacqueline Kennedy, close friends and the Kennedy pastor gathered at the hospital.

The President hastily summoned the National Security Council—his major appointment of the day—and met with them while his plane stood by. He called off a news conference scheduled for today, but continued to plan for his trip to Bermuda later this week for talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

During his flight from Washington he conferred on those talks with Theodore K. Sorensen, his special counsel, and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant for national security affairs.

Operation Called Off

While the President was in flight, word was sent to him that an immediate operation was planned for his father, but it later was called off.

The President, with his brother Robert, and sister, Jean Kennedy Smith, arrived at 8:05 p.m. But by then their father was asleep and doctors did not wake him.

The President stayed about 45 minutes, then went with his wife to the chapel before departing. He was back again at 10:42 p.m. when the hospital notified him that his father was conscious.

Singer Fire Caused By Short Circuit

A short circuit in an underground electric service line at the home of Bernie Singer, 425 Pearl Street, damaged a meter box and areas near it early Tuesday night.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks and Excelsior companies and the Wiltwyck volunteers answered a call at 5:42 p. m. Current was cut off by firemen in checking the blaze. A pressure line was used.

A call at 10:12 p. m. was for a fire in a drier at the Kingston Laundromat, 525 Broadway. Clothes owned by Mrs. Russell Treutler, of Woodstock, were damaged. A unit from Central Station responded.

$250,000 Trial Starts Today in Lake vs. Police

A city court jury was drawn today for the trial of Howard Lake, 39, of Sawkill Trailer Park, who was charged with assaulting two local detectives on July 22, 1960 at the Dietz Stadium parking lot.

Lake, earlier this year, filed a claim of $250,000 against the city and the detectives, Leonard Ellsworth and William Slover, holding that the officers "without a warrant of arrest and without lawful authority" falsely arrested and imprisoned him. Attorney Michael Nardone appears for him and Francis J. Vogt for the district attorney's office.

A report on the arrest last July said Lake had been sleeping on the front seat of a car with a door open, his feet hanging out and the motor running. It was charged that Lake had hit Ellsworth in the mouth and inflicted an eye injury on Slover.

The jury was picked at the morning session and the trial continued this afternoon after a recess.

Woman Awarded $13,750

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Three years ago, Mrs. Carmel Milanese of Watervliet entered a store to buy a pair of plastic boots.

A button popped from the footwear, hit a clerk on the forehead and ricocheted into Mrs. Milanese's right eye.

Macmillan in Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) —Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain arrived today to meet with President Kennedy if the illness of the President's father does not change their plans.

JFK, Macmillan

ably including Secretary of State Dean Rusk and East-West affairs adviser Charles E. Bohlen, were expected to fly from Washington to Palm Beach during the day to brief the President in advance of the meeting regardless of where it takes place. Another foreign affairs adviser, McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President, accompanied Kennedy to Florida.

To Be Fourth Meeting

The original schedule called for a Kennedy stay in Bermuda of 30 hours.

This will be the fourth Kennedy-Macmillan meeting since Kennedy entered the White House.

Aides say whatever discussion agenda might be prepared for Kennedy and Macmillan, they doubtless will range freely over what is on their minds.

While U.S. authorities kept a secrecy blanket on what specific issues are likely to come up, it was apparent the Berlin crisis and dealings with the Soviets generally would be prime topics.

Designs Churches

VANCOUVER (AP)—Churches, like homes, should be designed for those who live in them, says architect William Wilding. Color, light, fabric and the use of appropriate wood can induce a worshipful response on the part of the church-goer, just as a well-planned home gives a sense of warmth and security to a family, he says. Wilding says the order of service of the church should have an effect on the design of the building: "Some denominations require a church that could almost be classed as an auditorium, others with a strong emphasis on liturgy require focusing of the main attention on the chancel and the minister."

Playwright Dies

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —Playwright Moss Hart died early today at his winter home here. He was 57.

The famed theatrical writer and his wife have had a home in this desert resort area for some time.

Hart had suffered a heart attack last year while directing the break-in of "Camelot" in Toronto.

Substitute Carrier

DETROIT (AP) — The 40 postage stamps Joseph Bochenek bought in a drug store Tuesday failed to serve their immediate purpose. From Bochenek's parked car a thief stole a paper bag containing 40 addressed Christmas cards he had intended to mail.

Cover Container

Always cover the container in which you are "steaming" food. Place the food on a rack-type arrangement over a small amount of boiling water so that it will cook by contact with steam, not in the water.

$3.5 Million Lab Dedicated by GE

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)— The General Electric Co. dedicated today a $3.5-million laboratory that grew from a research department set up 67 years ago in an old water tower.

At the outset, the lab employed three engineers. Now it has more than 200 scientists, engineers and technicians working on materials and processes.

Laboratory Manager Edward J. Flynn said the new, two-story building, which has 110,000 square feet of floor space, should be adequate for at least 10 years.

"After that, expansion might be necessary," he said.

Would Enlarge Area

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. today asked the Public Service Commission for permission to enlarge the toll-free calling area in most of the Niagara Frontier, effective next April.

Under the company's proposal, Niagara Falls, Lockport, Lewiston and nine smaller communities would be added to the toll-free area.

A $1 monthly rate increase per line for business users and a 50-cent boost for certain other users also was included in the company proposal.

Paddles More Popular

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—More than 80 wooden paddles were placed in roadside drums of salt by the city for the use of motorists hampered by ice or snow. But the paddles, said Streets Commissioner Davis Smallwood Tuesday, "have been disappearing faster than the salt."

Fallout Shelter Resolution Rejected by Onteora Board

A resolution which would have put the Onteora Board of Education on record as deploring recent action of the New York state legislature with respect to school fallout shelters failed to muster the required five votes Monday night.

The resolution, offered by the Rev. Chase Page, a member of the board, said in part:

". . . . the Onteora Central District Board of Education go on record as deploring the recent action of the New York State legislature which places the responsibility for the decision concerning construction of fallout shelters with local boards of education."

"The board feels," the resolution continued, "that this is a state responsibility and does not fall within the province of local boards whose primary concern is the education of the children."

Trustee Janet Greene of Woodstock seconded the resolution and on the vote, Trustee Ann Larys joined with the movers of the resolution. Trustees Harry Allen, Raymond C. Cruthers, Marie Kleine and Philip Gordon, board president, voted against it.

Although the motion was technically defeated by the 4-3 vote, it would have taken five votes to sustain it, under the OCS board's rules of procedure. Trustees Arthur P. Knight and Edward Unser were absent.

Had the resolution been sustained by the required five votes, the Onteora board would have been placed on record as the first board in New York state to officially protest the procedure of Gov. Rockefeller's fallout shelter program for schools.

During the recent special session of the legislature, Gov. Rockefeller's $100,000,000 school shelter program was approved. The shelter statute puts the responsibility for making the decision on fallout shelters on the individual boards of education around the state. Boards must vote on whether or not to accept the state financial assistance in building new fallout shelters on existing school property or having them included in plans for new buildings.

By and large, the boards of education throughout the state have been moving cautiously toward their decision. The Niskayuna district between Schenectady and Albany was the first to react to the legislation, rejecting it on the grounds there was insufficient information at this time.

Boards generally have been taking this position around the state. The mechanics of the program have not been clearly spelled out at this point and a better understanding is expected after the upcoming session of the legislature.

Onteora board members were split sharply on how to handle the fallout shelter program. Some felt that more information is needed. Trustees Page and Greene were firm in their opinion that the entire program was a state responsibility and that, in effect, the state legislators had passed the buck down to the school boards.

After long and enthusiastic discussion, the Onteora Board voted unanimously to have the item placed on the agenda of the next meeting of the Ulster County Schools Boards for purposes of discussion.

Insurance Setup Again Divides School Board

Possible changes in the Onteora Central District's policy of handling its insurance program and broker participation setup were discussed at the Board of Education meeting Monday night.

The lively discussion, which split members of the Board, was touched off by a report and three recommendations made by the Board's insurance advisory committee of Carroll F. Simpon and Stanley G. Haug.

Board members had raised the issue at the November meeting when a list of insurance brokers was submitted by the committee for Board approval. Under the present system, Haug and Simpson divide commissions amounting to more than $1,000 annually among several brokers in the district.

Some board members insist that since the brokers do nothing to earn these commissions they are not entitled to receive them. It is further pointed out that Simpson and Haug are not required to share the commissions with the brokers but have done so for many years as a matter of policy. Some board members charge this is an unearned bonus payment to eliminate competition.

In their lengthy memorandum, Simpson and Haug pointed out that prior and subsequent to district centralization, indurance policies had been placed with individual brokers and agents resulting in innumerable policies. Some were with duplicated and varied limits and coverages placed in different insurance companies with no coordinated committee of the district to review, check, investigate and schedule all insurance policies and prepare annual budget insurance requirements.

Three Proposals

After detailing the background of the present policy, Haug and Simpson recommended three proposals to "further update the procedural operation of the Insurance Plan."

1 Newspaper publication should be two weeks in September of each year, for the license year ended the succeeding Oct. 31, in official school newspapers for notification to previously unregistered brokers with presentation by mail to the Business Manager of each brokers' license number, name and address for checking by the Insurance Advisory Committee.

2. The IAC will prepare and approve the Brokers list and present the same to the District Principal and/or business manager for review together with a subsequent statement of distributions of Brokerage Commissions.

3. Brokers participation should be limited to: (a) residents of the Onteora central district and (b) active engagement as brokers in the insurance business in the Onteora district.

After lengthy discussions in which several shades of opinion were expressed, the Board rejected the first and third proposals and accepted the second with revisions. On motion of Trustee Chase Page, the Board designated District Principal George R. Sullivan and Business Manager George Finigan as a committee to review the brokers list with no commitment on the part of the Board of Education for future action.

Trustee R. C. Cruthers, who has been the most outspoken critic of the present policy, voted against accepting the No. 2 proposal, with Trustee Janet Greene abstaining. Voting for the resolution were Trustees Philip Gordon, Board president; and Trustees Page, Marie Kleine, Harry Allen and Ann Larys.

Trustee Cruthers said he was unalterably opposed to paying bonuses to workers who do nothing to earn them. He suggested again that the entire insurance program at Onteora be let for bids. Trustee Marie Klaine said she felt that how Haug and Simpson distribute the commissions was their business.

Trustee Harry Allen said that while he voted for the measure, he didn't condone the principle of paying bonuses to people who don't work for it.

Some board members cautioned that the policy be not revised drastically without careful study of all factors involved. There was a division of opinion on the effectiveness of open bidding; others felt that the entire insurance needs of the district would be handled by one large company, without impairing services to the company.

Trustee Page said he felt the present Board was committed to paying those commissions as a matter of existing policy, but he favored a critical review of the program.

At the conclusion of the discussion, President Gordon named the following committee to study the insurancesetupand and make specific recommendations to the board: Rev. Chase Page, chairman; Trustees Janet Greene and R. C. Cruthers, the board president placed a three-months limit on the study period.

OCS Makes Final Payment on the Bennett School

Payment of $16,141 to contractor Eugene Ossie for work on the Reginald Bennett elementary school was authorized by a 5-1 vote of the Onteora Board of Education Monday.

The payment was authorized after Trustees R. C. Cruthers, chairman of the board's construction committee, reported that all work required of the contractor had been completed satisfactorily. One charge was for $15,827 for work previously authorized, with another item of $314.00 as the result of a change order. This marked the final payment to Ossie.

An additional item of $2271.43 for extra work was tabled, pending a check with the school architects, Raisner and Diamond of New York.

Contractor Al Davis was present to claim a $1500 payment for site work at the Bennett school, but was informed that the Raisner and Diamond firm had not filed payment authorization with the board.

On recommendation of Business Manager George Finigan, the board voted to invest $400,000 from the general fund with the Kingston Trust Company for short-term earnings.

The board acknowledged receipt of a resolution from the West Hurley P-TA urging the board to take prompt action to alleviate the present overcrowded conditions in the district. The resolution, signed by Mrs. Clarence Anderson, vice president of the West Hurley P-TA, was similar in wording to a recent resolution filed by the Woodstock P-TA.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Janet Franz, effective Nov. 17, 1961, and Mrs. Anne Washburn, Dec. 1.

Tenure was granted Mrs. Helen Turck, elementary teacher upon the recommendation of the district superintendent, district principal and director of elementary education.

The board granted permission to bid a special feeder route to provide for the transportation of Webb Dordick, son of Mrs. Sylvia Kondolf, Woodstock. His home is on Meade Mountain Road and the youngster, who is physically handicapped, needs transportation from there to the intersection of Meade Mt. Road and Glasco Turnpike, a distance of approximately 1.3 miles.

Mrs. Alison Hansen of Woodstock was given permanent faculty appointment in the elementary division at a salary of $5,850, effective Dec. 27, 1961. Mrs. Florence Pope, elementary teacher, resigned effective Dec. 31. She told the board she is considering a position in hotel management.

The board voted to accept a bid of the Albany Avenue Garage for a new bus, at a cost of $9,321.00, without trade-in.

Mrs. Chase Objects To Fallout Shelters

The Onteora Board of Education, which sooner or later has to make a decision on fallout shelters, knows now how one of the district feels about this controversial dilemma.

Following is the terse communique, dated 22 Nov., 1961, and sent to the board by Mabel T. Chase of Woodstck:

Our Christmas Wish Is...

something special and Enduring!

Christmas isn't just today. Christmas is tomorrow, the day after tomorrow and all the days after that you can count—if you make it that way.

For every day there are scores and hundreds and thousands of people who need the special something that makes Christmas what it is.

You may never get to know these people. Or you may meet them turning a corner. Or you may discover they work right in your office or even live with you in your home.

Everyone wants a little something of Christmas every day.

Not a present. Not a carton of cigarettes or a bottle of perfume Not a doll or a mechanical toy.

They want and need something that each of us individually can give—and feel the better for giving.

Something of ourselves. Kindness. Understanding. Patience. Tolerance. Faith. Goodwill.

You could probably coin a thousand names for it—including love—and never really name it.

You know, though, when you've given it. For you feel better inside—knowing you've made someone else feel better inside. It's a warm feeling. It's a wonderful feeling of . . . Christmas.

Yes, Christmas is a good name for it. And every day in the year we will try to feel it—by making someone else feel it.

Statesmen's Only Consistency Is Their Lack of It

Nehru's Action in Goa Latest In Line of Inconsistency Acts

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's statesmen, by Ralph Waldo Emerson's reasoning, all have large minds. He said consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds, adored by statesmen among others.

Under this definition, as their United Nations' record shows, there is nothing little about present-day statesmen. For some their only consistency is their inconsistency. A few examples prove it for them.

Reds Got Signals Mixed

When the North Korean Communists invaded South Korea in 1950 the United States, Britain, France and practically everyone else, including India, voted for action against the invaders.

Russia, which got its signals mixed, was absent at the time but came back strong by announcing it would not try to get North Korea to call off the invasion because the Soviets were against butting into others' affairs.

But, when the United States blockaded North Korea, Russia called this aggression, even though the United Nations had voted for action. And Egypt voted against helping South Korea. It said this was all just a West-East rumpus.

India, which went along on condemning North Korea, which is far away from the land of Prime Minister Nehru, voted against condemning Red China, which is a next-door neighbor, when it attacked the U.N. forces.

Things got a little mixed up a few years later.

Egypt Invasion Another

In 1956—when British-French-Israeli forces decided to invade Egypt—the land of the pharaohs, which wouldn't condemn the Red invasion of North Korea, went running to the United Nations for help against her own invaders.

In this case, for a change, the United States and Russia joined up against Britian and France. But in the Security Council Britain ard France, which had condemned North Korea for invading South Korea, now vetoed a resolution against themselves for doing the same thing to Egypt.

India also had something to say in the General Assembly. Although refusing to be unpleasant to Red China for going into Korea, India joined the United States and Russia in calling on France and Britain to quit Egypt.

On this one the United States had a little trouble deciding what it ought to do. At first it considered not voting at all.

Soviet Gets Into Act

But, while all this was going on in 1956, and at the very same time, Russia, outraged at Britain and France for attacking Egypt, invaded Hungary and crushed the Hungarian revolt against the Communist bosses.

The Security Council—which included the United States, Britain and France, besides Russia—was for condemning the Russian attack on Hungary. But the Russians vetoed that.

It was different in the General Assembly.

There the United States and a host of other countries—along with Britain and France, then under fire for what they had done to Egypt—teamed up overwhelmingly to condemn Russia on Hungary.

All Russia could do in this case, since there is no veto in the assembly, was vote no. But Egypt, which wanted U.N. action against Britain and France, wouldn't vote yes or no on Russia. It just abstained. So did Nehru's India.

Nehru Critical Then

Then the United States got its neck caught in a door when it backed the rebel invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba. Russia demanded this country be condemned. The United Nations wouldn't go for that but Nehru criticized the United States by calling its action intervention.

Next in the history of inconsistncy came Nehru himself when India this week attacked and overran Portuguese Goa.

Once more Britain and France teamed up in the Security Council to pass a resolution calling on India to get out of Goa. But Russia vetoed that.

And Egypt, which had hollered bloody murder when it was attacked, not only joined Russia in voting against a rebuke to India but demanded that Portugal give up Goa.

If all this makes you dizzy, just think how the statesmen must feel.

Hurley Man Hurt In Collision, 2 Others Reported

A Hurley man was reported injured in a three-car mishap here Tuesday and police listed two other collisions involving no reported injury.

John J. Hofler, 37, of Hurley, reported chest, back and neck injuries. Police said he drove one of two cars which had stopped for a traffic light at Albany and Manor Avenues. The other stopped car was operated by Laverne F. Brown, of 262 Main Street, Saugerties.

The third car, the report said, was driven by Thomas G. Joyce, of 9 Harwich Street, whose foot slipped from the brake to the gas pedal. The mishap was reported at 6:15 p. m.

A report at 3:57 p. m., said a truck of The Wonderly Co. Inc., 314 Wall Streeet, and a station wagon collided at Wilson and Savoy Street. A report by Officers Edward Edwards said "neither driver could stop because of road conditions."

The truck was driven by David W. Eighmey, 21, of 94 Highland Avenue, and the other vehicle owned by Samuel Weisberg, Inc., 271 Fair Street, was driven by Stephen Kirschner, 18, of 40 Elmendorf Street. A lawn at 24 Savoy Street, was reportedly damaged.

A two-car mishap on Broadway near Staples Street was reported at 3:54 p. m. The one was driven by Alma M. Cogswell, 62, of 97 Gage Street, and the other by Euphema Litts, 43, of Connelly. Officers Gerald Every and Thomas Coffey, who investigated, said the Cogswell car has started to move from where it had been parked when the mishap occurred.

AEC Will Hold Hearing On Edison Plant Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission resumes a hearing today into a request by the Consolidated Edison Co. for a provisional license to operate its Indian Point, N.Y., atomic power plant.

The hearing was recessed Dec. 7 to permit company attorneys to study technical specifications for an atomic reactor and an operating license prepared by commission personnel.

Both the commission's division of licensing and regulation and its advisory committee on reactor safeguards have said the plant near Peekskill can be operated to generate 255,000 kilowatts without undue danger to health and safety.

ommended assembly approval of the bond issue by a vote of 45-11 with 21 abstentions. The Soviet bloc objected that the plan was illegal.

Sees $170 Million Deficit

The proposal initiated by Acting Secretary-General U Thant had strong backing from the United States, which pledged that President Kennedy would ask Congress for authority to buy a substantial share of the bonds.

The United Nations' grave financial situation results largely from the refusal of a number of nations to contribute to the organization's operations in the Congo. Thant estimates the U.N. deficit will be $170 million by next June 30.

queries on the first two counts of the indictment. On counts three through 11 she responded firmly "guilty." Then came an acquittal and three more convictions.

To Appeal Verdict

Weiner showed little reaction until near the end of the polling of the jury. When he left the courtroom, walking behind a wedge of friends and relatives, his head bowed, he appeared deeply upset. His wife fought back tears and dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief.

Weiner denied all the charges. His attorney said he would appeal.

Sentence will be imposed Jan. 11. The maximum on each conviction is 10 years in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market trading continued to drag early this afternoon as prices followed an irregular course.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was down 0.30 at 261.50 with industrials down 0.30, rails down 0.20 and utilities down 0.30.

Some prices started to move higher here and there, giving the list a somewhat firmer tone. Most changes were fractional.

Popular averages are at their lowest level since early November. Business news remains good with November personal income at a new high and new orders and sales rising for durable goods producers, but the market was slow to respond to these normally bullish factors.

News Talk Canceled

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has postponed today's scheduled news conference due to his father's illness.

RECEIVES PROMOTION—Frederick C. Myers, right, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myers of RD 1, Saugerties, was one of four employes of the U. S. Army Engineer Geodesy, Intelligence, and Mapping Research and Development Agency (GIMRADA), Fort Belvoir, Va., honored at a ceremony marking their promotion to a higher civil service grade. Col. W. H. Van Atta, director, presents Myers with a certificate in recognition of his promotion to GS-13 in the graphics division of GIMRADA, which is the principal field agency of the Corps of Engineers for research and development in the fields of geodesy, intelligence, and mapping. Myers has been at Fort Belvoir in a military and civilian capacity since 1951. Myers, a graduate of Saugerties High School in 1946, entered Alfred University where he obtained a BS degree in ceramic engineering in June, 1950. He is presently taking courses at Catholic University, Washington, D. C. He resides with his wife, the former Miss Barbara J. Teetsell of Saugerties, and their son, Grant F. Myers, at 310 Adrienne Drive, Alexandria, Va. Mrs. Myers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Teetsell, reside at RD 1, Saugerties.

To Adopt Budget

Department inquired as to what study the Salary Study Committee had made in regard to the budget. He said it had been stated it had met six weeks ago and inquired as to what had taken place.

Considered Satisfactory

Chairman Phinney replied that the committee had met as often as necessary and had met with the Budget Committee. He said the $120 across the board increase was arrived at as just and was considered satisfactory. No employe came before the Salary Study Committee meeting, he said.

Brann later objected to that statement and placed a statement "on the record." He said on November 11 the employes were "given to understand" that the Salary Study Committee would meet later. That was why no one had appeared, they did not know of a later meeting, he said.

In commenting on the $120 raise in salary, Fisher said that would have been considered good years ago but was insufficient in this age and he asked how the committee arrived at such a figure. Chairman Phinney said it had been reached at committee sessions and that heads of departments had met with the committee and no increase was asked by the employes.

Says Picture Not Complete

Supervisor Peter Williams (R), Saugerties stated that the $120 increase did not show the full picture. There were also annual increments added to some salaries and there was a 5 per cent across the board increase in retirement benefits.

Supervisor James T. McCardle (D), Ninth Ward, asked about an item of $10,382.16 for "judgments and claims." Budget Director Robert A. Snyder said this was an item directed by the Supreme Court to be paid as the county's share of overpayment by the City of New York in taxes on city property. The town and county share the refund.

Up to Building Committee

Supervisor Francis Vertitis (D) Third Ward, asked if an appropriation was in the budget for additional space in the county jail. He said Sheriff Bell had requested additional cell space. Budget Director Snyder said no request for such moneys had been made and none was in the budget. It would come under the Building Committee items in any event.

Why the jail personnel service item was up from $59,930 to $72,150 was asked by Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner. Snyder replied it was due to the across the board increases, longevity increase and for hiring extra men for vacation and sick leave. He said the state demanded that a full force be kept on at all times.

Supervisor Richard Hinkley (D) Eighth Ward asked if some employes did not get as much as $360 increase in salary. Snyder said this was true, some get the $120 general increase plus an additional increment which is due under the salary schedule.

$42,000 for Burials

An item of $42,000 for burials was also the subject of discussion. County Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons said there were approximately 100 persons in welfare each year who died and he pointed out that this sum was reimbursable from state moneys.

The Rev. David C. Gaise, chairman of the Mental Health Board, inquired of a $7,000 decrease in the salary item and referred to two of the personnel who had "carried the ball" during the time there was no director in the department. He said these two persons should have an increase in salary of at least $250. Not to give it to them was "false economy" and might even cause them to seek employment elsewhere thus breaking up a "fine team," he declared.

A meeting of the Budget Committee at 2 p. m. today was announced at which time the final draft of the budget for adoption tonight will be discussed.

Budget Director Snyder stated that the $120 across the board increase to employes, other than elected officers, was augmented by other benefits. He cited the annual increments which are in the salary schedules and longevity benefits.

The salary schedule calls for annual increments up to five years. The sixth year there is a longevity provision, as well as additional benefits at 10 years, 15 years and 20 years, Snyder pointed out.

Copters to Shoot Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. helicopter crews flying into South Viet Nam's guerrilla-infested battle zones will shoot back if Communists fire on them, say Pentagon sources.

The United States has sent 40 helicopters and 400 men to fly them to South Viet Nam. They will be used, the sources said, to haul supplies and Vietnamese troops into isolated areas where the soldiers can battle Communist Viet Cong rebels.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor and Analyst

ROGER E. SPEAR

Effective Merchandising Consumer Goods Profit

Many of my readers have asked why I often recommend the shares of consumer goods companies but less frequently favor the shares of basic manufacturing firms. This question hits at the heart of my investment philosophy and, in my opinion, is well worth some elaboration.

I feel that many manufacturing industries have expended to a point where their capacity is more than adequate to meet the demand for their products. Markets for such things as appliances, electrical equipment, industrial tools, chemicals and machinery are now pretty well saturated. Competition in these areas is rugged, and rising wages and other costs of production tend to limit earnings progress.

On the other hand, our national income is rising steadily, and the consuming public has record amounts of money at its disposal. Much of this money goes into washers, autos, and the like, but more and more is now being channeled into frozen foods, cosmetics, health aids and other expendable goods which are today the outward sign of a higher standard of living.

What this means to me is that companies supplying the consumer with utilities, financial services, tobaccos, pharmaceuticals, foods, beverages, shopping facilities, leisure-time items, personal-care lines and certain kinds of clothing have plenty of room in which to grow. New customers are being created every day and old customers keep buying, too, because of the repeat nature of the products involved.

Earnings growth in these lines can be and often is quite impressive. For the shareholder this distinction is important because prices of common stocks normally follow earning trends. A company that has a spotty record will ordinarily have a poor investment image. However, shares of a firm which has grown steadily — and from which future consistent gains may be expected—will usually deserve a high rating and generate considerable investor interest.

What I am constantly searching for is effective merchandising—i. e., the company that in its field can gain better than its share of our growing national income. Over the past two years, such companies have been largely the suppliers of consumer goods.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Rockland Wants More Taxes on State Acreage

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Rockland County community has complained to State Supreme Court that the state placed too low an assessment on taxable state lands within the town's boundaries.

The petition for a review of the appraisal said the reduction would cost the Town of Haverstraw about $12,000 in taxes on 10,316 acres of state land.

In another action, seven towns in Hamilton county have asked jointly for a review of the state's assessments there.

The State Division of Equalization and Assessment, which is involved in the suit, said these actions might be followed by protests from other affected communities.

A spokesman said Tuesday, however, that some communities would gain revenue because the reassessment of taxable state land set the values higher than the previous, pre-war values.

In Haverstraw, the property involved includes Letchworth Village, an institutional for mental defectives, a portion of Palisades Interstate Park and the State Rehabilitation Hospital at West Haverstraw.

The new appraisal for the three properties is $642,954, or a drop of $83,506 in assessed value.

Last year, the state paid a total of $105,400 in taxes to the town, school district and Rockland County.

In addition to the gifts provided by the TB and Health Association, holiday packages of cookies will be given by Wiltwyck Chapter of DAR, the Auxiliary of the Ulster County Medical Society, and the Ladies Aid of the Church of the Comforter. Christmas candy has been donated by Altamari's Candy Manufacturers of Kingston.

The TB and Health Association, Inc. receives its support from the annual Christmas Seal campaign now in progress. Returns to Friday afternoon on this year's campaign totaled $26,091 toward the goal of $35,000.

Other Festivities

Other holiday festivities scheduled at the Tuberculosis Hospital include a concert next Wednesday, Dec. 27, at 1:30 p. m. by the Dunwoodie Choir of St. Joseph's Seminary, Yonkers, and a holiday party Thursday, Dec. 28, at 7 p. m.

Lions Club Holds Christmas Party With Santa Claus

Santa Claus was given a joyous and heartwarming welcome Tuesday by 158 children from the Kingston area who greeted him as he arrived at the Kingston Lions Club annual Christmas party in the National Guard Armory on Manor Avenue.

The children were served a meal by Lion members, entertained by a clown act, before each of them received a special present from Santa.

Each year the Kingston Lions Club holds the Christmas party and presents gifts to the children as well as distributing gifts to handicapped children in their own homes.

Lion members were kept busy holding back the group of anxious children as Santa had them line up and come forth one at a time to receive their gifts for Christmas.

As in the past, this year's Christmas party was made possible by the success of last year's Industrial Exhibition and Home Show held at the National Guard Armory by the Kingston Lions Club.

Members of the boys and girls committee of the Lions responsible for the success of the annual Christmas party are Jack Reynolds, chairman; Jack Gilligan, John Holochuck, Andy Murphy, Joseph Roberts, John Wrinn, Jack Scheinvold and Morton Cohen.

Both were removed to Greene County Memorial Hospital. Planck's condition today was reported as satisfactory. Mrs. Planck's condition was reported as fair.

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Three Pittsburgh district supermarkets have been granted continuance of a temporary injunction allowing until final disposition of the Sunday food sales law.

Hurley Firemen Plan Free Movie Saturday Night

Hurley volunteer firemen have scheduled their third free movie showing for Saturday, Dec. 23 starting with cartoons at 7 p. m. followed by Walt Disney's Treasure Island in color.

The committee announced that the new and much larger screen has been erected with a new sound system. The new screen measures 10 feet by 10 feet and gives a projected image larger than life-size.

The sound system is described as wrap around sound because the sound now will come to the audience from three directions.

The volunteers believe that they now have one of the best non-commercial setups in Ulster County. This work has made possible a larger seating area as the projector will be operated from a booth which has fireproof doors.

The new equipment was installed by Lester Frost, Eugene Hannay, Robert Snyder, Walter Pilz and Charles Goble.

Car Skids, Hits Sign

A skidding accident early today on Route 32, near Route 199 in the Town of Ulster caused only slight property damage to the 1958 sedan and the driver escaped apparent injury. State Trooper Robert Mackey of the Kingston barracks reported that Donald Hobart, 28, of 104 Grand Street, skidded off the highway and struck a Christmas tree sign, damaging his right fender.

Congressman Miller to Decide About Staying GOP Leader Also

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller, who since last June has been both a member of Congress and the Republican national chairman, will decide soon whether to continue his double role.

The Lockport, N.Y., lawyer admits holding two full-time jobs is a rugged assignment. He says he will give the situation some deep thought during a two-week Florida vacation he's planned for this month.

When Miller became GOP chairman June 2, he said he would decide after the first of the year whether to hold both jobs. Now, he indicates he may not make up his mind until the national committee meets in Oklahoma city Jan. 12-13.

Will Ask Opinions

"If I've made no decision by that time, I'll sound out the sentiment of other party leaders at that meeting," he said. "I'll find out what kind of a job they think I'm doing and if they think I should continue in both jobs."

The 47-year-old Miller, a blunt-talking politician who now lives in Olcott, near Lockport, has lost none of his bounce since he took over as national chairman from Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky.

But he points to a 37,000-mile tour he made of 33 states since September to prove that it is not child's play.

Talks With 50 Leaders

During that tour, which included four regional Republican conferences, Miller talked with GOP leaders from all 50 states.

Interviewed in Republican headquarters, two blocks from the White House, Miller said he feels that holding two jobs works itself out so far as his western New York constituents are concerned.

"With this job," he said of the chairmanship, "you can't devote all the time you'd like to your Congressional district, but there are people there who feel the district is honored to have its representative as chairman."

Hopes Celler Right

Democrats have said Miller was a beneficiary of the recent realignment of Congressional districts by the New York Legislature. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said no Democrat could hope to defeat Miller now "even if he were St. Gabriel himself."

"I hope for once in his life that he's right," Miller said.

Miller defended the reapportionment plan, said it represented population shifts from the cities to the suburbs. Republicans expect it to increase their house membership from 21 to 25 and decrease Democratic house membership in New York from 22 to 16. New York loses two seats in the reapportionment as a result of the 1960 census.

"Whether the Democrats or the Republicans did it," Miller said of the redistricting, "It would have been fundamentally the same. The population went to Westchester and Nassau Counties."

As for his own district, Miller said he lost one Democratic section and gained another. The net result, however, was a loss of 8,000 to 9,000 Democratic votes, he added.

Presents for Children

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., had a novel gift for his three children as a result of his recent Russian trip — three xylophones given him by a foreman in a Russian machine tool factory.

Javits had asked the foreman whether he could inspect the factory. The foreman assured him that he could see anything he liked since no secret items were produced there.

After the tour, however, the foreman called Javits aside and said there was one product Javits' had not seen. He then produced the xylophones for the senator's children — Joy, Joshue and Carla.

Rotary Club Will Sponsor Community Ambassador Plan

Graduates of Saugerties High School who are currently attending college and who have developed some skill in speaking Spanish are invited by the Rotary Club of Saugerties to make application during the Christmas holidays for the honor of becoming a community ambassador in one of the Latin American countries next summer.

It is the intention of the local Rotary Club to select someone, either a high school junior or senior or a post-graduate of Saugerties High School, to become its ambassador in South America this summer. If a high school junior or senior is chosen, the South American countries to be visited will probably be Mexico or Costa Rica and Guatemala. If a college student is chosen, the country will probably be Chile or Argentina.

In its plans to send a student abroad, the Rotary Club of Saugerties is working through the Experiment in International Living, an organization in Putney, Vt., which is an independent, non-profit, educational exchange organization financed by fees, foundation grants, gifts and government contracts. It was founded in Putney, Vt., by Donald B. Watt in 1932.

The expense of the trip, up to a given amount, will be financed by the Rotary Club of Saugerties. Among the items included are round-trip air or sea passage; transportation, meals and accommodations abroad; health and accident insurance. The fee does not cover expenditures of a purely personal nature.

The experiment program will last about eight weeks and may last as long as 11 weeks, depending on transportation schedules. The ambassador would not have to leave until after regents examinations in June.

During the first four weeks abroad, the ambassador will live the life of the family to which he or she is assigned.

Those who are able to speak Spanish will be given preference in the selection because that is the language spoken chiefly in the countries in question. This is not just a trip abroad; it is an opportunity for making friends across national borders. It is meant for the person who has the following qualifications:

A genuine desire to make a personal contribution to international friendship and understanding, plus a willingness to work hard at it.

A spirit of adventure.

Readiness to live for three or four weeks abroad and to do everything in his power to make the experience as satisfying and successful for his hosts as it is for himself.

Genuine interest in other persons, and the ability to adapt not merely with courtesy, but with enthusiasm, to other people's interests and ways of living.

Ability to adjust quickly and cheerfully to a variety of situations, some of which may be physically and psychologically uncomfortable.

Ability to contribute usefully to the total experience of his group, his homestay family, and of other persons he meets abroad.

Both boys and girls are eligible. He or she will be a member of a group of approximately 10 young people of about his or her age, supervised by a mature individual. An obligation of the experimentor is to report back to his sponsors on his findings abroad through newspaper articles, radio and television appearances, and personal presentations.

Application blanks for juniors and seniors who are candidates for the position of community ambassador are available at the office of the high school principal. College students who are home for the holidays may secure them at the photography shop of Ronald B. Johnstone, Main Street. These should be forwarded by mail to Dr. Grant D. Morse, chairman of the exchange student committee of the local Rotary Club, so that they may be received by him not later than Jan. 5.

In addition to high school and college students eligible, others will be considered if they are Saugerties High School graduates of the past two years, even if they are not now college students.

Debating Team To Compete in Legion Contest

Eight members of the Saugtrties High School debating team will vie for the honor of representing the Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion, in the nation-wide oratorical contest when they enter the local division competition at the Saugerties High School Auditorium tonight 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Harold Behr, SHS debate coach, has announced team members who will enter the contest are Rebecca Sacks, Nancy Celli, Kristine Wrolsen, Elizabeth Farquharson, Frank Mauro, Charles Hall, Bonnie Fous and Dorothy Haeussler.

The winner of tonight's contest will enter the Ulster County competition at the Rondout Valley High School in January as a candidate from the local American Legion. The county winner will then compete in the New York State finals at Highland High School in March.

The final oratorical contest of all state winners will be held at a date still to be set, with the national winner receiving a $4,000 scholarship for higher education, provided by the National American Legion organization.

The public may attend tonight's performance. There is no admission charge.

Christmas Pageant Presented at P-TA

Approximately 150 persons attended St. Mary's of the Snow Parent-Teacher Association Christmas program Sunday night when students of the fifth and sixth grades entertained with a presentation Planet Journey to Bethlehem.

Donald Beckert, treasurer of the P-TA, welcomed the assemblage and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Plover opened the program with a prayer.

The theme of the play depicted the various planets being attracted to the earth and the birth of Jesus. Principal parts were portrayed by Janet Thornton as Mary, and William Buser as Joseph.

A student choir furnished background music of Christmas carols in answering questions asked of earth by the other planets. Selections included What Loving Infant Can This Be?; Silent Night, Holy Night; Hark the Herald Angels Sing and O Come All Ye Faithful. Mrs. Mary Bunyar accompanied on the organ.

Refreshments were served by second grade mothers.

The next P-TA meeting will be held Jan. 21.

Lutheran Church Notes

Sunday the Rev. Walter Cowen of the Atonement Lutheran Church will broadcast on WGHQ at the 8 a. m. Sunday devotions. Instead of the usual sermon he will present a Christmas story written by him. The story, Isn't It the Truth, was written originally by the pastor for a Sunday school Christmas service at Rochester, and was given here at Atonement Church for a similar service two years ago.

Again this year the manger scene with life sized figures will grace the front lawn of Atonement Lutheran Church throughout the Christmas season. Light for Today, daily devotional booklets for January-February-March are available at the church, free of charge, and members may take copies for use in personal and family daily devotions.

The annual congregational meeting will be conducted Sunday, Jan. 14, at 7:30 p. m. in the church basement. It will be preceded by a covered dish supper. The supper will be arranged by a group of Atonement Lutheran Church Women. Reports will be given. Council will be elected for a period of three years, and to fill unexpired terms.

Village Activities

There will be no rehearsals for the Saugerties Drum Corps for the next two weeks. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Jan. 4 at the municipal auditorium at which time the annual reports will be given and election of officers will take place.

Cub Scout Pack 36 of St. Mary's Church will hold its monthly meeting and Christmas party at St. Mary's Hall, Thursday, 6:30 p. m. this week ininstead of the usual fourth Sunday of the month. All Cubs and their parents may attend.

Lewis Robinson of Elm Street, who has been a member of the Saugerties Methodist Church for 50 years, was presented with a special recognition certificate for his devotion by the pastor, the Rev. Joseph Rainear, at last Sunday's morning worship service.

Monday Club Holds Annual Holiday Fete

Mrs. George Werner presented a Christmas monologue at the meeting of the Monday Club this week at the home of Mrs. Warren Myer, Mt. Marion. The club held its annual Christmas party.

At last week's meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Rainear a review of the week "Dr. Ida" and an account of the many acts of mercy and heroism she performed was given by the hostess.

Mrs. Robert Freligh will be hostess at the next meeting Jan. 8.

Rental of Halls For Bingo Aided Gamblers: Charge

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Former professional gamblers rented halls for the promotion of bingo games "to keep themselves in the picture," the head of a state commission studying bingo says.

Thomas B. Gilchrist said the effect of the rentals was to siphon off funds that otherwise would go to charities.

Gilchrist commented Tuesday at the close of two days of public hearings on bingo. The hearing next moves to Utica.

Gilchrist said he had definite legislative recommendations in mind to strengthen the bingo control laws. He did not say what they were, however.

Fat around beef and ham steaks is usually gashed to prevent curling during cooking.

OLEANDER'S CHRISTMAS EVE — By JAY HEAVILIN

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Among the issues that are likely to stir up a big fuss in the next few weeks and months is a growing split in thinking between labor and management. It's complicated by a decided administration interest in the outcome.

Along Old Lines

You can see the issue building up in such actions as rising orders for steel as a hedge against a strike next summer.

And you can hear the issue in a flow of pronouncements by management spokesmen, labor leaders, administration officials.

Some of the wordage is along the old lines—wages, costs, prices.

But some of the terms they are using are more complex—productivity, automation, hard core of unemployment, inflation and the cost of living, profits and the rate of economic growth, competition with the European Common Market and Japan in world and domestic markets.

That is, some of the battle between labor and management will be along traditional lines: How much pay can we get? How can we hold down costs and maintain or boost profits? How high will prices go?

While deep down, and growing, is a split over more fundamental issues. This is a real difference of opinion as to what is best for the country—or, as Washington would put it, just how much of labor's objectives and management's goals will work to the maximum good of the country.

Will Get Louder

The turmoil is likely to get pretty loud shortly. Let's try to see what some of the high-sounding issues mean, without attempting to decide which side will win, or should win.

The productivity situation is this: A gain in productivity usually means that new machines or methods permit more goods to be produced with the same amount of man hours. The issue: How much of this gain should go into higher wages, how much into profits, how much into holding down or cutting prices.

Automation involves productivity. It also means sometimes that some workers are no longer needed, that some haven't the skills to handle the new machines. The issue: Should this be corrected by shorter work weeks to spread the remaining work, by retraining laid-off workers, by waiting for general prosperity to provide more jobs elsewhere, as it often has in the past?

Split on Inflation

The hard core of unemployment is defined as the unskilled worker for whom demand is dwindling. To the ranks are being added younger workers just entering the labor force and older workers whose skills are outdated.

The inflation issue finds labor and management split as to what causes the rising cost of living—steadily rising wage scales, or prices rising enough to keep profits rising, too.

Labor charges that boosting prices unnecessarily to get more profits has caused the demand for higher wages. Management contends that profits aren't rising as fast as they should if industry is to get the funds it needs to expand at anything near the rate of economic growth which the Kennedy administration has set as a goal. The administration says the growth rate must be greater if the economy is to provide, among other things, more jobs needed for a growing labor force.

And even the foreigners are getting into the debate—if only as a warning of what the United States is up against.

The prospering Western European nations and Japan are giving many U.S. companies a hard time selling abroad, or competing here at home with foreign goods.

Management says this is because wage costs here are so high that our prices aren't competitive. Labor says it is management's yen for profits—and high executive salaries—that helps keeps prices high.

The administration hopes it can keep the dispute in bounds—stave off more inflation, keep our goods competitive abroad, make the economy grow faster.

The consumer? He just hopes prices don't go much higher.

Weaker Trumps Change Tactics

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Don't think that someone has erred and printed the same hand two days in a row. This time South has a slightly weaker trump holding than yesterday.

The play starts out the same way and you as South get the lead with the king of hearts at trick two. You lay down the ace of trumps and collect the trey and deuce.

Now you should see that you have to lose two trump tricks against any combination of cards and your problem is to find the play that gives you the best chance to avoid losing three trump tricks.

You note that all plays work against an even trump break and that no play will work if the king, jack and another trump are in either hand.

How about king in one hand and the rest in the other one? The queen play will be disastrous, but any other play will be all right.

How about jack in one hand and king-nine-eight in the other. The ten play will lead to three losers, any other play will succeed.

Our research is completed. We lead a low trump and will win the hand if it is possible to do so.

Do Not Agree

Some cooks always pour off the fat as it collects in the skillet during the frying of bacon in the belief that this procedure helps make the bacon extra crisp; other cooks do not agree with this proposition. Try this way and judge for yourself.

Art Among Dirty Clothes

LONDON AP)—The newest thing in art galleries is a launderette in a suburb of London. The owner, Michael Osterweil, 29, is a painter and 30 of his canvasses hang between the bottles of bleach and the washing powders. "People come from miles around to see them," he said proudly. "They bring their washing with them, too." Osterweil said European artists have heard about his exhibition and keep asking him for wall space. "I'm only too happy to oblige, but there are so many of them that I'm going to have a waiting list," he said. Each show will last two weeks.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Pumpkin Pie Gets a French Touch

DELIGHTFUL international situation results when French preserves are used in an American pumpkin meringue pie.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

International Christmas pie—there's a sweet suggestion. Use some imported French fruit preserves made of pure fruit and sugar, such as orange slices, myrtille (huckleberry), groseille (currant), Reine-Claude (green gage), peach, apricot and strawberry, in a meringue pumpkin pie or tarts.

ORANGE-PUMPKIN MERINGUE PIE
(Yield: 6 servings)

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon salt
1teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
3 eggs, unbeaten
1½ cups mashed, cooked pumpkin
1 cup milk
Pastry for one-crust, 9-inch pie
3 tablespoons French orange preserve syrup
6 French orange preserve slices Meringuee
Meringue

Combine sugar, flour, salt and spices. Beat in eggs. Stir in pumpkin and milk. Pour into a 9 inch pie plate, lined with unbaked pastry. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees F.) 50 to 55 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Remove from oven and spread 3 tablespoons French orange preserve syrup over the top of warm pie. Cut 6 slices orange preserves into halves and arrange over pie. Top with meringue. Bake 15 minutes in a preheated slow oven (325 degrees F.). If desired, garnish with additional orange preserve slices.

MERINGUE

1/16 teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
¼ cup sugar

Add salt to egg whites and beat until they stand in soft, stiff peaks. Gradually beat in sugar. Spread over top of orange-pumpkin meringue pie.

County Council Gets Advise on Social Security

Reports on public service provided by the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies, were made at a recent meeting held at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

Area organizations wishing to contribute Christmas baskets to families in need were asked to notify Charles Ryan.

George Johnson, director of the local Social Security Bureau on Albany Avenue reported on the service offered the public by the SSB. He noted that the greater part of those services is in the areas of old age assistance and disability insurance and workmen's compensation.

Johnson explained that benefits are accrued by 20,000 people in Kingston, 13,745 in Ulster County and 6,661 in Sullivan County. Changes that have been beneficially made were noted by the speaker.

The introduction of a counseling service to prepare for retirement is of great significance, the SSB director said. It is a practice that is gaining wide acceptance to prepare for retirement early in life.

Counseling service, Johnson explained, will help all individuals and the service is of particular assistance to those of 65 years of age or older. Trained interviewers are well qualified to advise people where they may receive additional help.

The director stated that the Social Security office can be of great aid to widows and/or with children in deciding on distribution of their benefits.

The public is invited to visit the Social Security office at 61 Albany Avenue, which arranges evening hours for those persons who are unable to seek advise during the day.

The Council's meeting was presided over by Henry Hopper, first vice president.

U.S. Reds Likely To Ignore Ruling As Officers Did

WASHINGTON (AP) — The members of the U.S. Communist party—more than 10,000 by FBI estimates—have until midnight tonight to register as agents of a foreign power.

They are expected to follow their officers' lead and ignore this third—and last deadline. If they do, the Justice Department could try to send them to jail.

When the party itself ignored a Nov. 20 deadline to register with the attorney general and the leaders did the same Nov. 30, the Justice Department got an indictment against the party.

If convicted, the party could be fined $10,000 for each day of non-registration. Officers and members are subject to the same penalty, plus five years in prison for each day of violation.

The registrations were required by the Internal Security Act of 1950, upheld by the Supreme Court earlier this year after a 10-year legal battle.

Party officials had declared well in advance that they would not comply with the registration provisions of the act. They also require the disclosure of party printing press locations, financial contributions and expenses.

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Visions of using robot computers to help doctors diagnose diseases; a theory that chemicals suspect as cancer-causes may hitchhike rides on viruses; and a new and healthier paint for submarines are among latest examples of science at work.

Robot Medics

New research suggests that eventually electronic computers may help doctors diagnose heart disease and certain other ailments.

The robot medical aides might also be employed in "mass screening" of large population groups to help detect unsuspected ailments.

That's the word from a team of U.S. Public Health Service, Cornell, and industry researchers. They report preliminary but promising results in using a computer to help tell whether a given person has a normal or diseased heart.

It does so, they say, by digesting punched card data corresponding to electrical and other signals given out by the heart—and automatically comparing it with similar data stored in the machine's memory department.

Hitchhikers

Certain chemicals present in man's environment have long been strongly suspect as among causes of cancer—even though they are present only in trace amounts, says a group of Seton Hall Medical College researchers.

How then, could they possibly cause cancer? It might be, say the scientists, that common viruses—such as those that sometimes cause polio, colds and other ailments—might serve as carriers of such chemicals. They might take them right into susceptible body cells which viruses themselves can invade.

As any sailor can tell you, the Navy is always painting something—to protect ship hulls and machinery from corrosion. In submarines—especially in long-submerged nuclear subs—there's another reason for frequent painting and repaintings: to prevent sailors from getting psychological problems that might arise from a monotonous environment.

With oil-based paints formerly used, the Navy found that such frequent changes of interior scenery led to a build-up of potentially unhealthy compounds released from the paints long after they had dried.

Now, the Naval Research Laboratory has come up with a new, semi-gloss "acrylic-latex" paint—with a rubbery base—which scientists say solves the problem.

Recovery Hopes Slim for Monkey Shot in Atlas

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An Atlas missile took a tiny Rhesus monkey named Scatback on a 600-mile ride into space but chances appeared slim today that the little fellow will be recovered.

A ship bucked heavy seas in the south Atlantic Ocean searching for the capsule containing Scatback.

Officials expressed hope the capsule bearing the four-pound animal would be found, but admitted the odds were not good. It may have sunk in the rough water, with waves running seven to nine feet high.

Scatback, with a radio transmitter and biomedical sensors imbedded under the skin, was in the capsule attached to the side of an Atlas which blazed away from the Cape at 10:32 Tuesday night.

The Atlas worked with perfection, unleashing the capsule on a 15,000 m.p.h. ballistic course six minutes after launching.

Less than 30 minutes later, the capsule, a 6-foot-long cylinder, plummeted into the intended impact zone more than 6,000 miles down range. A flotation bag was to give it buoyancy.

The package carried a radio beacon and flashing lights to help searchers zero in on it.

Two planes and the range vessel Sword Knot comprised the recovery fleet. The aircraft had to abandon the hunt after about three hours because they were running low on fuel.

Better Shrimp

Cook shrimp in lightly salted water with a celery rib, a sliced carrot and about half a teaspoon of mixed pickling spice; shell and devein the shrimp, then use the strained shrimp liquid in a white sauce in which to heat the shrimp.

SWEETY PIE — By Nadine Seltzer

"That sign is misleading! They don't need any little actors!"

A tablespoon of catchup and a teaspoon of prepared mustard gives good seasoning to a pound of ground beef to be used for hamburgers.

National Federation of Music Clubs Offers $1,000 Award to Individual or Ensemble

The National Federation of Music Clubs will again present a $1,000 award to the individual artist or musical ensemble which has done the most to further the performance and appreciation of American music abroad. The announcement was made today by Mrs. C. Arthur Bullock of Canton, Pa., president of NFMC, and Miss Elsie Sweeney of Columbus, Ind., chairman of the International Music Relations Department.

The period covered is from September, 1960, through August, 1961. The award may be won by a conductor, a solo artist, a chamber music group, or a choral or orchestral ensemble.

The first award, in 1957, went to William Strickland who presented 28 American works in concerts given by European orchestras which he conducted. The 1958 award went to the Westminster Choir which, in a tour of 22 countries in the far and middle East, gave 147 concerts and presented 41 American works. In 1959 the award went to the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Eugene Ormandy, Conductor, for the most effective presentation of American music in other countries during the 1957-58 concert season. The Philadelphians played nine American compositions in 44 concerts in 14 European countries.

In 1960 the award was given to the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D. C., Dr. Howard Mitchell, conductor. The orchestra in its 12-week tour of 19 Central and South American countries, presented 65 sold-out concerts and included one of 8 American compositions in each of the 39 cities visited.

The 1961 award went to the Howard University Choir of Washington, D. C. In 80 days, the choir of 60 voices traveled 27,000 miles, sang before 220,000 people plus hundreds of thousands of others in six TV concerts and two radio concerts—to further the cause of American music in 18 Central and South American countries and three Caribbean islands.

Presentation of the award is a project of the International Music Relations Department of the Federation. Its object is the furtherance of international understanding through the medium of music. Artists or groups eligible for the award should send details to Miss Elsie Sweeney, 525 Lafayette Avenue, Columbus, Indiana. Deadline for sending the questionnaire to Miss Sweeney is Feb. 12, 1962.

LARGE HOUSE BUT LIMITED BUDGET

Q. I have had several letters from friends back east who tell me they are coming to this state next spring to attend our State Fair which is quite a big thing. From what they have written, it is quite clear that they would like to stay with me. I have a rather large house and they are welcome to a place to sleep, but as I am a widow living on a very limited budget, I cannot possibly feed these people. Would it be proper to explain this to them and if so, how can I do so tactfully so as not to seem inhospitable?

A. Write and tell them that you can offer them a room in your house and that they are welcome to sleep there, but unfortunately you cannot have them to meals because of your very limited budget.

Both Fathers Are Clergymen

Q. Mine is an unusual problem and so I come to you for your help. My father is a clergyman and of course I had always planned for him to perform the ceremony when I married. It so happens that my fiance's father is also a clergyman and naturally he would like very much to have his father take part too. Is there some way in which both could be included? I want to do the correct thing and not cause hard feelings in any way.

A. This is not at all an unusual situation, and the usual procedure is for the father of the bride (who is in his own church) to read the begining of the marriage service and the visiting clergyman (father of the bridegroom) to read the betrothal, and then the bride's father to end with the benediction.

Long Gloves at Dinner

Q. I would like to know whether long gloves worn at a dinner dance can be left on and just the hand part turned back while eating, or must the gloves be removed entirely?

A. Correctly they are removed entirely.

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet "Clothes of the Bridal Party." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to The Emily Post Institute, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

We The Women

Shopping Around vs. Love In Choosing Life Mate

"Courtship in just like buying a dress or suit of clothes—you shop around before making a choice. You don't fall in love, you grow into it," a family life counselor recently told an audience made up of college students.

If there's one thing today's young people don't need to be told it is that courtship is just like shopping for something to wear.

If there is one thing which today's teenagers lack — it's a romantic conception of love.

True, they are marrying younger than ever but it is rarely for any "We can't live without each other" emotion. Many of today's girls feel that if they don't marry by the time they are 20 they are doomed to be old maids. And so they "shop around" just long enough to find a man who will put an engagement ring on their finger.

Many young men today are so sold on the idea of security that they marry for the same reason they look into a company's pension plan before taking a job—for security.

These young men shop around to find a girl who fits into their picture of a secure future. Whether they choose a girl with a good job, the boss's daughter, or a girl with the "right" background depends on what they think they need to make their future more secure.

And then there are young people marrying today for no better reason than that all their friends are getting married. They shop around a while and decide that this person or that one is probably as well as they can do and some even make the mental reservation, "If it doesn't work out—there's always divorce."

No, young people today don't need to be told to be practical about choosing a mate. They're pathetically practical, already. Maybe that's one reason why so many of their marriages aren't lasting.

Those who "shop around" for a husband or wife instead of marrying only because they are so head over heels in love they are sure there is only one person in the world for them are likely to figure that if the first marriage isn't perfect they can call it quits and start shopping around for No. 2.

Fraternity Starts Memorial Fund at SU in Oneonta

The Donald F. Jalbert Memorial Scholarship has been originated by the Phi Delta Rho social fraternity at the State University College at Oneonta.

In announcing the beginning of this new fund, the fraternity reported it was offering this scholarship to establish a practical and long-lasting contribution to the college. The social group, housed at 88 Elm Street, Oneonta, pointed out that the continuing need for financial assistance experienced by many college students was a major reason for setting up the fund.

The fraternal organization will give its newly created fund an initial boost through a money-raising project during February 10-17. The group will sell donation tickets which will net a winner a set of seven LP records of varied types of music. A local department store has donated the recordings to the project.

The late Donald F. Jalbert was a faculty adviser of the fraternity when it was founded in 1959. He joined the Onteora college faculty in September 1959 as an assistant professor in the English, Speech and Drama Department. He was a graduate of the State University College at Albany and received his master's degree from Syracuse University.

He had completed the course work for his doctorate when he died in December 1960. His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Jalbert, is a member of the Education Division of the State University unit in Oneonta.

The bulk of the money received from the January contributions will be awarded to a selected student, and a small part of the proceeds will be set aside to build the fund for the future. The scholarship will be given to an upperclassman with at least a 2.5 (C+) cumulative grade average and who is not a member of the sponsoring fraternity. Scholarship, participation in college activities and financial need will be considered in selecting the scholarship winner.

Scholarship judges will be Miss Margaret Baughman, Associate Dean of Students at the college, the fraternity's advisers and three student members of the fraternal group.

Phi Delta Rho members stated that the amount of the first scholarship will depend on the amount of contributions received. They said that fraternity alumni and the general public will be invited to donate to the fund. David Butler, fraternity member, has been designated to answer queries regarding the project. Interested parties may contact him or one of the other members of the organization at the house.

Jeannette Wallot, Hubert H. Terbille Exchange Nuptial Vows at Veteran Church

Miss Jeannette Monica Wallot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wallot of Saugerties, exchanged nuptial vows with Hubert H. Terbille, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Terbille of Lake Katrine, on December 9 at a 2 p. m. ceremony in St. John's Church, Veteran. Officiating during the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Daniel H. Daley, pastor. Jane Tonnessen was organist and Lewis Gaylord was soloist.

Baskets of white carnations and mums decorated the church. The pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of bridal satin with appliques of Chantilly lace outlined with seed pearls and sequins, fitted bodice, modified Sabrina neckline, and long tapered sleeves. Her bouffant skirt was floor length and had a chapel train. A double crown of pearls with triple tiered French imported silk illusion secured a crown. She also wore a white fur cape to complete her costume and carried white mums with holly.

Rose Mary Wolff of Glenerie Lake was the maid of honor in a gown of opera green taffeta styled with fitted bodice, full floor length skirt and opera green velvet cap with circular veil. She carried a muff with red carnations and spray of holly.

Robert Dunn of Lake Katrine was best man for his brother-in-law. Ushers were Walter Sutton and Robert Felton of Lake Katrine.

A reception was given at the Mt. Marion Inn for approximately 65 guests.

The bride was graduated from St. Mary's School in Saugerties and Saugerties High School. She was also graduated from the Moran-Spencerian School of Business and is now employed by Adirondack Transit Lines in Kingston. Her husband is an alumnus of Meyers High School, Wilkes Barre, Pa. He served two years with the U. S. Army and is now employed by IBM in Kingston.

For her wedding trip to Florida the bride wore a two-piece knitted beige suit with beige accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Terbille will reside in Kingston when they return.

Joint Commission To Steady Pollution

HARRISBURG (AP) — A joint state government commission task force will launch a series of public hearings next Jan. 25 to examine the much-publicized Susquehanna River pollution controversy.

Rep. Harris G. Breth, D-Clearfield, chairman of the JSCG, announced the series of hearings Tuesday. The first will be held at Wilkes-Barre and the others in strategic areas along the Susquehanna watershed at later dates.

The hearings, to be conducted by the commission's task force on water conservation, will be aimed at studying the pollution situation "and other problems incidental to the management and future of the river," Breth told newsmen.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

We Can Overdo the Bit Of Not Being Protective

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The youngest of six nearly grown brothers and sisters, he was born when his mother had thought she was through with child-bearing.

One day when the minister was being entertained at tea out on his family's spacious lawn, he ran away and climbed to the roof of the house. Then, a small figure against the sky, he called down to the party assembled around the tea table, "Hey, look where I am! Hey, look, at me where I am!"

His father, deep in a discussion of church finances, looked up—and resumed his discussion. His mother, shading her eyes with her hand against the setting sun, waved, nodded and called back to him, "Hello. I see you."

Years later during physcoanalytic treatment for a problem of work exhaustion, this experience became the focus for his most intense resentment at his parents.

A man of 50, he said brokenly to his doctor, "I wanted them to tell me to come down from the roof. I wanted my father to rush up to get me. I wanted my mother to scream with fear for me. I wanted to know that they cared about what happened to me—but they never showed me they did. They never showed me . . ."

The work problem is solved. He's come to understand how people in their 40s may not welcome an addition to a big, half-grown family they are struggling to make ready for life. But he still has to labor with his belief that he must do most remarkable things in order to rate your attention.

In our eagerness to avoid the overprotective parent's anxiety over imagined dangers to children, let's not forget that it's fine for children to know that we will withdraw them from real dangers.

It's also fine for us. Because we don't want to appear overprotective, we sometimes try to pretend that we are unanxious when they climb high trees, announce their intentions of attending parties given by friends we have cause to disapprove or insist on attending school the day after a high temperature has returned to normal.

Nonchalance in the face of real danger not only places unnatural restrictions on us but can suggest that their safety is not important to us.

Youngsters often feel a need for reassurance of our concern for them that we do not suspect.

At such times they will invite it by exposing themselves to danger in order to give us the opportunity to be our most passionately protecting selves. Even when they bluster their disgust with us, they are secretly happy that we've raised such a row.

Wellsboro, Pa., Really Goes for Christmas

WELLSBORO, Pa. (AP) — Christmas may only come once a year, but when it does, townspeople in this northern Pennsylvania community sure do it up big.

Take for instance the giant chandelier hanging over Main Street. The Wellsboro Chamber of Commerce claims its the biggest Christmas ornament in the world.

The chandelier is 12 feet high and 8 feet wide, basically constructed of aluminum and includes 200 feet of weather-coated silver garlands, eight 2½-foot silver candles, Christmas tree ornaments and twinkle lights.

The townsfolk also have another ornament to brag about—a huge American flag in the Penn-Wells Hotel, made of red, white and blue Christmas tree balls. They say its the only one of its kind in the world.

The chandelier was designed by three community men and constructed by Ellsworth Brown, Wellsboro, with the assistance of Christmas tree experts from the town's plant of Corning Glas Co.

The plant, incidentally, claims to be the world's largest single producer of Christmas tree ornaments.

Advice Is Given Korean Veterans On School Rules

Korean conflict veterans were reminded today by Charles L. Culver, NYS veteran counselor, NYS Division of Veteran's Affairs and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency that under the provisions of Public Law 550 (Korean GI Bill) educational training must be initiated within three years after separation or discharge from the Armed Forces.

"There have been numerous cases where a Korean veteran has waited until the last minute to apply for school only to be turned down, and, before acceptance in another school could be arranged, has gone past his deadline," Culver and Tyler said.

Veterans in training in a school or college on a full time basis under P. L. 550 receive $110 a month, $135 if they have one dependent and $160 if they have two or more dependents. The monthly allowance is to cover tuition, books and living expenses. A veteran attending school on less than a full time basis will receive lower monthly rates.

Culver and Tyler further stated that Korean veterans should start making the necessary arrangements now if they expect to enroll in school next semester, and should take a personal inventory to determine just what their individual deadline is for starting such training. By starting now, the processing of the necessary applications and other papers can be completed well in advance of the start of the semester and the veteran will be able to formulate his educational plans.

For information concerning your rights and entitlements under the Korean GI Bill or to any question you may have concerning your veterans benefits contact the New York State Divisiion of Veterans' Affairs office and the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston, with branch offices in Saugerties, Ellenville, Kerhonkson and Highland.

S-A Preparing Yule Packages

Members of the Salvation Army in Kingston are busily engaged in preparations for Christmas, which will be climaxed by the distribution of dinner baskets and sunshine baskets for the less fortunate, this weekend.

Tonight, members of the Home League will meet at the North Front Street headquarters to pack candy and make ready sunshine baskets which will be distributed to Kingston nursing homes and hospitals Sunday.

Tuesday afternoon, a party was held in the headquarters for some 30 Sunbeams and their mothers. Gifts were exchanged and refreshments served. Also, on Tuesday, an officer of the Eastern Correctional Institution at Napanoch was presented with 1,100 packs of cigarettes to be used in making up packages for an institution Christmas party.

Thursday at 7:15 p. m. members of the Army's advisory board will meet to assist in packing Christmas dinner baskets. Upwards of 100 calls for aid have been received and Major Foster J. Meitrott says the Salvation Army will make every effort to take care of all requests. The baskets, he added, will be distributed Friday between 1:30 p. m. and 4 p. m.

Sees Alliance With Soviet Union

Demos Challenge Nixon On Congo Alternative

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democratic senators challenged Richard M. Nixon today to offer an alternative to President Kennedy's "hard choice" of backing U.N. action in Katanga.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said he accepts as "responsible opposition" criticisms made by Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee, of administration policies in the Congo.

"But what does Mr. Nixon offer as an alternative?" Humphrey asked. "If Katanga secedes from the Congo, it is the beginning of the end. The rest of that unhappy country will become then a beachhead for communism. President Kennedy has made the hard choice—either the U.N. or the communists will prevail in the Congo."

Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama used similar words in a separate interview to describe the President's policies. He said it was all very well for Nixon to characterize as "an incredible mess" the administration's decision to back U.N. efforts to force unification of the Congo.

"But what would Mr. Nixon have done?" Sparkman asked.

Nixon said in a copyright article in the Los Angeles Times-Mirror that the United States had been put in the position of allying itself with the Soviet Union and against most of its North Atlantic Organization allies in the Congo. He said the central Congo government was "infiltrated by Communists and Communist sympathizers."

Replying to this, Humphrey said that Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula can be regarded as just as anti-Communist as Katangan President Moise Tshombe. He said if Tshombe and Adoula can reach an agreement he is confident they can repress Communist influence in any resulting government.

Poughkeepsie Stages Late Rally to Nip Kingston High, 60-54

Flowers Sparks PHS Comeback In Last Period

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Little John Flowers, held in check by a tenacious Kingston High defense, broke loose in the final moments of play to lead Poughkeepsie to a come-from-behind 60-54 DUSO verdict last night at the Kate Walton Field House.

Flowers made four baskets in the last quarter, three of them coming in the final three minutes of play. Each one kept the home side from crawling back into contention after it had led almost from the start.

Playing without the injured John Falvey, the Maroon team moved ahead late in the first period and stayed that way until the middle of the fourth period. A combination of backboard control, a great defense and some hot shooting were the keys in the early success.

With 4:58 left in the third quarter, Kingston had a five point margin, 33-28, and the locals were still playing good basketball. A foul shot by Hardrick Moore sliced the margin to four points before backcourt ace Mike Ferrao put in a twisting left handed layup. After George Lawrence hit for Sam J. Kalloch's Pioneers, Ronnie Thomas retaliated for KHS, shoving the margin to six points, 37-31.

Moore and Tony Erena then exchanged baskets and Tom Parker hit twice for the visitors, shaving the difference to two points, the closest the Pioneers had come since the opening minutes of play. Ferraro then scored with a one hander for Kingston and Ty Elting converted two free throws for the visitors, making the scoreboard read, 41-39, starting the final eight minutes of play.

Basket Exchange

Coach John Gilligan's cagers held the slim margin until Elting made two foul shots, knotting the count, 45-45, with 6:40 left. Less than two minutes later, John Duffner hit from underneath to knot the score, 49-49, and then Moore converted a foul to shove PHS ahead, 50-49. Ferraro put Kingston ahead for the last time with a layup, after taking a pass from Thomas and the more than 1,000 fans were in a bedlam.

Then came the game's turning point. With Kingston in possession, Moore stole a dribble near the KHS basket and went in all alone. This zoomed the visitors ahead, 52-51, and they never lost the lead.

Paul Natale, who saw only limited action during the second half because he felt ill, missed a one-and-one foul with 1:44 remaining and then flowers threw in the first of his clutch baskets, a driving layup. After Ferraro converted a foul shot for the home side to slice the lead to a basket, 54-52, Flowers scored twice more, once on another nifty driving layup and then from the corner. This put the visitors six points ahead and for all intents and purposes, put the game out of reach.

The loss was a bitter one for the Maroon players. They had played solid basketball from the start. Ferraro, until the last two minutes, was great. He set up several buckets and was fantastically hot with his jumper from either side of the floor. However, without Falvey in the lineup and with Natale playing only a few minutes of the second half, the visitors started to control the board, giving them more shots. They shot ahead and never lost their composure. Kingston did and it proved to be the difference in the final outcome.

Ferraro swished 24 points to lead both clubs. Elting was tops for the Pioneers with 17 but he had some good help. Flowers, though, was the spark in those final eight minutes. He did nothing wrong.

Regaining Stature

Duquesne Knocks Bonnies From Ranks of Undefeated

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

The dashing Dukes of Duquesne, once a perennial tournament entrant but relegated to lackluster seasons of late, again are bidding to regain their stature among collegiate basketball's elite.

Undefeated Duquesne, ranked seventh in the current Associated Press poll, knocked ninth-pegged St. Bonaventure from the list of the unbeaten Tuesday night with a 74-57 victory at home.

The Dukes from Pittsburgh posted their sixth straight triumph while the injury-riddled Bonnies suffered their first setback in seven starts.

The only other member of the top ten to see action in a relatively light night of activity was Purdue, No. 8. The Boilermakers, behind a 30-point harvest by All-America Terry Dischinger, polished off Nevada 91-59.

Purdue boosted its won-lost record to 4-1. The Boilermakers' only loss came at the hands of the Wichita Shockers, 71-68. Wichita snapped second-ranked Cincinnati's 27-game winning skein Monday night.

Duquesne led all the way Tuesday night against the understaffed Bonnies, who won the Bluegrass Festival over the weekend. Clyde Arnold was high for the winners with 18 points and Mike Rice added 17. Sophomore Miles Aiken was the St. Bonny standout with 20.

Eighteen Players

Purdue used 18 players in its intersectional conquest of Nevada, the Far Western Conference champion last season. Chico Feilback's 18 points were tops for Nevada, whose record now is 1-6.

Undefeated Mississippi State made Memphis State its seventh straight victim with an 83-71 clawing of the Tigers. The visiting Bulldogs broke the game wide open early in the second half to hand Memphis State its second loss in seven games.

Cornell, on the East Coast, and Santa Clara on the West Coast, kept their records unblemished. Mike Berger collected 31 points as Cornell whipped Rochester 72-61 for its fifth straight. Santa Clara turned back Hawaii 67-53 for the second successive night and boosted its slate to 7-0.

Elsewhere: Kendall Rhine's 21 points powered Rice to a 71-64 verdict over Vanderbilt; Texas Tech used a second-half spurt to wallop Oklahoma 70-42; Rich Falk's field goal with 13 seconds to go gave Northwestern a 65-64 squeaker over Colorado; Georgia outlasted Florida 78-72 in overtime; Detroit's five starters hit double figures as the Titans beat San Francisco 71-53; Fordham rallied in the second half to hand winless Columbia its sixth setback in a row and Penn State inflicted Syracuse with its fifth straight loss, 53-44.

AP Selection

Green Bay, Giants Land Most Players on NFL All-Star Team

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay and New York dominate the All-Star team of the National Football League selected today for The Associated Press by a panel of 42 sports writers and sportscasters from the 14 league cities.

The Packers, champions of the Western Conference, landed six players on the 22-man squad. Green Bay put guard Fred Thurston, center Jim Ringo and halfback Paul Hornung on the offensive unit and tackle Henry Jordan, linebacker Bill Forester and corner back Jesse Whittenton on the defensive team.

New York placed end Del Shofner and tackle Roosevelt Brown on the offensive club and end Jim Katcavage, corner back Erich Barnes and safety man Jimmy Patton on the defensive team.

Sonny Jurgensen of the Philadelphia Eagles was named quarterback in a backfield that included Jimmy Brown of Cleveland at fullback, Lenny Moore of Baltimore at flanker back and Hornung at halfback.

Taylor Second

Jim Taylor of Green Bay finished a close second to Brown in the fullback competition. And several voters named both Brown and Taylor, two fullbacks, to the team. Tommy McDonald of Philadelphia also was a popular choice for flanker back, not far behind Moore.

Ringo and Thurston of the powerful Green Bay line, and Jim Ray Smith of Cleveland were overwhelming choices at center and guard. Brown of New York and Jim Parker of Baltimore just edged Forrest Gregg of Green Bay and Mike McCormack of Cleveland for the offensive tackle jobs.

Shofner, traded away by Los Angeles during the off season, was named as first string and on a majority of the ballots. The fleet former Baylor star caught 68 passes for 1,125 yards and 11 touchdowns in the Giants' drive to the Eastern Conference title.

Jim Philips of the Rams, who used to be Shofner's roommate when both were in Los Angeles, won the other job with his league-leading total of 78 catches for 1,092 yards. Ray Berry of Baltimore was a close third and Mike Ditka of Chicago, Rookie of the Year, also drew solid support.

NFA Team, Middies Get Wins

Scoring 29 points in a third period blitz, Newburgh Free Academy remained unbeaten with a 72-34 DUSO League win last night against visiting Port Jervis.

In another circuit tilt, Middletown won its first game at Liberty in six years, stopping the Indians, 61-58.

The home side led, 17-6, 29-12, and 58-23, at the quarters. The Goldies seem to be improving each time out. They'll be tough to beat.

Big Bill Gray rimmed 32 points and pulled down a load of rebounds to spark Middletown. Billy Blume had 14 points for Liberty, which has dropped three League starts by a total of 11 points.

Kramer Abandons U. S. Pro Tennis

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Professional tennis players won't tour the United States in 1962 because the crowds aren't showing up.

Promoter Jack Kramer, who admits about $75,000 has been dropped on the last two U.S. tours, says there will always be a demand in this country for the pros—"but not on an annual basis until open tennis comes."

The pros won't lack for competition—tournaments around the calendar are scheduled in Australia, South America, South Africa and Europe.

"We're convinced our best bet is to take advantage of tremendous interest in foreign countries," Kramer told a reporter. "It's a tremendous gamble to put up expensive prizes. The idea of gambling in America is not as pleasant as gambling elsewhere."

The Australian players, he says like the change—they get more time at home.

Kramer, who hasn't drawn a salary for more than a year because of financial reverses, says open tennis—pros against amateurs—is the only available long-range cure for both sides of the sport.

Ellenville Little League Re-Elects Kelder President

Vernon J. Kelder was elected to his tenth consecutive term as president of the Ellenville Little League at the annual December meeting.

Arthur F. Distel was elected vice president; Robert F. Woodhouse, secretary; Sam Levis, treasurer; and Eugene Houck, player agent. Arthur B. Wright will serve as official scorer. Levis was voted the additional designation of assistant to the president and in charge of the training program.

Managers approved for the 1962 season include: Frank B. Muller, American Legion; Robert Wilhelm, Ellenville Noonday Club; James Wilhelm, Jewish War Veterans; Jerry Barber, Lions Club; Everett Joray, Ellenville Fire Department; Enrico Caruso, Ellenville Police Department; Ronald Murphy and Clem Wright, Napanoch Firemen. Jack Gould was named temporary manager of the Elks Lodge team.

It was voted to open the 1962 season on Saturday, May 12, with view of perhaps lengthening the schedule of games at both the Channel Master stadium and Berme Road field, so as to carry the scheduled games and playoffs through the month of July.

Registration for at least 30 places on major teams will be held at the school the second week of April. Financial plans and collection of funds and fees for sign advertisers will take place in January.

The next meeting of the league will be held Thursday, January 18, at 8 p. m. at the town hall. All managers are requested to have an inventory of suits and equipment available.

Lakers End Celt Skein At Nine

The Boston Celtics' nine-game winning streak and the New York Knicks' eight-game losing streak came to an end in the National Basketball Association (NBA) Tuesday night.

The Celtics went down before the Los Angeles Lakers 104-101 in Los Angeles and the Knicks beat the St. Louis Hawks 128-111 in the feature of a doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden.

In the opener of the twin bill the Syracuse Nats whipped the Detroit Pistons, 124-111. And the Philadelphia Warriors, with Wilt Chamberlain flipping in 57 points, defeated the Cincinnati Royals 117-110 at Cincinnati.

Boston overcame a 16-point deficit in the first quarter to lead the Lakers by three points early in the last period. Then, with the score tied at 101 and only 42 seconds left, Frank Selvy won the game for the Lakers with a 15-foot jump shot and a free throw.

Johnny Green scored 10 points as New York went on a 15-0 spree late in the third period to sew up the Knick's triumph over the Hawks.

Syracuse put on a late spurt to beat Detroit. Larry Costello, with 30 points, and Hal Greer, with 26, sparked the Nats to an 18-point lead early in the last quarter that assured victory.

Chamberlain got his 57 points against Cincinnati on 24 field goals in 47 tries and on nine of 14 free throws.

Cannon's Class Sparked Houston To Division Title

By CHARLES GREEN

HOUSTON (AP) — San Diego and Houston meet for the American Football League championship Sunday, and the Oilers can just be thankful Billy Cannon took care of the skeptics.

The Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State had a hard time last year when he made his pro debut. He got battered and benched.

He was threatened with the bench early this season because Lou Rymkus, then coach of the Oilers, said he thought it might help Billy play better football.

But Cannon responded. When Wally Lemm took over for Rymkus in mid-October, Cannon started a running binge that led him to the league's rushing title, a one-game rushing record and a tie for the most touchdowns in one game.

Cannon is only part of the story of Houston's nine-game surge from the bottom to the top of the league's Eastern Division.

Solid Records

The Oilers set several records in lining up the title rematch, and some of the marks are good enough to be records in either pro league.

The defending AFL champs are the first team in the AFL or the National Football League to gain more than 6,000 yards in a single season. The Oilers picked up 6,288 in 14 games. No team in either league has ever matched the 4,392 yards Houston gained on passes. No other team in the AFL or NFL has scored more than 500 points in one season. Houston scored 513.

George Blanda, in his 12th pro year, passed for 3,340 yards and 36 touchdowns—more than any other quarterback has done in either league.

Charles Hennigan caught passes for 1,746 yards, bettering the record Elroy Hirsch set in the NFL a decade ago. Cannon's 948 yards rushing is a league record.

The Oilers and the Chargers—whose 12-2 record is the league's best—are even this year. San Diego won at home, 34-12, and the Oilers won at Houston, 33-13.

Snow Reporting Service Ready At Belleayre

Victor Glider, chief of the Bureau of Forest Recreation in the State Conservation Department, announced today that a new service for skiers has been instituted at the State-operated Belleayre Ski Center in the Catskills.

It's a snow-reporting answering service, now in operation 24 hours a day. Skiers may call Pine Hill 2501, any time of the day or night, for the latest report on snow conditions, Glider said.

Last year, nearly 150,000 skiers used the facilities at Belleayre. The season opened December 22 and continued through April 9, with 108 days of skiing.

The opening date for the current season will depend on weather conditions, Mr. Glider said.

Dedrick on Bail In Fire Series; Held for Burglary

A Greene County teen-ager, out on $10,000 bail in connection with a series of barn burnings in Oak Hill and Durham is in trouble with the law again. John Dedrick, 16, of Oak Hill was picked up by state police on charges of burglary, third degree, in connection with the theft of a case of liquor from the home of Louis Maierbott in Cooksburgh, just over the Albany County line from Greene County.

Dedrick is being held at Albany County jail, according to state police of the Leeds and Selkirk barracks. He waived examination before Justice Harold White of South Bethlehem who ordered him held for grand jury action.

Dedrick was released in $10,000 bail on Nov. 27 in connection with three barn fires, two in Oak Hill and one in Durham earlier in November.

Seek New Ways To Cut Down Grid Fatals

CHICAGO (AP)—The record of 15 prep football deaths in the 1961 season has the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations seeking new safety measures.

Clifford B. Fagan, executive secretary of the association, told the Associated Press Tuesday.

"The federation is going to campaign for stricter enforcement of regulations governing such things as piling on and tackling out of bounds. We also want to see a reduction in the use of forearms on defense."

The federation began keeping records in 1931 and represents 20,000 high schools in every state except Texas. The 15 direct deaths are the highest on record. There were 14 recorded in 1935, 1946 and 1957.

There were seven other football fatalities which fell in the indirect category. These included players stricken by heart seizures in warm-up routines or who died from various infections and diseases.

Nine of the direct fatalities occurred during games, six in practices. The federations said 720,000 boys participated in prep football the past season making the death ratio 2.08 for every 100,000.

Upstate Cage Powers Beaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In battles of giants Tuesday night, two Upstate New York college basketball teams were tumbled from the unbeaten ranks by still undefeated teams.

Ninth-ranked St. Bonaventure was walloped by seventh-ranked Duquesne at Pittsburgh, 74-57, while Cornell slammed visiting Rochester, 72-61.

In other action involving Upstate teams, Penn State handed visiting Syracuse its fifth defeat, 53-44; Albany State drubbed host Utica, 84-69; Alfred outfought host Upsala, 68-66; Yeshiva beat Hartwick, 84-62 in New York, and Oswego trimmed Le Moyne, 66-61 at Oswego.

The Bonnies, hampered by the loss of starters Ed Petrovick and Tom Hannon, never caught up with the Iron Dukes after a close first half. Clyde Arnold led with 18 points for the Dukes while the losers' Miles Aiken had an even better 20.

Petrovick has been examined for an enlarged heart and Hannon has a sprained ankle.

Cornell was never headed by Rochester after the 10-minute mark although the losers' Mike Berger dropped in 31 points. Jerry Szachara was high man for the Big Red with 19.

Corsage Hanover Top 2-Year-Old

SARATOGA SPRINGS — Corsage Hanover, top two-year-old trotter at Saratoga Raceway in 1959, has posted an impressive number of wins in her new home country, Italy, this year. She was sold earlier this year to European interests by Ernest B. Morris of Loudonville.

Latest win by Corsage Hanover was in an international race for $3,200 in Milan, Italy. This was one of the international races through the European "Grand Circuit" and the field included four ex-Americans among the six starters.

The distance was about one and a quarter miles and Quick Song was the favorite, but broke stride and placed sixth and last.

Corsage Hanover trotted the distance of 2,000 metres in 2:42 2/. In second place was the Italian five-year-old Mauier and third was Elise Hanover.

Branch Rickey 80 Years Old

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Branch Rickey, the elder statesman of organized baseball, celebrated his 80th birthday today still visualizing the creation of a third major league.

The father of baseball's farm system predicted that the National and American Leagues would expand to 12 teams each in the near future and then to a third league.

"The 12-team league will last a year or two, then they'll have a hassle and go to a third league with eight teams each," Rickey said.

"Are the present clubs happy?", the former president of the defunct Continental League added. "If they answer at all they'll tell you 'no,' especially the two newer clubs in each league. It's too expensive of a proposition."

National Milk Marketing Plan Under Study Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Stabilization Advisory Committee on dairy products has asked the Agriculture Department to supply it with more information on a program for federal management of milk production and supplies.

The committee, appointed recently by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, closed a two-day session Tuesday and planned to return about Jan. 12 to consider the possibility of recommending a national milk marketing order for controlling production of milk and dairy products.

Members said most of the committeemen would favor such an order as an alternative to less income from milk and dairy products.

Department officials estimate that the cost of the dairy price support program this fiscal year may run as much as $500 million over last year's cost of $272 million. They said the administration goal is to work with milk producers to develop and enact a workable program to maintain farm income and reduce government costs to an acceptable level.

Baltimore was second in total yardage with 4,922 yards and San Francisco third with 4,904. The Western Champion Green Bay Packers finished fourth with 4,714 yards and the Eastern champion New York Giants fifth with 4,597.

REACTIONS OF WOUNDED BIG GAME

BIG GAME, BY ITS REACTIONS, MAY SHOW SIGNS OF BEING SHOT EVEN IF IT DOESN'T LEAVE A BLOOD TRAIL. IT MAY JUMP OR RUN ERRATICALLY. IT WILL USUALLY HEAD FOR THE NEAREST HEAVY COVER. VITALLY HIT, IT USUALLY HEADS DOWNHILL, AND A GOOD TRAIL OF BLOOD OFTEN DEVELOPS QUICKLY. UPHILL DEPARTURE USUALLY MEANS A LESS VITAL SHOT, PERHAPS WITH LITTLE BLOOD TRAIL AND A LENGTHY JOB OF TRAILING, BUT DON'T GIVE UP.

GAME MAY NOT REACT, SO FOLLOW ITS TRAIL A BIT TO BE SURE!

$9,000 for Johnstown

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Johnstown will receive a $9,000 federal grant towards planning the growth and development of the city.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said Tuesday night the Federal Urban Renewal Administration had approved the grant. It will cover three-fourths of the planning costs, rather than the usual two-thirds, because Johnstown is classified as a distressed area, the Schenectady congressman said.

GOP Legislator to Fight Move to Date N.Y. Milk

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Republican legislator vows to "fight to the last ditch" plans of his party leaders to repeal the legislator's 1960 law that abolished New York City's milk-dating requirement.

Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason, R-Delaware, told The Associated Press he anticipated substantial support from other Upstate Republicans.

Gov. Rockefeller and the Republican leaders of the legislature are expected to win the dispute, however.

Rockefeller, with the leaders' support, will recommend that the 1962 Legislature allow New York City to reinstate a requirement that milk-containers bear the date the milk was pasteurized.

The GOP high command reportedly feels that the ban on milk-dating has become a political liability, partly because of complaints about sour milk.

Mason, whose original bill was enacted at the urging of farm groups, defended the ban on milk-dating as sound from health, scientific and economic standpoints.

He said modern refrigeration facilities would keep milk for at least one week, with no adverse affects on taste or freshness.

In a telephone interview, Mason, at Stamford, Delaware County, said Tuesday the 40-year-old practice of milk-dating had become obsolete. All other cities in the state had abandoned the system.

He had no comment, however, when asked about the Republican leaders' view that the law he sponsored should be repealed in the interests of the party.

Despite Mason's plans to fight a repeal of his law, and prospects of Upstate support, a coalition of Democrats and Republicans from New York City is expected to have sufficient strength to repeal the measure.

Democrats opposed the ban from the outset and have made it a major political issue.

Mason, a lawyer in the dairy country, claimed that Democrats had raised "a spurious issue to distract attention from the mess they have made in New York City."

The bill now goes to the Board of Estimate, upper branch of the city's legislative setup, and then to the mayor for signing.

The vote in the Democratic-controlled council was 24 to 1. The lone dissenter, Republican Stanley M. Isaacs, said: "Santa Claus, in all his wildest dreams, never even imagined the kind of Christmas gifts we are handing out today..."

Door Remaining Open Before Guinea Drive

Indonesia Has No Fear of Dutch, But Wants Peace

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Foreign Minister Subandrio told parliament Tuesday night that Indonesia can't be blamed if it takes West New Guinea by force but that the door is still open to a peaceful settlement with the Dutch rulers of the island territory.

Stresses Control

He made clear that Indonesia will accept only a settlement giving it control of the western half of the big island, which the Netherlands retained in 1949 when it granted the rest of the Netherlands East Indies independence.

Meanwhile, said Subandrio, "for us there is no other way but to carry out the people's command" by President Sukarno who ordered total mobilization of the nation Tuesday. Sukarno said he had instructed the armed forces to prepare to seize West New Guinea "at any time from now on."

Chance to Keep Peace

"The possibility has not yet been entirely closed that this question may be settled peacefully. The door is still open," Subandrio said in a lengthy statement explaining Indonesian policy toward the area it calls West Irian.

He invited the Dutch to "seize this opportunity before it is too late" and asserted that the world could not blame the Sukarno government if it launches military action to prevent the Dutch from carrying out their plan to transform West New Guinea into the state of West Papua which would have the right of ultimate self-determination.

"Let the Dutch not underestimate our strength," the foreign minister declared. "Let the Dutch not consider the hand extended by President Sukarno as weakness of Indonesia but as a final appeal to seek a peaceful way."

Pressure mounted in Holland for direct negotiations and the Dutch government said it was willing to talk under the auspices of the United Nations.

Urged by Kennedy

In Washington, ambassadors from both nations indicated to newsmen after separate talks at the State Department that their governments might accept outside help in reaching a solution. President Kennedy has urged both Indonesia and the Netherlands to seek a peaceful agreement.

Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant appealed in identical notes to Sukarno and Dutch Prime Minister Jan E. De Quay for both governments to "take no action which could give rise to a threat to peace and security."

To Halt Air Pollution

State Will Require Plans on Plants

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—In an effort to halt further air pollution, New York State soon will require approval of plans for construction or modification of industrial installations.

Beginning April 2, the State Air Pollution Control Board will pass on all plans for building or modifying large heating or power plants, incinerators and most manufacturing plants.

The board, in a statewide regulation Tuesday, said its approval would be required for such construction. Exempt from the order, the first issued by the board since it was established in 1957, are fuel-oil heaters in homes, small apartment buildings, restaurants and small bakeries.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner and board chairman, said the order was designed to "hold the line against increasing air pollution from new sources."

Hilleboe said that after April 2, a person who builds or modifies an installation covered by the order without state approval runs the risk of being ordered to tear down or modify the structure.

Willful violations of the order could result in fines and jail terms, he said.

The board emphasized that the order did not prohibit local governments from establishing and enforcing their own air-pollution laws. Many of the state's larger cities have local pollution ordinances.

Hilleboe said that the board now would concentrate on establishing air-quality standards on an area-by-area basis throughout the state.

When these standards are established, he said, air polluters will be required to take corrective action to conform to the state standards.

JFK, Macmillan May Shift Bermuda Talks

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy's ailing father, hospitalized with a stroke that caused partial paralysis, was somewhat improved this morning. And there definitely will be a meeting between the President and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain Thursday.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters, however, that there is a possibility the conference may be shifted from Bermuda to Palm Beach.

Await Doctor's Report

He said Macmillan, who arrived in Bermuda today, has been in touch with the chief executive and places himself at the President's disposal. A decision on the site of the conference will be reached late today on the basis of a report at that time from physicians attending 73-year-old Joseph P. Kennedy, one-time ambassador to Britain.

One doctor said the patient has "a slight paralysis of the left side," but he said the elder Kennedy was better than when he entered St. Mary's Hospital yesterday and better than he was last night.

Announcement that the Kennedy-Macmillan conference will go on came just before the President left the oceanfront mansion in Palm Beach where he is staying to drive to the hospital several miles away in West Palm Beach.

Osteopath Found Guilty in Death Of 12 Patients

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)— Dr. Albert L. Weiner, an osteopathic physician specializing in psychiatry, was found guilty Tuesday night of manslaughter for the deaths of 12 patients. He was acquitted of criminal responsibility in the deaths of three others.

A jury returned its verdict shortly before midnight, after 12 hours of deliberation.

It ended a trial that began 58 days ago in Camden County Court and included the testimony of nearly 200 witnesses.

Lengthy Records

Many were former patients who testified they saw dried blood on infusion tubing in Weiner's office. Nearly a score of the witnesses were medical experts. Records of the case filled 6,530 pages.

The state went beyond the language of the 15-count indictment which spoke only of hepatitis, a liver disease, to prove that the deaths were caused by serum hepatitis.

Prosecutor Norman Heine said he did this to show the deaths were attributable to Weiner's use of unsterile and contaminated equipment and drugs, said to be the cause of serum hepatitis.

The jury foreman, Miss Clara Szombat, 51, a secretary, responded "not guilty" to the court clerk's

Fire Is Blamed On Yule Lights

Too many outside Christmas lights on one circuit were blamed for a fire Tuesday night that drove Mr. and Mrs. Charles Golnek and five children from their Route 9W home in the Town of Ulster.

According to Chief Harry Lowe, an overloaded circuit caused fire to break out in the cellar of the Golnek home. Ulster Fire Company No. 5 responded and quickly extinguished the blaze with a CO2 extinguisher. Damage was kept to a minimum the chief said. The alarm was sounded at 8:15 p. m. and the Vols were back in the firehouse in an hour.

Discussion On Salary Is Heard

No Major Changes Due in Figures

A meeting of the Budget Committee, preparatory to adoption of a 1962 county budget, was scheduled this afternoon by the Board of Supervisors. Adoption of a final budget will take place tonight.

No major change in the tentative gross budget of $7,542,044.14 is expected, except for some corrections of errors which were made in preparation of copies of the proposed budget.

At the public hearing Tuesday night, attended by a few supervisors and a small delegation of the public, the principal objection was voiced by Thomas A. Brann, field representative of the Civil Employes Association, Inc., of Albany who termed the $120 across the board increase in pay for some 440 county employes "insufficient" and amounting to "less than nothing."

Letter Asks 12 Per Cent

James P. Martin, president of the Ulster Chapter, Civil Employes Association who had proposed a 12 per cent across the board increase, was present at the meeting but did not address it. He had proposed by letter that a 12 per cent increase be granted to bring local salaries up to that of other similar counties.

Alderman John P. Heitzman, (D) 12th ward, asked if County Superintendent of Highways Roland H. Green was aware of materials referred to by Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk which could save the city of Kingston upwards of $200,000 in street work in the city. Heitzman referred to a $25,000 increase in the cost of materials and supplies in the Highway Department budget and asked that it be explained.

Superintendent Green was not present at the hearing.

Asked if Green would be available at the meeting tonight for questioning, Chairman Robert F. Phinney said he did not know what Green's "commitments" might be.

JOSEPH P. KENNEDY

President's Dad Improves, Four Doctors on Hand

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy's father was reported "somewhat improved" this morning. The former ambassador to England, Joseph P. Kennedy, 73, spent a good night, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said.

There was still no decision, Salinger said, as to whether the President will go to Bermuda Thursday for his scheduled talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Awaits Further Reports

Kennedy was awaiting further reports from the doctors who are attending his father, seriously ill after suffering a stroke which left him slightly paralyzed.

The elder Kennedy was reported able to recognize his youngest son,

Assembly Nearing Windup

U.N. Charges Portugal On Refusing Land Data

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Weary U.N. delegates pushed to wind up the first part of the General Assembly session tonight after condemning Portugal for refusing to give the U.N. information on its overseas territories.

It was the second U.N. decision against Portugal within 24 hours. A Soviet veto Monday night blocked Security Council approval of a resolution calling on India to pull back its invasion of the three small Portuguese colonies on the west coast of India. The Indian army completed its conquest Tuesday.

India Leads Campaign

India led the campaign to condemn Portugal for refusing to furnish information on non-self-governing territories required by the U.N. charter. The vote was 90-3 with Portugal, South Africa and Spain voting no and Bolivia and France abstaining. The United States voted for the resolution after an unsuccessful attempt to soften the language of the resolution.

The resolution authorized creation of a seven-man committee to conduct an investigation of conditions in the Portuguese territories and called on member states "to deny to Portugal any support and assistance which may be used by it for the suppression of people of its non-self-governing territories."

NATO Chief Targets

The chief targets of the latter provision were the United States, Britain and other members of the North Atlantic Alliance from whom Portugal obtains military supplies as a member of NATO.

The steering committee called for adjournment by midnight until Jan. 15, but the assembly was expected to sit past the deadline in order to clear a number of items from its agenda.

The 104-nation budgetary committee assured assembly approval of a $200-million, 25-year bond issue to save the world body from bankruptcy. The committee rec-

Ellenville Area Breaks Are Under Troopers' Probe

The Ellenville Bowling Alley on Route 209, just outside the village was entered through a rear door. Pinball and cigarette machine coin boxes were smashed open and the intruders took upwards of $100 in change, according to Corporal Michael Bonney and Investigator Charles Teelon. The alleys are operated by Morris Winegar and Benjamin Elter of Ellenville.

The second burglary occurred at a garage in Napanoch operated by Willard and Robert Smith. There the intruders entered through a window and stole two tires and four to five dollars in pennies, the officers reported.

No clues to either break had been obtained this morning and according to the officers, there was no immediate indication that the burglaries had been committed by the same party.

Enclaves Barred to Reporters

Menon's Decision Puzzling to U.N.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian forces tidied up their hold on Portuguese Goa today behind an iron curtain. Newsmen were banned from the tiny enclaves seized in a 35-hour blitzkrieg.

The Defense Ministry announced that the remaining points of resistance in Goa had collapsed but kept dozens of reporters and photographers waiting outside of the biggest enclave at the Indian command post town of Belgaum. The smaller enclaves of Damao and Diu, north of Bombay, fell earlier before the lightning attack launched early Sunday.

Must Clear Mines

Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, en route to the United Nations in New York, reportedly said prior to his departure that the military government had to organize and clear roads of mines and that it would be some days before journalists would be allowed to enter.

The news ban left the outside world dependent on official Indian reports of the capitulation of Portuguese rule in the city.

Menon told newsmen during a stopover in Cairo that he was returning to New York to place India's case clearly before the United Nations.

Diplomats at U.N. headquarters in New York were puzzled by Menon's haste. The General Assembly planned to recess today until mid-January, and the Soviet Union vetoed a Western cease-fire resolution in the Security Council Tuesday as India was completing its conquest. No further arraignment of India in the council or the assembly was expected.

Reds Acclaim Nehru

The Communist bloc and the Asian-African nations acclaimed the action by Prime Minister Nehru's forces. The United States, Britain, and other Western nations strongly condemned it.

Menon said India had been forced to liberate the three enclaves because 14 years of negotiation with Portugal had proved futile.

Nehru told newsmen that the ease with which India took over the three enclaves and the lack of casualties—the government said it lost eight dead and that Portuguese casualties were "small"—proved the "correctness of the Indian assessment of the situation."

"The colonial administration had cracked up and the people wanted and welcome India," Nehru said. He said U.N. critics of India were "obviously ignorant of the facts now as well as in the last dozen years or more."

Mahoney Says It's Early To Decide No Tax Refund

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Senate majority leader Walter J. Mahoney maintains that any decision on a tax refund next year is premature, despite an apparent attack on this view from within the Rockefeller administration.

There are indications that Gov. Rockefeller, who is a candidate for re-election next year, feels that talk about tax relief could hurt him at the polls.

The Republican governor frequently is called on to emphasize his decision against tax relief.

The state government will be hard-pressed to balance the budget next year and a tax refund is out of the question, sources close to the governor maintain.

But Mahoney, when asked for comment on these reports, said Tuesday he would need complete information on the state's finances for the current fiscal year, which ends next March 31, before he could make a final decision on tax relief.

Mahoney said his position was that any conclusions on tax rebate should not be reached at this time. If things are as roomy as administration sources report, the Republican leader said, there will be no tax cut.

In 1960, Mahoney advocated a 10 per cent rebate on personal income taxes. Rockefeller originally opposed the plan but eventually agreed to the $90 million rebate, which was given this year.

The administration, as it drafts a new budget, is emphasizing the high cost of meeting the needs of the state's population and providing services the people require from the government.

This approach apparently is intended to offset any sense of ease among taxpayers over statements there will be no tax rebate this year.

Rockefeller will outline his 1962 program, without the exact cost, in his annual message to the joint opening session of the Legislature Jan. 3. The budget will be submitted Feb. 1.

Quake Kills Five

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Five persons were killed and an undetermined number injured in an earthquake that shook a wide area in Colombia today.

The quake caused a panic in Bogota but hit hardest in the cities of Armenia and Pereira in the Western state of Caldas.

Heavy damage was reported at Sanson in Antioquia and the government sent troops and medical teams to the town.

Says Court Action Shows Welfare Changes Needed

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—City Manager Joseph Mitchell says the State Supreme Court action invalidating 12 of the 13 points of the city's controversial welfare code emphasizes a need for legislative changes at both the state and national levels.

"Here is a city trying to improve itself but being prevented from doing so by state and federal law," he said.

"We've had no grievances at all. We've cut taxes and the welfare budget. Our performance indicates we're right and the law should be changed."

The only point left standing after Justice Robert Doscher handed down his ruling Tuesday in the state-instigated action requires able-bodied relief recipients to report to the welfare department once a month.

Among those ruled illegal were ones denying relief payments to women continuing to have children out of wedlock and to able-bodied men refusing to work.

The plan, which turned this Hudson River Valley community into a seat of national controversy, was put into effect July 15.

The 12 points were placed under a temporary injunction Aug. 18 when the state began its move for a permanent injunction.

Mitchell, who fathered the welfare code, claimed it was designed to knock chiselers off the relief rolls and to cut the city's welfare bill. He said in July that one-third of the city's annual $3 million budget went into welfare expense.

Trying Simple Approach To Lighten Welfare Costs

By TOM NOLAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — National attention is now centered on a District of Columbia plan for reducing its public welfare costs without resorting to the Newburgh, N. Y., formula. If the Washington experiment lives up to its promises, it may provide an example that can be copied in any of the 50 states to lighten their public assistance programs in the next two years.

The new D.C. project is intended to train mothers receiving checks under the Aid-to-Dependent-Children (ADC) program to become self-supporting, eliminating further welfare payments.

ADC payments for the entire United States are now averagin better than $100 million a month. District of Columbia costs are $825,000 a month for 6,000 mothers and 17,000 children.

The Washington rehabilitation project is a "simple approach to a complex problem," according to Miss Mary E. Switzer, of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation (OVR), U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"What we do is focus all the resources of community agencies on this group of mothers," says Miss Switzer. "This unified approach means that each agency is not left alone to deal with the problem in its own way."

First year cost of the D.C. program is budgeted at $76,700. A Federal grant of $21,200 from OVR financed a new Rehabilitation Training Center. The remainder of the cost is met by such local Washington agencies as the department of public welfare, public health and recreation and the board of education. Contributions from local business and charity organizations also help finance the plan.

To be acceptable for the program a mother must have a physical, mental or emotional disability. Serious mental and physical defects are treated elsewhere.

Emotional handicaps are common among the mothers, many of them second or third generation public-aid receivers. "Most of them are completely helpless in facing everyday situations, such as buying food or riding a bus," says Fred A. Schumacher, OVR's expert on mental retardation. "There's a lot to teach them before they can become useful, self-supporting members of a community."

Mothers move into the center along with their children, remain there until they are trained, obtain paid employment and placed in modern public housing developments.

Training includes personal hygiene, cooking, learning how to talk on a telephone and how to make a bed.

Each woman goes through a lengthy employment - evaluation session which decides her future occupation. Job training follows, including how to act on a job, what to say durig a job interview, and how to use public transportation to get to work.

During her three or four months at the center, a mother contributes her monthly ADC check.

Most mothers start working before leaving the center. When they become adjusted to their jobs, they are placed in public housing. The D.C. National Housing Authority cooperates by giving them priority on housing lists.

Of the first 32 mothers admitted to the program, 28 are now employed full-time and are off the public welfare rolls. The jobs—produced by U. S. Employment Service and D. C. Department of Vocational Rehabilitation—range from a waitress and a cook's helper to an accountant and a doctor's aide.

The 28 mothers earn a total of $5,282 per month, an average of $188 each, compared to a total of $3,037 a month in ADC checks, an average of $108 each.

Welfare Department officials, figuring a 30 per cent placement rate would be a good result, are pleasantly surprised at the initial 88 per cent success. "It's just too good," says one.

OVR plans to continue its grant to the center—now training a second batch of 30 mothers —for two more years. "We need at least that long to completely evaluate the program," Schumacher says. "We have to follow up to make sure each person is well enough adjusted to stick to her job."

Then, if OVR is convinced the results are worthwhile, it will set up demonstration centers in each state. Local agencies will be free to adopt the program if they wish.

"We're not too bright, but everyone is very patient," says one woman presently in training, proudly adding: "I just learned how to make a square corner on my blanket."

A JOG FROM UNCLE SAM

The melancholy days are here again, and it's too bad. Too bad, that is, that we must start thinking about income tax returns during the joyful Yule season.

This year, because of new policy pronouncements by the Internal Revenue Service, the melancholia may take on a deeper indigo hue. For some, at least. That "some" includes thousands of housewives who have not been filing returns on wages paid domestic employes. It also includes their spouses who haven't been reporting interest and dividend payments they receive.

The law requires this and always has, but some of us just "forget." That forgetfulness, it is now estimated, has been losing Uncle Sam four to five billion dollars a year. So this year the old gentleman is offering us what he seems to regard as a break, to wit: Report this "forgotten" income this year, he says, and all will be forgiven about our past neglect.

But if we don't comply this year, look out! Our past may come crashing down about our ears. We might have to pay a penalty on that past forgetfulness. To refurbish an honored phrase, a word to the wives is sufficient. The word may suffice for their coupon-clipping husbands, too.

Rolling stones may gather no moss—but neither do they have to worry about fighting crabgrass.

PRICE OF PEACE

Occasionally the headline on a news story tells a good deal more than the bare words. This was such a case:

"Tanganyika, Set Free, Faces Budget Deficit."

This newest of the independent African nations is launched on its way with much hope it will pursue a domestic and world course marked by moderate democracy.

Yet it seems so typical of this age that it should be "born into trouble." It could not enjoy the comfort of a single day with a balanced budget, but was plunged instantly into the financial red.

Nowhere but in freedom can men's souls find the uplift that befits human nature. Today, however, they are learning that gaining and holding liberty compels them increasingly to bear painful, frustrating burdens which mar enjoyment of their prize.

Castro tells Cubans to wait for tomorrow, when "nothing will be lacking." They'll have to go some to beat the Russians and Red Chinese at that waiting game.

WATER WITH A 'HEAD'

Sometimes a small incident highlights a situation more effectively than a voluminous report. This was the case recently when, in a town on the East Coast, a glass of water from a private well tap bubbled over with detergent suds before the glass was half filled.

This has occurred in a number of communities. In some of them, synthetic detergents have been found in private water supplies for the past several years. The presence of detergent foam in tap water indicates the urgency of improving controls of water pollution.

More research and greater facilities are needed—and that means more money. The only consolation is that money devoted to assuring supplies of pure water to meet growing requirements will be money well spent.

That Communist registration law has a lot of Reds purple with rage.

ABOUT TO ROLL

Politics in off-years is much like the rest of public affairs. Everything comes in shades of gray, there is much too much talk, and very little is settled.

Politics in election years is like baseball. You play a certain length of time, and you get a result. There is still plenty of talk and fuzzy nonsense, but it all ends on the great cutoff day in November.

The already denied reports that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York would bow out of politics as a result of personal problems evidently fit properly the off-year atmosphere.

In scant days it will be 1962, election year, and we will have action instead of reports of impending action. There is always a certain welcome relief in it.

'These Days'

AN UNKNOWING PROFESSOR

I do not know who Professor Stanley Spector is but he signs himself "Associate Professor, Far Eastern Affairs, Washington University," St. Louis, Missouri. I would be willing to bet dollars to doughnuts that the professor never knew Dr. Sun Yat-sen and that his letter to the "St. Louis Post Dispatch" is distant from the realities.

Now to state my own bona fides. When I arrived in Shanghai in 1919, my first job was on the Kuomintang newspaper which was nominally owned by Eugene Chen but actually controlled by Dr. Sun. It became customary for me to visit Dr. Sun most afternoons at about 4 p. m. I proof-read the English of some of his books; I would bring visitors from the United States and other countries to see him and to discuss matters with him. For instance, when Thomas Lamont of J. P. Morgan came to China to deal with questions of the Consortium, I set up his appointments with Sun Yat-sen and was present at all of them.

Associate Professor Spector writes:

"The stamp which countless American children lick each day pays tribute to a man guilty of the following crimes against stability and conservatism, to say the very least:

"1. He did knowingly accept money, aid and advisers from agents of the Communist International."

There is much history related to this which the professor apparently does not know and the documentation for which is in my possession:

Dr. Sun asked me to discuss with Major Arthur Bassett, then attached to the 15th Infantry, and Colonel Drysdale, then our military attache, the possibility of establishing a West Point for the Kuomintang armies. Had this proposal gone through, Dr. Sun's forces would have been American directed. He also discussed this matter with Roy Anderson, one of the most knowledgeable Americans in China. The American government turned the proposal down. Dr. Sun then thought that he might make some connection with General Ludendorff who was then at the head of the German officer veterans. Later some of these German officer veterans did come to China.

I was in Dr. Sun's house in Shanghai when an invitation came to him to visit Soviet Russia. The telegram came from Lenin and while it might have been sent via Siberia and North China, the Russians preferred to send it via England so that the governments of the Western countries would know that Lenin was moving in on Sun.

Ultimately the Russians sent Adolf Joffe to Shanghai to confer with Sun and as a result Michael Borodin and General Bleucher-Galens came to Shanghai to assit Dr. Sun in his revolutionary movement.

Dr. Sun never became a Communist. He thought that Marxism was primitive and would not help China. It was to offset the assumption that because Sun dealt with the Russians, he had become a Marxist that he expressed his interest in a book written by Dr. Maurice Williams, a Brooklyn dentist, I believe, on the social rather than economic interpretation of history. Dr. Williams became one of the sages of Kuomintang philosophy.

Dr. Sun never went to Russia. Chiang Kai-shek did go there and although he spoke no Russian, came back to China as an expert on Russian military education. Eugene Chen, a West Indian Chinese, British educated, who was a friend of my first wife and was at my wedding, went to Russia and when the Kuomintang government was set up, he became Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Dr. Sun died on March 12, 1925 before his revolutionary movement got under way. It was expected that Hu Han-ming or Wang Ching-wei would take over. Borodin preferred Chiang Kai-shek.

To say that Sun was subsidized by the Russians is to display ignorance of what happened. The final agreement was consummated between Borodin and Chiang Kai-shek. The Chinese paid for everything they got from Russia. Most of the arms and munitions came from dumps of American supplies left behind in Siberia by the American forces after World War I. To pay for these arms, munitions and medical supplies, which the Russians did not really own, a gasoline monopoly was set up in Canton. T. V. Soong managed this, assisted by Tommy Tong. The Russians were paid before Chiang broke with them and drove them out of the country.

I was a witness and in some instances a participant in all these affairs.

If on Salt-Free Diet, Use Other Spices on Food

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you're on a salt-restricted diet and have learned the hard way that "there are six flavors and of them all, salt is the chief," here are some suggestions for flavoring your food from Dr. Milton Plotz, clinical professor of medicine at New York State University:

Mashed potato. Add freshly grated onion and nutmeg.

Peas. Boil in sweetened water, drain and add butter with chopped or powdered mint.

Green or lima beans. Add nutmeg and butter.

Corn. Add sugar and freshly ground pepper.

Tomato. Stew with bay leaf, onion and oregano.

String beans. Add majoram.

Onions. Boil with clove and thyme.

Stew or goulash. Cook with onion, bay leaf, sweet paprika, pepper, rosemary leaves or oregano.

Veal stew. Cook with onion, bay leaf, powdered mace, celery leaves and bitters.

Chops. Rub with pepper and ginger before broiling.

Roasts. Rub meat with pepper and ground ginger before cooking. Add one large bay leaf to pan and baste every 15 minutes.

All oof the mentioned flavorings, alone and in combinations, can be purchased in most grocery stores and markets and by mail order. Considering the minute amounts used in food preparation, they are not expensive. Indeed, they may cost less per serving than salt substitutes.

To those suggested by Dr. Plotz, a favorite in our household is a mixture of horseradish and orange marmalade, to be used with meats. And then, of course, there's applesauce for pork, cranberry sauce for poultry and drops of bitters that sharpen the taste of most otherwise flat foods and fluids.

Dr. Plotz also calls attention to hidden sources of salt in foods. Such, for example, as canned meats, most frozen foods and, to my surprise, candies made with Dutch-processed chocolate.

"How Did We Ever Get on This Side?"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Overhaul of the 25-year-old, $4 billion-a-year federal-state assistance programs is in the works. This includes not only the Kennedy administration health insurance plan for the aged—to replace the Kerr-Mills plan adopted during the Eisenhower administration—but also a complete revamping of the aid to dependent children programs.

This is to be renamed the "Bureau of Family Services" and the emphasis is to be put on rehabilitation to get more people off relief and into useful employment.

MANY PEOPLE WILL SAY it's about time. Some contend that the whole business of relief should be abolished, just because of abuses in a small minority of the cases handled.

Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, for instance, says in his book, "The Conscience of a Conservative," that "the recipient of welfarism . . . mortgages himself to the federal government" and eliminates "any feeling of responsibility for his own family and that of his neighbors." His conclusion is:

"Let welfare be a private concern." Or, 'if we deem public intervention necessary, let the job be done by local and state authorities that are incapable of accumulating the vast political power that is so inimical to our liberties."

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff maintains that the states run the programs now.

The federal government, he says, merely supplies matching funds for state programs after they're approved by Washington as meeting certain minimum standards. The states act as transmission belts to pass the money to local government to hand out.

AS GOVERNOR OF Connecticut for six years, Ribicoff had to deal with public assistance programs first-hand. He says they caused him more concern than anything else. And he came back to Washington as head of HEW determined to correct them.

The 10 new regulations he has just announced for administering aid to dependent children are his first step.

Some additional legislation will be requested of the new Congress and another $17 million will be required—half federal, half state funds—to put his reforms in effect. But, "We're trying to save on a long-range basis," he says, "and we can bring down the costs of relief."

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE programs were born in the depths the great depression, when private charity and local governments found themselves unable to cope with their problems. They dropped off during World War II years, but have been on the increase ever since. And there is no predicting where they will go if they continue in the present wrong directions.

Public assistance administrators are waking up to the fact that they now have dependent children on their rolls who are the third generation in families that have been on relief for a quarter of a century.

The problem is to get such of these people as are able to work off the relief roles and onto some paying job. Many of them are uneducated and untrained for any work today. Thre is no incentive to get off easy relief money and onto a payroll.

A KEY TROUBLE HERE, says Ribicoff, is that there aren't enough competent people administering public assistance. Of 32,000 social workers, fewer than 5 per cent have been trained for their jobs. Such social workers as there are have too much to do. Instead of having, say, 150 cases in their care, they have 300. They can't possibly make the rounds.

One of the goals in the new Ribicoff plan is to give incentives to the states to train more social workers, then have the states adopt standards that relief families be visited at least once every three months in efforts to get them off relief.

It is of course hard to get tough about people on relief at Christmas time. When Ribicoff was asked if his new problem was a "businessman's approach" to public assistance, he was stopped for a moment. Then he observed, "There's a heck of a lot of businessmen don't know about government. This is a hardhead and compassionate heart approach.

India Seen Retrogressing To Time of Genghis Khan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — India has turned the clock back several centuries to espouse the doctrine that might makes right. No longer is India "non-aligned." It now is aligned with the aggressors—the Soviet Union and Red China—in grabbing near-by territory and arguing that it is merely "the tide of history." The theft of the Portuguese province of Goa by India's military forces indeed has put a black mark on the pages of history.

What is to happen to Mr. Nehru's cause if Red China starts moving across the Tibetan border to invade Indian or uses his argument to justify a seizure of the adjacent territory of Hong Kong from Britain? What becomes of the validity of treaty rights and international law if at any moment these can be converted into "scraps of paper" just as Hitler did in the 1930s?

Plainly the quest for peace by the process of reason has suffered a setback. It is all the more distressing because the new violator of human rights—Premier Nehru — has hitherto been their staunchest defender. He has been the world's chief exponent of non-violence and of the pacific settlement of disputes.

How Can UN Sit By?

Worst of all is the hypocritical and transparently immoral behavior of the United Nations itself. How can respect for that organization be maintained when it tolerates acts that tear to shreds the solemn obligations of its charter?

The Security Council was stopped by the Soviet veto from dealing with India's action, but the General Assembly can still function and express itself. It now is said this would be futile because the Afro-Asian bloc would vote down any resolution condemning India's aggression. Nevertheless, a record vote would go a long way toward defining the issue for the future. If the charter is to be formally repudiated, the sooner the world knows it the earlier a new organization will be formed to bring together the nations that sincerely believe in a rule of law.

The Charter Clause

A re-reading of the United Nations charter adopted in 1945 at San Francisco is pertinent today. Here are some extracts that place aggression outside the pale of civilized conduct:

"Purposes and principles . . . to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace, and for the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace. . . .

"All members shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any state. . . .

"All members, in order to insure to all of them the rights and benefits resulting from membership, shall fulfill in good faith the obligations assumed by them in accordance with the present charter."

Adlai Stevenson, the U. S. ambassador to the UN, acting upon instructions from Washington, made some pointed comments during the debate at the Security Council meeting at which the Soviet veto was registered against any action by the council denouncing India's course.

He said:

"Can anyone believe that huge India is acting in self-defense against this little territory? . . . The League of Nations died, I remind you, when its members no longer resisted the use of aggressive forces. . . .

"The failure of the Security Council to call for a cease-fire in these simple circumstances is a failure of the United Nations. The veto of the Soviet Union is consistent with its long role of obstruction. But I find the attitude of some other members of the council profoundly disturbing and ominous because we have witnessed an effort to rewrite the Charter, to sanction the use of force in international relations when it suits one's own purposes. This approach can only lead to chaos and to the disintegration of the United Nations."

The foregoing remarks point up the weakness that has been revealed time and again in the UN—that nations do their voting on the basis of political self-interest rather than from the viewpoint of international justice.

The Consequences

What are the tragic consequences already? Indonesia is preparing militarily to move against Dutch-held west New Guinea, which is located on an island hundreds of miles away from Indonesian seat of government. The sole claim of Indonesia is that it has a right to whatever the Netherlands owns in the archipelago. Will the UN step in to avoid the use of force? Will it help the people of New Guinea to exercise their right of self-determination?

And suppose the Peiping government decides to go back a few centuries to the days when Genghis Khan claimed all of Asia, including India, and asserts now that Red China has inherited all the land once claimed by preceding regimes?

There are many places in the world where bloodshed could ensue if the doctrine that might makes right is to be employed to justify seizing areas now held by other governments, whether as colonies or as integral parts of the sovereign territory of the nation attacked.

Throughout Africa the torches of more war have been lighted. A West African newspaper says: "The amazing thing was that Nehru was so patient. When independent African countries are strong enough to give the command to pack up and go, Angola, Mogambique and Portuguese Guinea will suffer the same fate as Goa."

Nuclear wars may perhaps be averted, but little wars that can grow into big wars seem destined to plague the world. Sooner or later the United Nations must be reorganized to include truly free nations which are willing to make sacrifices to establish a rule of law for the settlement of international disputes.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

TUCSON, Dec. 19—Under the remote leadership of Senator Barry Goldwater, the Republicans have elected two of the last three Arizona governors. Howard Pyle, who failed on re-election and broke the continuity, was beaten only by an awkward state police action against a band of squatters up along the Grand Canyon. They were suspected of polygamy. So when Pyle sent cops to roust them along, the publicity was an embarrassing reminder that the Mormons had held with polygamy in their pioneer days. They abhor it now, but Pyle was blamed for stirring up mischief.

The Council of Tucson, the No. 2 city of the state, is now unanimously Republican. It consists of the Mayor and six Councilmen. A Democratic Mayor and three Democratic Councilmen were tossed out lately in favor of Republicans. The three holdover city Councilmen are Republicans. This repudiation so soon after the close election of President Kennedy prompted Senator Goldwater to remark that poor old Bill Mathews, the editor of the Arizona Star, couldn't carry a suburban bond issue any more. Mr. Mathews is a New Deal-Fair Deal Democrat who practices a morning rite of tightening the drawstring of his pajamas and salaaming three times in the direction of The New York Times to which he writes vox pop letters of majestic solemnity. He also runs the Times' blue-plate opinions, but with the difference that he pays them for this whereas they pay him nothing for his lucubrations. Soon after the Republicans swept the city hall Mr. Mathews took off for the South Pole under the auspices of the U. S. Navy. He has been sending back stark, human documents about long-handled underwear and the amenities of penguins in the sweet throes of love.

Goldwater has been scattering himself all over the country and some foreign climes including East Berlin where he was photographed in the uniform of a Brigadier General of the U. S. Air Force. Up to a point, Barry seemed determined to strive for the Republican nomination in '64. But there came a psychological fix in which it seemed that if he didn't shut his bazoo he might be stuck with it and, possibly, elected.

He and Mrs. Goldwater are unusually quiet and reserved. And it seems almost that this proximity to fate frightened them. He has been so demure of late that the cat may have got his tongue.

Meanwhile, the Udall boys, Stewart, the Secretary of the Interior, and Morris, or Moe, who was scantily elected over an unknown Republican to succeed Stewart as Congressman, have been making a good deal of medicine, as the term goes, in an Indian state. They come from a prominent, numerous and politically ambidextrous Mormon family. Stewart went to Japan and, with fanfare and ruffles, climbed a mountain called Fuji. It is 12,000 feet high, but only 3,000 feet higher than the Big Cat of the Tueson Catalinas which has snow down over its shoulders as I peer at it through the fourth day of an unusual term of morose weather for here. Some Japs belittled Stewart's feat with the observation that when school lets out Fuji will be positively crawling with kindergarten moppets who clammer up and come down on the seat of their panties, squealing in Japanese.

Both Udalls have been baby-kissing the Indians of the Western mountains and desert and the Indians are getting pretty damn sick at their stomach. Indians do not even kiss their own babies to excess and when long-faced adult white politicians come along trying to smooch Indians they quietly go indoors and squat on their hunkers or down to the taverns and get blind on bust-head. They have had centuries of baby-kissing by the white man. They are eligible to vote nowadays, but many will not bother to learn the white man's language. That would make it easier for the white man to do it again. Those who do vote have resisted "grouping" because they suspect the motives of Republicans and Democrats equally. They have been right so far.

Another thing about the white man, he is always trying to de-Indianize the Indians. But the challenge to that is "what for?" A genuine white man is bad enough so why should a real Indian try to white-manize himself. Harry L. Stevens, a San Carlos Apache, employed in the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Phoenix (which means that Stewart Udall is his boss), said that when I argued that way I was getting onto controversial ground. He seems more or less de-Indianized himself. From his accent, he might come from Galesburg. He does not grunt or say anything is heap-big.

The Udalls are lawyers and there are Republican Udalls, too. They may stand off Stewart and Moe when Barry Goldwater starts doing whatever he aims to do.

In Oklahoma the type known as the Big Toe Cherokee outnumbers the full-blood about 100 to one. The full-blood is darkish and the adult male wears a flat black hat and braids tied in back. The full-blood women are womanhood in perfection. They do the house work, hoe the strawberry hills and keep their mouths shut. The Big Toe Cherokee has "about as much Indian blood as you could get in your big toe." They hang around in night clubs in New York and drop the remark "I am a Cherokee princess" to hear white folks exclaim, "You are!"

A Big Toe attorney who can get the Court of Claims to award $550 each to an Indian tribe or nation may get a fee of a million. The individual Indian back home may hear at last that the tribal council has voted to keep the money in the kitty. The Udall brothers have years ahead of them. Regardless of election returns, as lawyers they have got it made in problems of public lands, tribal interests, irrigation rights and minerals in a domain of states where the federal land titles cover three-fourths of the whole spread.

So They Say..

So bad is the situation (in Latin America) that it seems as if some evil genie mysteriously was contriving . . . to drag the American republics into such a morass of socialism as in due course would meld us into "one world" communism with the Soviets.

—Spruille Braden, former ambassador to Cuba, Argentina and Colombia.

Iron Horse

CHICAGO (AP)—Old 2903, a giant steam locomotive donated by the Santa Fe Railway to the Museum of Science and Industry here, arrived by way of a bridle path.

The 340-ton railroad engine was inched toward its destination by repeatedly laying fourteen 39-foot track section that were removed after the locomotive passed over them. A tractor-dozer with a winch pulled the huge locomotive and an air compressor mounted on the tender supplied pressure for its braking system.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— The Hollywood studios, turning out television series by the yard, have earned—often with justice — the nickname of sausage factories. During the current season, however, Dick Powell has been giving a weekly demonstration that it is not necessary to sacrifice quality in favor of quantity.

His anthology series on NBC has been consistently good and sometimes superb, with absorbing plots, imaginative production and good acting.

Tuesday night's program, while not the best of the series by a long shot, was a workmanlike mystery about the murder of a faith healer.

It's a substantial series that deserves more attention.

The new year will bring some confusing changes in the network schedules. The biggest shift will involve CBS' dropping of "the Investigators," leaving an hour on Thursday night to be filled. "The Gertrude Berg Show" will be moved into half of the hour and the new "Tell It to Groucho" program will take the other 30 minutes.

Into Wednesday night's lineup moves "The Dick Van Dyke Show," and a night-time version of "Password" will start Jan. 2 on Tuesday nights.

Big impending change at NBC is the dropping, after all these years, of the afternoon serial, "Young Doctor Malone." Viewer complaints are still piling into the network. Replacement is an audience participation show, "Your First Impression," starting Jan. 2. Host on the show will be Monte Hall, who does the same chore on rival CBS' "Video Village."

ABC will replace "The Roaring 20s" on Dec. 27 with "Calvin and the Colonel," a cartoon series, and a new situation comedy, "Room for One More." Repeats of the Winston Churchill series probably will take up half the time left when Steve Allen's show departs after next week, but no show has been found yet for the first half hour.

Recommended tonight: "Wagon Train," NBC, 7:30-8:30 (EST)—Bette Davis is the guest star; "The Coming of Christ," NBC, 8:30-9—repeat of a moving project 20 treatment of the Christmas story; Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10—annual Christmas show.

Slash the fat around the edge of a slice of ham so that the meat will lie flat when it is fried, baked or broiled.

Maple Drink

Any maple syrup in the house? You can whip up a nutritious drink teen-agers will love! For each cup of chilled milk add three tablespoons of maple syrup; mix well and top with a big scoop (one-quarter pint) vanilla ice cream. That will hold them!

Reservoir Charge Sets Schedule at Christmas Time

The Christmas Eve candlelight service for all people in the reservoir area will be held Sunday, 7 p. m., with the Ashokan church taking its turn as host. The story of the Nativity by Matthew and Luke will be echoed by carols, while art of the Nativity will be shown during the prelude.

The Sunday services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Ashokan; 11 a. m., West Hurley; and 12:30 p. m., Glenford, with the sermon, God's Good News! Sunday schools are at 9:30 a. m., West Hurley; 10:45 a. m., Ashokan; 11:30 a. m., Glenford.

A Birthday Party for Jesus will be held Thursday to close the weekday church school for the 1961 school year. The Rev. William Hunter's grade 5 class will assist the staff in the program. Other teachers are Mrs. Walter Behringer and Mrs. Herbert Burns, Grade 2; Mrs. Robert Finke, Grade 3; Mrs. Charles Williams, Grade 4. The school's enrollment is 51.

Choir rehearsals will be held Thursday, West Hurley junior choir, 7 p. m.; senior choir, 8 p. m.; Glenford choir, 9 p. m.

In conservative families of Korea, a woman rarely has a name. Men refer to her merely as the wife, daughter or mother of some other male and she eats after the men and in a different place.

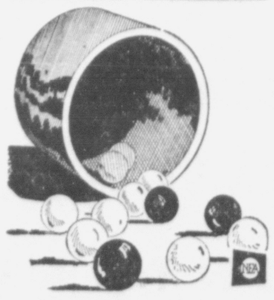
matter of Fact



How did such an expression as "blackballed" originate? It comes from the time when black and white balls were actually used as tokens for voting. When someone was up for membership in a club, white and black balls were used to represent votes for or against. Enough black balls and the individual was not admitted.

White Paper Is Issued on 'Why Me?'

Guardsmen, Reservists Get Army Views on Active Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is distributing to all National Guardsmen and Reservists who have been called up a pamphlet entitled "Why Me?"

Amounting to a "white paper" to meet criticism and complaints about the service summons when no hot war exists, the 11-page pamphlet sums up the reasons and policies.

Quotes JFK, Stahr

It quotes from speeches and statements by President Kennedy and Secretary of the Army Elvis J Stahr Jr., and discusses the questions it says are most frequently asked by men called to active service last October.

As a preamble, the "Why Me?" pamphlet outlines the doctrine behind the decision.

"Increasingly hostile behavior by the Sino-Soviet bloc made it necessary to build up U.S. military strength immediately to demonstrate determination to resist aggression; Soviet threats to liquidate Allied rights in Berlin called for urgent development of combat-ready forces for dispatch to Europe, if required; increasing tension elsewhere required development of strategic Reserve forces to meet possible trouble at widely separated points."

Questions, Answers

Then the pamphlet gets down to questions and answers.

Here are some:

Has the Army been expanded just to meet the Berlin crisis?

"No. Although world attention has been centered on Berlin for months, there are other major trouble spots—and many more potential trouble spots."

What has the call-up accomplished?

"It has stimulated action by many of our allies to strengthen their military forces; it has demonstrated to Communist leaders the determination to fight, if necessary; it has helped Berlin to stand intact; it has "increased markedly the ability of the United States to deter the Sino-Soviet bloc from using force to expand its territory and influence."

Instead of calling up Army National Guardsmen and Reserves, why not expand the active Army by bigger draft calls?

Training Takes Time

The Army is being expanded by larger draft calls but draftees are untrained men and it will be months before they are trained, and once they are trained as individuals still more time will be needed to weld them into fighting units. "Raw recruits are no answer to Communist aggression today. Trained reservists and National Guardsmen are."

Why were men called who were not assigned to units?

Very few Guard and Reserve units were at ful' strength. When these units were called to duty, they had to be filled out with trained individuals as soon as possible. "The only immediately available source of trained personnel was the Ready Reserve reinforcement pool."

Fair Play Governs All

Why were men called as fillers who had enlisted for only six months active duty under the Reserve Forces Act?

"Fair play. After serving six months these men are obligated for an additional period of from 3 to 5½ years in the Ready Reserve." Highest priority was given to Reservists with the least previous active duty so long as they met requirements for specific skills and grades.

Why were men called as fillers who had two or more years previous active duty?

The six-months Reserve Forces Act men were not qualified to fill many of the positions in active units. Therefore, men with two or more years previous duty had to be called.

Some men in paid drill status who had only six months active duty have not been called—why?

They are members of Reserve component units; the current law prohibits the ordering to active duty as individuals those persons who are members of Reserve component units.

Questions Foreign Duty

If the Reserve units were needed, why were they not sent overseas?

About 40 per cent of the Army already is overseas. Many of the recalled units have replaced regular Army units sent to Europe to reinforce the 7th Army. "The critical need was to establish a powerful strategic reserve in the United States, capable of immediate deployment overseas when and as needed."

What is the basis for exemption?

Guardsmen or Reservists pursuing graduate studies on a full-time basis "in a field of primary interest to the Army" may be deferred; a member whose active duty would result in "extreme personal or community hardship" also may be deferred.

"No individual can qualify for deferment on a personal or community hardship basis unless he can establish that his call to active duty will create problems very much more severe than those which will be created by the call to active duty of any other National Guardsmen or Reservists."

Why have recent draft calls been smaller than at the outset of the buildup?

The first quotas were large in order to bring the regular Army to its higher authorized strength rapidly. "The requirements of this expansion are approaching fulfillment" and enlistment and re-enlistment rates have increased.

The Light Touch

If you are making-up for daytime apply cosmetics near a window where the light is abundant enough to guide you. Otherwise, use bright daylight bulbs and check the results in front of a window before going out.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is joy on the movie screens this Christmas season, proving that film makers have not lost their touch in making entertainment.

Sometimes you wonder. Producers have been so enamored with the downbeat and the depraved this year that you fear they have forgotten their ability to entertain.

Five Rate Plaudits

But at the close of the year, the film companies managed to bring out some films that prove happiness hasn't gone out of style. Five of the new offerings—two musicals, two comedies and an adventure drama—seem to have those showmanly qualities to make the box office cash registers play "Jingle Bells."

1. "El Cid" is much better than a reviewer has a right to expect. It is a romantic adventure in the best sense of the term. The characters, especially Charlton Heston's Cid, are truly heroic, and that's not easy to pull off nowadays.

"El Cid" is the most beautifully photographed movie in years—perhaps of all time. Almost every scene is stunning.

2. "A Majority of One" is a modern fable about the romance of a Jewish widow and a Japanese tycoon. It never quite rises above the level of a fable, but it is played with such warm-heartedness that you want to believe it.

Roz Does Fine

The casting of Rosalind Russell in the role originated by Gertrude Berg was roundly criticized, but by gum, if she doesn't pull it off! Alec Guinness is effective though not as convincing in his impersonation.

The nice thing about "A Majority of One" is the pleasant glow it leaves you with afterward. That feeling is hard to find in films nowadays.

3. "Babes in Toyland" is something for the kiddies. Old master Walt Disney has a sure touch for entertaining the small fry while not antagonizing the parents.

Scenically, the film is rich in imagination. A grown-up might might wish that the comedy would be on less primary level and music less dated. Best of the performers is Ray Bolger as a sneaky, sniveling, deep-dyed villain.

Happy Musical

4. "Flower Drum Song" is a gay, glib, garish musical about life in San Francisco's Chinatown. It is a happy musical, not to be taken seriously, just enjoyed. The music is not first-rate Rodgers and Hammerstein, but even a secondary R&H score is better than most. The players are a pleasure to watch, especially the well-formed Nancy Kwan.

5. "Lover Come Back" reunites two of the most attractive people in the world, Doris Day and Rock Hudson. As in "Pillow Talk," the comedy revolves around sex, and it (the comedy) is greatly aided by the presence of Tony Randall.

The Elder Canal — opened through the Danish-ruled duchies of Schleswig and Holstein in 1784—was the first of the world's great canals.

Retired Police Chief Phinney to Be 80 Thursday

Former Police Chief Charles Phinney, of 49 Shufeldt Street, observes his 80th birthday Thursday.

Retired since May 1, 1946, he had served the local police department for 38 years and four months.

Appointed first as a special officer on Jan. 2, 1908, he was named in May of that year to serve as an ordinance officer in the city. He became a patrolman on Dec. 7, 1909, and was promoted to sergeant Feb. 6, 1917.

For several years he and the late James V. Simpson were the department's only two sergeants and the only two men with rank above that of patrolmen, excepting the chief.

After being named a lieutenant on Sept. 1, 1937, he became acting chief on April 1, 1940, from which post he retired slightly more than six years later.

In observance of his 64th birthday in 1945, during the administration of former Mayor William F. Edelmuth, he was given a birthday party by fellow city employes and friends.

Watch Those Hands

A graceful, relaxed attitude is important to beauty. Don't twist or fuss with your jewelry or your hair. Keep your hands as still and relaxed as possible, for what you do with them in public can add to or detract from the impression you create.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The famous Kingston and Rondout directory of 1858 was compiled by William H. Boyd, directory publisher, Appletons' Building, 346 Broadway. Then it also gives credit to Francis S. Wynkoop and John Chipp Jr. of Kingston and Ann Winter of Rondout. This book was loaned to me by O. A. Goodsell.

It is interesting to read in this 1858 Kingston-Rondout Directory that there was a Kingston Library Association and also the Rondout Circulating Library Association. Each one had been organized in 1854. The one uptown was at 5 Wall Street and open from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. every day, Sundays excepted.

W. B. Finch was the librarian. W. B. Wright was president; George Waters, George H. Sharp were vice presidents; J. Bruyn was corresponding secretary; J. B. Hardenbergh was the recording secretary; F. S. Wynkoop, was treasurer; H. H. Reynolds, E. W. Budington, A. Schoonmaker, S. S. Hommel and W. B. Finch were the trustees.

The Rondout Circulating Library Association contained 600 volumes and was open at all times. Thomas Cornell was president; Walter B. Crane, vice president; Cornelius Keuren, secretary; Thomas Cornell, Walter B. Crane, James G. Lindsley, John R. Stebbins, William C. More, George C. Woolsey, R. H. Atwater, John P. Hageman and Cornelius Van Keuren, trustees; T. F. Hibbard, librarian. You may notice that the most prominent men of the two communities conducted these two library associations. I wonder where the downtown library was at the time. The address is not given here.

They had a listing of wharves for boat landing. There was the famous Delaware and Hudson Canal Company's wharf which extended from Canal Street to the bounds of the village (except 240 feet belonging to G. F. Von Beck and Adam Breitenbacher, situated about in the center of the wharf.) Then there was the Thomas Cornell's wharf adjoining from canal northeasterly. John O'Reilly's wharf adjoined from Cornell's wharf. Joseph F. Davis' wharf came next from C. O'Reilly's dock. Romer and and Tremper's wharf, adjoined O'Reilly's wharf and extended to the Sleightsburg Ferry. Thomas Cornell's wharf extended from the Ferry to Dillon's wharf. Dillon's dock extended to George North's wharf. George North's wharf extended to the bounds of the village. No doubt readers having any part of this property now may find the above names on their old deeds.

You will notice that George F. Van Beck was a very prominent person in Kingston and especially in Rondout, and owned much of Connelly. He also built the Mansion House and the Masonic Temple in Rondout, two handsome structures now over a hundred years old. George F. Von Beck also owned the ferry which went to South Rondout, from above the end of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company's wharf. The ferry which went to Sleightsburg from Rondout, is not listed here by any name. It was owned by I. and A. D. Sleight, and went from the foot of Hasbrouck avenue.

The stages were very important in the life of Kingstonians in 1858. There was the Rondout and Delhi, a stage that left the Mansion House in Rondout every day, except Sunday, for Delhi at 6 a. m. and Delhi at 3 a. m. Fare each way was $2.75. This was also owned by George F. Von Beck.

New Flare-Up on Front

Tshombe Ready For Cease-Fire

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe and Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula opened their long-awaited negotiations to end the secession of Katanga today after warming the icy political atmosphere with friendly embraces and reminiscing.

Hope to Resolve Issues

The two political enemies got down to business in a conference room of the hospital of the U.N.'s Kitona military base, near the mouth of the Congo River. In secret, conversations they hoped to resolve the explosive issues separating Tshombe's wealthy province from the impoverished rest of the Congo.

Adoula and Tshombe met Tuesday to make preliminary arrangements. It was their first meeting in months. They astonished U.N. and American diplomats as they sat together on a couch for 20 minutes, laughing, swapping stories and slapping each other on the leg.

Diplomats in close touch with events at Kitona were unwilling to predict what the talks will produce.

Adoula Differs

Tshombe confided to associates that what he is most eager for is a cease-fire between his battered forces and the United Nations.

But Adoula has insisted that there be no halt in the military initiative until a political solution for ending the Katanga secession is assured.

In Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, there was a new flareup of fighting Tuesday. The United Nations said sniping by civilians and mercenaries had forced its troops to occupy several installations of the big Belgian mining company, the Union Miniere de Haut Katanga. Three U.N. Ethiopian soldiers were reported wounded.

With U.N. forces in nominal control of Elisabethville after two weeks of battling Tshombe's white-led Katangan troops, Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant had ordered his soldiers to hold their fire for the duration of the talks between Tshombe and Adoula. He said they would shoot back if fired on.

Tshombe and Adoula arrived separately Tuesday at the U.N. base.

Adoua said he hoped the talks would end by tonight, but this seemed likely only if they broke down.

Troops Guard Base

When last quoted, Adoula was adamant that Tshombe must end his secession and submit to the central government's authority. The Katanga president was equally insistent that his province, by far the Congo's wealthiest because of rich mineral deposits, must get a large degree of autonomy.

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, on hand to help with the talks if asked, threw a cordon of U.N. Nigerian troops around the base and barred newsmen so the Congoese politicians would not be able to sound off to the world.

This duplicated the U.N. tactic last summer when it arranged for the Congoese Parliament to meet in complete isolation at Lovanium University outside Leopodville. After 10 days of seclusion the legislators agreed on a central government headed by Adoula.

A grant of $181,290 was given Owego towards a $690,200 treatment plant and sewers.

Mangan Barred As N.Y. Lawyer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A court has barred Joseph P. Mangan, former Republican majority leader of the Binghamton City Council from practicing law.

The Appellate Division of State Supreme Court, third department, unanimously ordered Mangan's name stricken from the rolls of practicing New York State attorneys. The action Tuesday was taken under a state law that provides that an attorney convicted of a felony be disbarred.

President's Dad

Edward, in his hospital room this morning, and also his young niece, Ann Gargan. Both had spent the night at St. Mary's Hospital where Kennedy was rushed by ambulance Tuesday afternoon after he was stricken while playing golf.

Salinger, talking to reporters at 9 a.m., said only that "the ambassador spent a good night. He is somewhat improved."

Doctors said Tuesday night that it would be 24 to 48 hours before they know more about the elder Kennedy's chances.

Specialist Arrives

Dr. William T. Foley, a New York specialist on blood vessel obstruction, arrived at the hospital shortly before 9 a.m. to examine Kennedy a second time. He had examined him the first time shortly after flying from New York Tuesday night.

Members of the family, including the President and his wife, gathered at the hospital. They prayed in its small white chapel.

Four doctors were attending the elder Kennedy.

The doctors earlier had decided that Kennedy's condition was not one which could be relieved by an operation. The location of the blood clot—inside the cranial area—was such that it could not be relieved by surgery, they said.

Unable to Speak

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Joseph Kennedy had recognized the President, Jacqueline Kennedy, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy when he regained consciousness but that he was unable to speak to them.

President Kennedy, who had made an emergency jet plane dash to Palm Beach to his father's bedside, left the hospital wearily with his wife just before midnight. They went to the oceanfront home of Col. and Mrs. Capton Paul, which was loaned to them for the Christmas holidays.

The President's younger brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, who flew in with Foley, took up an overnight vigil at the hospital with his young cousin, Ann Gargan of Boston. She had been golfing with her uncle when he was stricken.

Had Gone to Airport

The former ambassador had gone to the West Palm Beach Airport early Tuesday morning to see his president-son off to Washington. The President had made a one-day stopover in Palm Beach ill himself with a cold and earache which developed on his rugged weekend Latin American trip.

In sports attire — navy blue shorts and a beige sweater—the father watched his son depart and then went to the golf course.

A few hours after Kennedy got back to work at the White House he was notified his father had been taken to the hospital.

Admitted at 2 p.m. to the 250-bed Catholic hospital he had supported financially and served as a former trustee, the elder Kennedy was considered in critical condition.

Last Rites Given

As is customary in such cases, he was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church by Father Eugene Seraphin, hospital chaplain.

His wife, Rose Kennedy, had followed his ambulance in a private car. Jacqueline Kennedy, close friends and the Kennedy pastor gathered at the hospital.

The President hastily summoned the National Security Council—his major appointment of the day—and met with them while his plane stood by. He called off a news conference scheduled for today, but continued to plan for his trip to Bermuda later this week for talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

During his flight from Washington he conferred on those talks with Theodore K. Sorensen, his special counsel, and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant for national security affairs.

Operation Called Off

While the President was in flight, word was sent to him that an immediate operation was planned for his father, but it later was called off.

The President, with his brother Robert, and sister, Jean Kennedy Smith, arrived at 8:05 p.m. But by then their father was asleep and doctors did not wake him.

The President stayed about 45 minutes, then went with his wife to the chapel before departing. He was back again at 10:42 p.m. when the hospital notified him that his father was conscious.

Singer Fire Caused By Short Circuit

A short circuit in an underground electric service line at the home of Bernie Singer, 425 Pearl Street, damaged a meter box and areas near it early Tuesday night.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks and Excelsior companies and the Wiltwyck volunteers answered a call at 5:42 p. m. Current was cut off by firemen in checking the blaze. A pressure line was used.

$250,000 Trial Starts Today in Lake vs. Police

A city court jury was drawn today for the trial of Howard Lake, 39, of Sawkill Trailer Park, who was charged with assaulting two local detectives on July 22, 1960 at the Dietz Stadium parking lot.

Lake, earlier this year, filed a claim of $250,000 against the city and the detectives, Leonard Ellsworth and William Slover, holding that the officers "without a warrant of arrest and without lawful authority" falsely arrested and imprisoned him. Attorney Michael Nardone appears for him and Francis J. Vogt for the district attorney's office.

A report on the arrest last July said Lake had been sleeping on the front seat of a car with a door open, his feet hanging out and the motor running. It was charged that Lake had hit Ellsworth in the mouth and inflicted an eye injury on Slover.

The jury was picked at the morning session and the trial continued this afternoon after a recess.

Local Death Record

Infant Proper

Funeral services for the infant son of Wesley and Kathleen Deyo Proper of 6 Country Club Circle, Mt. Marion Park, were held Tuesday 11:30 a. m. at the graveside in Wiltwyck Cemetery. The Rev. Woman Awarded $13,750

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Three years ago, Mrs. Carmel Milanese of Watervliet entered a store to buy a pair of plastic boots.

Macmillan in Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) —Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain arrived today to meet with President Kennedy if the illness of the President's father does not change their plans.

JFK, Macmillan

ably including Secretary of State Dean Rusk and East-West affairs adviser Charles E. Bohlen, were expected to fly from Washington to Palm Beach during the day to brief the President in advance of the meeting regardless of where it takes place. Another foreign affairs adviser, McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President, accompanied Kennedy to Florida.

To Be Fourth Meeting

The original schedule called for a Kennedy stay in Bermuda of 30 hours.

This will be the fourth Kennedy-Macmillan meeting since Kennedy entered the White House.

Aides say whatever discussion agenda might be prepared for Kennedy and Macmillan, they doubtless will range freely over what is on their minds.

While U.S. authorities kept a secrecy blanket on what specific issues are likely to come up, it was apparent the Berlin crisis and dealings with the Soviets generally would be prime topics.

Designs Churches

VANCOUVER (AP)—Churches, like homes, should be designed for those who live in them, says architect William Wilding. Color, light, fabric and the use of appropriate wood can induce a worshipful response on the part of the church-goer, just as a well-planned home gives a sense of warmth and security to a family, he says. Wilding says the order of service of the church should have an effect on the design of the building: "Some denominations require a church that could almost be classed as an auditorium, others with a strong emphasis on liturgy require focusing of the main attention on the chancel and the minister."

Playwright Dies

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —Playwright Moss Hart died early today at his winter home here. He was 57.

The famed theatrical writer and his wife have had a home in this desert resort area for some time.

Hart had suffered a heart attack last year while directing the break-in of "Camelot" in Toronto.

Substitute Carrier

DETROIT (AP) — The 40 postage stamps Joseph Bochenek bought in a drug store Tuesday failed to serve their immediate purpose. From Bochenek's parked car a thief stole a paper bag containing 40 addressed Christmas cards he had intended to mail.

Cover Container

Always cover the container in which you are "steaming" food. Place the food on a rack-type arrangement over a small amount of boiling water so that it will cook by contact with steam, not in the water.

$3.5 Million Lab Dedicated by GE

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—The General Electric Co. dedicated today a $3.5-million laboratory that grew from a research department set up 67 years ago in an old water tower.

At the outset, the lab employed three engineers. Now it has more than 200 scientists, engineers and technicians working on materials and processes.

Laboratory Manager Edward J. Flynn said the new, two-story building, which has 110,000 square feet of floor space, should be adequate for at least 10 years.

"After that, expansion might be necessary," he said.

Would Enlarge Area

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. today asked the Public Service Commission for permission to enlarge the toll-free calling area in most of the Niagara Frontier, effective next April.

Under the company's proposal, Niagara Falls, Lockport, Lewiston and nine smaller communities would be added to the toll-free area.

A $1 monthly rate increase per line for business users and a 50-cent boost for certain other users also was included in the company proposal.

Paddles More Popular

Fallout Shelter Resolution Rejected by Onteora Board

A resolution which would have put the Onteora Board of Education on record as deploring recent action of the New York state legislature with respect to school fallout shelters failed to muster the required five votes Monday night.

The resolution, offered by the Rev. Chase Page, a member of the board, said in part:

". . . . the Onteora Central District Board of Education go on record as deploring the recent action of the New York State legislature which places the responsibility for the decision concerning construction of fallout shelters with local boards of education."

"The board feels," the resolution continued, "that this is a state responsibility and does not fall within the province of local boards whose primary concern is the education of the children."

Trustee Janet Greene of Woodstock seconded the resolution and on the vote, Trustee Ann Larys joined with the movers of the resolution, Trustees Harry Allen, Raymond C. Cruthers, Marie Kleine and Philip Gordon, board president, voted against it.

Although the motion was technically defeated by the 4-3 vote, it would have taken five votes to sustain it, under the OCS board's rules of procedure. Trustees Arthur P. Knight and Edward Unser were absent.

Had the resolution been sustained by the required five votes, the Onteora board would have been placed on record as the first board in New York state to officially protest the procedure of Gov. Rockefeller's fallout shelter program for schools.

During the recent special session of the legislature, Gov. Rockefeller's $100,000,000 school shelter program was approved. The shelter statute puts the responsibility for making the decision on fallout shelters on the individual boards of education around the state. Boards must vote on whether or not to accept the state financial assistance in building new fallout shelters on existing school property or having them included in plans for new buildings.

By and large, the boards of education throughout the state have been moving cautiously toward their decision. The Niskayuna district between Schenectady and Albany was the first to react to the legislation, rejecting it on the grounds there was insufficient information at this time.

Boards generally have been taking this position around the state. The mechanics of the program have not been clearly spelled out at this point and a better understanding is expected after the upcoming session of the legislature.

Onteora board members were split sharply on how to handle the fallout shelter program. Some felt that more information is needed. Trustees Page and Greene were firm in their opinion that the entire program was a state responsibility and that, in effect, the state legislators had passed the buck down to the school boards.

After long and enthusiastic discussion, the Onteora Board voted unanimously to have the item placed on the agenda of the next meeting of the Ulster County Schools Boards for purposes of discussion.

Insurance Setup Again Divides School Board

Possible changes in the Onteora Central District's policy of handling its insurance program and broker participation setup were discussed at the Board of Education meeting Monday night.

The lively discussion, which split members of the Board, was touched off by a report and three recommendations made by the Board's insurance advisory committee of Carroll F. Simpon and Stanley G. Haug.

Board members had raised the issue at the November meeting when a list of insurance brokers was submitted by the committee for Board approval. Under the present system, Haug and Simpson divide commissions amounting to more than $1,000 annually among several brokers in the district.

Some board members insist that since the brokers do nothing to earn these commissions they are not entitled to receive them. It is further pointed out that Simpson and Haug are not required to share the commissions with the brokers but have done so for many years as a matter of policy. Some board members charge this is an unearned bonus payment to eliminate competition.

In their lengthy memorandum, Simpson and Haug pointed out that prior and subsequent to district centralization, indurance policies had been placed with individual brokers and agents resulting in innumerable policies. Some were with duplicated and varied limits and coverages placed in different insurance companies with no coordinated committee of the district to review, check, investigate and schedule all insurance policies and prepare annual budget insurance requirements.

Three Proposals

After detailing the background of the present policy, Haug and Simpson recommended three proposals to "further update the procedural operation of the Insurance Plan."

1 Newspaper publication should be two weeks in September of each year, for the license year ended the succeeding Oct. 31, in official school newspapers for notification to previously unregistered brokers with presentation by mail to the Business Manager of each brokers' license number, name and address for checking by the Insurance Advisory Committee.

2. The IAC will prepare and approve the Brokers list and present the same to the District Principal and/or business manager for review together with a subsequent statement of distributions of Brokerage Commissions.

3. Brokers participation should be limited to: (a) residents of the Onteora central district and (b) active engagement as brokers in the insurance business in the Onteora district.

After lengthy discussions in which several shades of opinion were expressed, the Board rejected the first and third proposals and accepted the second with revisions. On motion of Trustee Chase Page, the Board designated District Principal George R. Sullivan and Business Manager George Finigan as a committee to review the brokers list with no commitment on the part of the Board of Education for future action.

Trustee R. C. Cruthers, who has been the most outspoken critic of the present policy, voted against accepting the No. 2 proposal, with Trustee Janet Greene abstaining. Voting for the resolution were Trustees Philip Gordon, Board president; and Trustees Page, Marie Kleine, Harry Allen and Ann Larys.

Trustee Cruthers said he was unalterably opposed to paying bonuses to workers who do nothing to earn them. He suggested again that the entire insurance program at Onteora be let for bids. Trustee Marie Klaine said she felt that how Haug and Simpson distribute the commissions was their business.

Trustee Harry Allen said that while he voted for the measure, he didn't condone the principle of paying bonuses to people who don't work for it.

Some board members cautioned that the policy be not revised drastically without careful study of all factors involved. There was a division of opinion on the effectiveness of open bidding; others felt that the entire insurance needs of the district would be handled by one large company, without impairing services to the company.

Trustee Page said he felt the present Board was committed to paying those commissions as a matter of existing policy, but he favored a critical review of the program.

At the conclusion of the discussion, President Gordon named the following committee to study the insurancesetupand and make specific recommendations to the board: Rev. Chase Page, chairman; Trustees Janet Greene and R. C. Cruthers, the board president placed a three-months limit on the study period.

OCS Makes Final Payment on the Bennett School

Payment of $16,141 to contractor Eugene Ossie for work on the Reginald Bennett elementary school was authorized by a 5-1 vote of the Onteora Board of Education Monday.

The payment was authorized after Trustees R. C. Cruthers, chairman of the board's construction committee, reported that all work required of the contractor had been completed satisfactorily. One charge was for $15,827 for work previously authorized, with another item of $314.00 as the result of a change order. This marked the final payment to Ossie.

An additional item of $2271.43 for extra work was tabled, pending a check with the school architects, Raisner and Diamond of New York.

Contractor Al Davis was present to claim a $1500 payment for site work at the Bennett school, but was informed that the Raisner and Diamond firm had not filed payment authorization with the board.

On recommendation of Business Manager George Finigan, the board voted to invest $400,000 from the general fund with the Kingston Trust Company for short-term earnings.

The board acknowledged receipt of a resolution from the West Hurley P-TA urging the board to take prompt action to alleviate the present overcrowded conditions in the district. The resolution, signed by Mrs. Clarence Anderson, vice president of the West Hurley P-TA, was similar in wording to a recent resolution filed by the Woodstock P-TA.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Janet Franz, effective Nov. 17, 1961, and Mrs. Anne Washburn, Dec. 1.

Tenure was granted Mrs. Helen Turck, elementary teacher upon the recommendation of the district superintendent, district principal and director of elementary education.

The board granted permission to bid a special feeder route to provide for the transportation of Webb Dordick, son of Mrs. Sylvia Kondolf, Woodstock. His home is on Meade Mountain Road and the youngster, who is physically handicapped, needs transportation from there to the intersection of Meade Mt. Road and Glasco Turnpike, a distance of approximately 1.3 miles.

Mrs. Alison Hansen of Woodstock was given permanent faculty appointment in the elementary division at a salary of $5,850, effective Dec. 27, 1961. Mrs. Florence Pope, elementary teacher, resigned effective Dec. 31. She told the board she is considering a position in hotel management.

The board voted to accept a bid of the Albany Avenue Garage for a new bus, at a cost of $9,321.00, without trade-in.

Mrs. Chase Objects To Fallout Shelters

The Onteora Board of Education, which sooner or later has to make a decision on fallout shelters, knows now how one of the district feels about this controversial dilemma.

Following is the terse communique, dated 22 Nov., 1961, and sent to the board by Mabel T. Chase of Woodstck:

Our Christmas Wish Is...

something special and Enduring!

Christmas isn't just today. Christmas is tomorrow, the day after tomorrow and all the days after that you can count—if you make it that way.

For every day there are scores and hundreds and thousands of people who need the special something that makes Christmas what it is.

You may never get to know these people. Or you may meet them turning a corner. Or you may discover they work right in your office or even live with you in your home.

Everyone wants a little something of Christmas every day.

Not a present. Not a carton of cigarettes or a bottle of perfume Not a doll or a mechanical toy.

They want and need something that each of us individually can give—and feel the better for giving.

Something of ourselves. Kindness. Understanding. Patience. Tolerance. Faith. Goodwill.

You could probably coin a thousand names for it—including love—and never really name it.

You know, though, when you've given it. For you feel better inside—knowing you've made someone else feel better inside. It's a warm feeling. It's a wonderful feeling of . . . Christmas.

Yes, Christmas is a good name for it. And every day in the year we will try to feel it—by making someone else feel it.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's statesmen, by Ralph Waldo Emerson's reasoning, all have large minds. He said consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds, adored by statesmen among others.

Under this definition, as their United Nations' record shows, there is nothing little about present-day statesmen. For some their only consistency is their inconsistency. A few examples prove it for them.

Reds Got Signals Mixed

When the North Korean Communists invaded South Korea in 1950 the United States, Britain, France and practically everyone else, including India, voted for action against the invaders.

Russia, which got its signals mixed, was absent at the time but came back strong by announcing it would not try to get North Korea to call off the invasion because the Soviets were against butting into others' affairs.

But, when the United States blockaded North Korea, Russia called this aggression, even though the United Nations had voted for action. And Egypt voted against helping South Korea. It said this was all just a West-East rumpus.

India, which went along on condemning North Korea, which is far away from the land of Prime Minister Nehru, voted against condemning Red China, which is a next-door neighbor, when it attacked the U.N. forces.

Things got a little mixed up a few years later.

Egypt Invasion Another

In 1956—when British-French-Israeli forces decided to invade Egypt—the land of the pharaohs, which wouldn't condemn the Red invasion of North Korea, went running to the United Nations for help against her own invaders.

In this case, for a change, the United States and Russia joined up against Britian and France. But in the Security Council Britain and France, which had condemned North Korea for invading South Korea, now vetoed a resolution against themselves for doing the same thing to Egypt.

India also had something to say in the General Assembly. Although refusing to be unpleasant to Red China for going into Korea, India joined the United States and Russia in calling on France and Britain to quit Egypt.

On this one the United States had a little trouble deciding what it ought to do. At first it considered not voting at all.

Soviet Gets Into Act

But, while all this was going on in 1956, and at the very same time, Russia, outraged at Britain and France for attacking Egypt, invaded Hungary and crushed the Hungarian revolt against the Communist bosses.

The Security Council—which included the United States, Britain and France, besides Russia—was for condemning the Russian attack on Hungary. But the Russians vetoed that.

It was different in the General Assembly.

There the United States and a host of other countries—along with Britain and France, then under fire for what they had done to Egypt—teamed up overwhelmingly to condemn Russia on Hungary.

All Russia could do in this case, since there is no veto in the assembly, was vote no. But Egypt, which wanted U.N. action against Britain and France, wouldn't vote yes or no on Russia. It just abstained. So did Nehru's India.

Nehru Critical Then

Then the United States got its neck caught in a door when it backed the rebel invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba. Russia demanded this country be condemned. The United Nations wouldn't go for that but Nehru criticized the United States by calling its action intervention.

Next in the history of inconsistency came Nehru himself when India this week attacked and overran Portuguese Goa.

Once more Britain and France teamed up in the Security Council to pass a resolution calling on India to get out of Goa. But Russia vetoed that.

And Egypt, which had hollered bloody murder when it was attacked, not only joined Russia in voting against a rebuke to India but demanded that Portugal give up Goa.

If all this makes you dizzy, just think how the statesmen must feel.

Hurley Man Hurt In Collision, 2 Others Reported

A Hurley man was reported injured in a three-car mishap here Tuesday and police listed two other collisions involving no reported injury.

John J. Hofler, 37, of Hurley, reported chest, back and neck injuries. Police said he drove one of two cars which had stopped for a traffic light at Albany and Manor Avenues. The other stopped car was operated by Laverne F. Brown, of 262 Main Street, Saugerties.

The third car, the report said, was driven by Thomas G. Joyce, of 9 Harwich Street, whose foot slipped from the brake to the gas pedal. The mishap was reported at 6:15 p. m.

A report at 3:57 p. m., said a truck of The Wonderly Co. Inc., 314 Wall Streeet, and a station wagon collided at Wilson and Savoy Street. A report by Officers Edward Edwards said "neither driver could stop because of road conditions."

The truck was driven by David W. Eighmey, 21, of 94 Highland Avenue, and the other vehicle owned by Samuel Weisberg, Inc., 271 Fair Street, was driven by Stephen Kirschner, 18, of 40 Elmendorf Street. A lawn at 24 Savoy Street, was reportedly damaged.

A two-car mishap on Broadway near Staples Street was reported at 3:54 p. m. The one was driven by Alma M. Cogswell, 62, of 97 Gage Street, and the other by Euphema Litts, 43, of Connelly. Officers Gerald Every and Thomas Coffey, who investigated, said the Cogswell car has started to move from where it had been parked when the mishap occurred.

AEC Will Hold Hearing On Edison Plant Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission resumes a hearing today into a request by the Consolidated Edison Co. for a provisional license to operate its Indian Point, N.Y., atomic power plant.

The hearing was recessed Dec. 7 to permit company attorneys to study technical specifications for an atomic reactor and an operating license prepared by commission personnel.

Both the commission's division of licensing and regulation and its advisory committee on reactor safeguards have said the plant near Peekskill can be operated to generate 255,000 kilowatts without undue danger to health and safety.

ommended assembly approval of the bond issue by a vote of 45-11 with 21 abstentions. The Soviet bloc objected that the plan was illegal.

Sees $170 Million Deficit

The proposal initiated by Acting Secretary-General U Thant had strong backing from the United States, which pledged that President Kennedy would ask Congress for authority to buy a substantial share of the bonds.

The United Nations' grave financial situation results largely from the refusal of a number of nations to contribute to the organization's operations in the Congo. Thant estimates the U.N. deficit will be $170 million by next June 30.

queries on the first two counts of the indictment. On counts three through 11 she responded firmly "guilty." Then came an acquittal and three more convictions.

To Appeal Verdict

Weiner showed little reaction until near the end of the polling of the jury. When he left the courtroom, walking behind a wedge of friends and relatives, his head bowed, he appeared deeply upset. His wife fought back tears and dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief.

Weiner denied all the charges. His attorney said he would appeal.

Sentence will be imposed Jan. 11. The maximum on each conviction is 10 years in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market trading continued to drag early this afternoon as prices followed an irregular course.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was down 0.30 at 261.50 with industrials down 0.30, rails down 0.20 and utilities down 0.30.

Some prices started to move higher here and there, giving the list a somewhat firmer tone. Most changes were fractional.

Popular averages are at their lowest level since early November. Business news remains good with November personal income at a new high and new orders and sales rising for durable goods producers, but the market was slow to respond to these normally bullish factors.

News Talk Canceled

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has postponed today's scheduled news conference due to his father's illness.

RECEIVES PROMOTION—Frederick C. Myers, right, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myers of RD 1, Saugerties, was one of four employes of the U. S. Army Engineer Geodesy, Intelligence, and Mapping Research and Development Agency (GIMRADA), Fort Belvoir, Va., honored at a ceremony marking their promotion to a higher civil service grade. Col. W. H. Van Atta, director, presents Myers with a certificate in recognition of his promotion to GS-13 in the graphics division of GIMRADA, which is the principal field agency of the Corps of Engineers for research and development in the fields of geodesy, intelligence, and mapping. Myers has been at Fort Belvoir in a military and civilian capacity since 1951. Myers, a graduate of Saugerties High School in 1946, entered Alfred University where he obtained a BS degree in ceramic engineering in June, 1950. He is presently taking courses at Catholic University, Washington, D. C. He resides with his wife, the former Miss Barbara J. Teetsell of Saugerties, and their son, Grant F. Myers, at 310 Adrienne Drive, Alexandria, Va. Mrs. Myers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Teetsell, reside at RD 1, Saugerties.

To Adopt Budget

Department inquired as to what study the Salary Study Committee had made in regard to the budget. He said it had been stated it had met six weeks ago and inquired as to what had taken place.

Considered Satisfactory

Chairman Phinney replied that the committee had met as often as necessary and had met with the Budget Committee. He said the $120 across the board increase was arrived at as just and was considered satisfactory. No employe came before the Salary Study Committee meeting, he said.

Brann later objected to that statement and placed a statement "on the record." He said on November 11 the employes were "given to understand" that the Salary Study Committee would meet later. That was why no one had appeared, they did not know of a later meeting, he said.

In commenting on the $120 raise in salary, Fisher said that would have been considered good years ago but was insufficient in this age and he asked how the committee arrived at such a figure. Chairman Phinney said it had been reached at committee sessions and that heads of departments had met with the committee and no increase was asked by the employes.

Says Picture Not Complete

Supervisor Peter Williams (R), Saugerties stated that the $120 increase did not show the full picture. There were also annual increments added to some salaries and there was a 5 per cent across the board increase in retirement benefits.

Supervisor James T. McCardle (D), Ninth Ward, asked about an item of $10,382.16 for "judgments and claims." Budget Director Robert A. Snyder said this was an item directed by the Supreme Court to be paid as the county's share of overpayment by the City of New York in taxes on city property. The town and county share the refund.

Up to Building Committee

Supervisor Francis Vertitis (D) Third Ward, asked if an appropriation was in the budget for additional space in the county jail. He said Sheriff Bell had requested additional cell space. Budget Director Snyder said no request for such moneys had been made and none was in the budget. It would come under the Building Committee items in any event.

Why the jail personnel service item was up from $59,930 to $72,150 was asked by Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner. Snyder replied it was due to the across the board increases, longevity increase and for hiring extra men for vacation and sick leave. He said the state demanded that a full force be kept on at all times.

Supervisor Richard Hinkley (D) Eighth Ward asked if some employes did not get as much as $360 increase in salary. Snyder said this was true, some get the $120 general increase plus an additional increment which is due under the salary schedule.

$42,000 for Burials

An item of $42,000 for burials was also the subject of discussion. County Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons said there were approximately 100 persons in welfare each year who died and he pointed out that this sum was reimbursable from state moneys.

The Rev. David C. Gaise, chairman of the Mental Health Board, inquired of a $7,000 decrease in the salary item and referred to two of the personnel who had "carried the ball" during the time there was no director in the department. He said these two persons should have an increase in salary of at least $250. Not to give it to them was "false economy" and might even cause them to seek employment elsewhere thus breaking up a "fine team," he declared.

A meeting of the Budget Committee at 2 p. m. today was announced at which time the final draft of the budget for adoption tonight will be discussed.

Budget Director Snyder stated that the $120 across the board increase to employes, other than elected officers, was augmented by other benefits. He cited the annual increments which are in the salary schedules and longevity benefits.

The salary schedule calls for annual increments up to five years. The sixth year there is a longevity provision, as well as additional benefits at 10 years, 15 years and 20 years, Snyder pointed out.

Copters to Shoot Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. helicopter crews flying into South Viet Nam's guerrilla-infested battle zones will shoot back if Communists fire on them, say Pentagon sources.

The United States has sent 40 helicopters and 400 men to fly them to South Viet Nam. They will be used, the sources said, to haul supplies and Vietnamese troops into isolated areas where the soldiers can battle Communist Viet Cong rebels.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

ROGER E. SPEAR

Effective Merchandising Consumer Goods Profit

Many of my readers have asked why I often recommend the shares of consumer goods companies but less frequently favor the shares of basic manufacturing firms. This question hits at the heart of my investment philosophy and, in my opinion, is well worth some elaboration.

I feel that many manufacturing industries have expended to a point where their capacity is more than adequate to meet the demand for their products. Markets for such things as appliances, electrical equipment, industrial tools, chemicals and machinery are now pretty well saturated. Competition in these areas is rugged, and rising wages and other costs of production tend to limit earnings progress.

On the other hand, our national income is rising steadily, and the consuming public has record amounts of money at its disposal. Much of this money goes into washers, autos, and the like, but more and more is now being channeled into frozen foods, cosmetics, health aids and other expendable goods which are today the outward sign of a higher standard of living.

What this means to me is that companies supplying the consumer with utilities, financial services, tobaccos, pharmaceuticals, foods, beverages, shopping facilities, leisure-time items, personal-care lines, and certain kinds of clothing have plenty of room in which to grow. New customers are being created every day and old customers keep buying, too, because of the repeat nature of the products involved.

Earnings growth in these lines can be and often is quite impressive. For the shareholder this distinction is important because prices of common stocks normally follow earning trends. A company that has a spotty record will ordinarily have a poor investment image. However, shares of a firm which has grown steadily — and from which future consistent gains may be expected—will usually deserve a high rating and generate considerable investor interest.

What I am constantly searching for is effective merchandising—i. e., the company that in its field can gain better than its share of our growing national income. Over the past two years, such companies have been largely the suppliers of consumer goods.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Rockland Wants More Taxes on State Acreage

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Rockland County community has complained to State Supreme Court that the state placed too low an assessment on taxable state lands within the town's boundaries.

The petition for a review of the appraisal said the reduction would cost the Town of Haverstraw about $12,000 in taxes on 10,316 acres of state land.

In another action, seven towns in Hamilton county have asked jointly for a review of the state's assessments there.

The State Division of Equalization and Assessment, which is involved in the suit, said these actions might be followed by protests from other affected communities.

A spokesman said Tuesday, however, that some communities would gain revenue because the reassessment of taxable state land set the values higher than the previous, pre-war values.

In Haverstraw, the property involved includes Letchworth Village, an institutional for mental defectives, a portion of Palisades Interstate Park and the State Rehabilitation Hospital at West Haverstraw.

The new appraisal for the three properties is $642,954, or a drop of $83,506 in assessed value.

Last year, the state paid a total of $105,400 in taxes to the town, school district and Rockland County.

To help give your brows the loveliest appearance possible, pluck hairs from the underside only and shape from above with an eyebrow pencil, working parallel to the natural brow line.

You'll need about a tablespoon of flour for "coating" an eight- or nine-inch baking pan that has had its bottom greased.

Lions Club Holds Christmas Party With Santa Claus

Santa Claus was given a joyous and heartwarming welcome Tuesday by 158 children from the Kingston area who greeted him as he arrived at the Kingston Lions Club annual Christmas party in the National Guard Armory on Manor Avenue.

The children were served a meal by Lion members, entertained by a clown act, before each of them received a special present from Santa.

Each year the Kingston Lions Club holds the Christmas party and presents gifts to the children as well as distributing gifts to handicapped children in their own homes.

Lion members were kept busy holding back the group of anxious children as Santa had them line up and come forth one at a time to receive their gifts for Christmas.

As in the past, this year's Christmas party was made possible by the success of last year's Industrial Exhibition and Home Show held at the National Guard Armory by the Kingston Lions Club.

Members of the boys and girls committee of the Lions responsible for the success of the annual Christmas party are Jack Reynolds, chairman; Jack Gilligan, John Holochuck, Andy Murphy, Joseph Roberts, John Wrinn, Jack Scheinvold and Morton Cohen.

Hurley Firemen Plan Free Movie Saturday Night

Hurley volunteer firemen have scheduled their third free movie showing for Saturday, Dec. 23 starting with cartoons at 7 p. m. followed by Walt Disney's Treasure Island in color.

The committee announced that the new and much larger screen has been erected with a new sound system. The new screen measures 10 feet by 10 feet and gives a projected image larger than life-size.

The sound system is described as wrap around sound because the sound now will come to the audience from three directions.

The volunteers believe that they now have one of the best non-commercial setups in Ulster County. This work has made possible a larger seating area as the projector will be operated from a booth which has fireproof doors.

The new equipment was installed by Lester Frost, Eugene Hannay, Robert Snyder, Walter Pilz and Charles Goble.

Car Skids, Hits Sign

A skidding accident early today on Route 32, near Route 199 in the Town of Ulster caused only slight property damage to the 1958 sedan and the driver escaped apparent injury. State Trooper Robert Mackey of the Kingston barracks reported that Donald Hobart, 28, of 104 Grand Street, skidded off the highway and struck a Christmas tree sign, damaging his right fender.

Congressman Miller to Decide About Staying GOP Leader Also

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller, who since last June has been both a member of Congress and the Republican national chairman, will decide soon whether to continue his double role.

The Lockport, N.Y., lawyer admits holding two full-time jobs is a rugged assignment. He says he will give the situation some deep thought during a two-week Florida vacation he's planned for this month.

When Miller became GOP chairman June 2, he said he would decide after the first of the year whether to hold both jobs. Now, he indicates he may not make up his mind until the national committee meets in Oklahoma city Jan. 12-13.

Will Ask Opinions

"If I've made no decision by that time, I'll sound out the sentiment of other party leaders at that meeting," he said. "I'll find out what kind of a job they think I'm doing and if they think I should continue in both jobs."

The 47-year-old Miller, a blunt-talking politician who now lives in Olcott, near Lockport, has lost none of his bounce since he took over as national chairman from Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky.

But he points to a 37,000-mile tour he made of 33 states since September to prove that it is not child's play.

Talks With 50 Leaders

During that tour, which included four regional Republican conferences, Miller talked with GOP leaders from all 50 states.

Interviewed in Republican headquarters, two blocks from the White House, Miller said he feels that holding two jobs works itself out so far as his western New York constituents are concerned.

"With this job," he said of the chairmanship, "you can't devote all the time you'd like to your Congressional district, but there are people there who feel the district is honored to have its representative as chairman."

Hopes Celler Right

Democrats have said Miller was a beneficiary of the recent realignment of Congressional districts by the New York Legislature. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said no Democrat could hope to defeat Miller now "even if he were St. Gabriel himself."

"I hope for once in his life that he's right," Miller said.

Miller defended the reapportionment plan, said it represented population shifts from the cities to the suburbs. Republicans expect it to increase their house membership from 21 to 25 and decrease Democratic house membership in New York from 22 to 16. New York loses two seats in the reapportionment as a result of the 1960 census.

"Whether the Democrats or the Republicans did it," Miller said of the redistricting, "it would have been fundamentally the same. The population went to Westchester and Nassau Counties."

As for his own district, Miller said he lost one Democratic section and gained another. The net result, however, was a loss of 8,000 to 9,000 Democratic votes, he added.

Presents for Children

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., had a novel gift for his three children as a result of his recent Russian trip — three xylophones given him by a foreman in a Russian machine tool factory.

Javits had asked the foreman whether he could inspect the factory. The foreman assured him that he could see anything he liked since no secret items were produced there.

After the tour, however, the foreman called Javits aside and said there was one product Javits had not seen. He then produced the xylophones for the senator's children — Joy, Joshue and Carla.

Rotary Club Will Sponsor Community Ambassador Plan

Graduates of Saugerties High School who are currently attending college and who have developed some skill in speaking Spanish are invited by the Rotary Club of Saugerties to make application during the Christmas holidays for the honor of becoming a community ambassador in one of the Latin American countries next summer.

It is the intention of the local Rotary Club to select someone, either a high school junior or senior or a post-graduate of Saugerties High School, to become its ambassador in South America this summer. If a high school junior or senior is chosen, the South American countries to be visited will probably be Mexico or Costa Rica and Guatemala. If a college student is chosen, the country will probably be Chile or Argentina.

In its plans to send a student abroad, the Rotary Club of Saugerties is working through the Experiment in International Living, an organization in Putney, Vt., which is an independent, non-profit, educational exchange organization financed by fees, foundation grants, gifts and government contracts. It was founded in Putney, Vt., by Donald B. Watt in 1932.

The expense of the trip, up to a given amount, will be financed by the Rotary Club of Saugerties. Among the items included are round-trip air or sea passage; transportation, meals and accommodations abroad; health and accident insurance. The fee does not cover expenditures of a purely personal nature.

The experiment program will last about eight weeks and may last as long as 11 weeks, depending on transportation schedules. The ambassador would not have to leave until after regents examinations in June.

During the first four weeks abroad, the ambassador will live the life of the family to which he or she is assigned.

Those who are able to speak Spanish will be given preference in the selection because that is the language spoken chiefly in the countries in question. This is not just a trip abroad; it is an opportunity for making friends across national borders. It is meant for the person who has the following qualifications:

A genuine desire to make a personal contribution to international friendship and understanding, plus a willingness to work hard at it.

A spirit of adventure.

Readiness to live for three or four weeks abroad and to do everything in his power to make the experience as satisfying and successful for his hosts as it is for himself.

Genuine interest in other persons, and the ability to adapt not merely with courtesy, but with enthusiasm, to other people's interests and ways of living.

Ability to adjust quickly and cheerfully to a variety of situations, some of which may be physically and psychologically uncomfortable.

Ability to contribute usefully to the total experience of his group, his homestay family, and of other persons he meets abroad.

Both boys and girls are eligible. He or she will be a member of a group of approximately 10 young people of about his or her age, supervised by a mature individual. An obligation of the experimentor is to report back to his sponsors on his findings abroad through newspaper articles, radio and television appearances, and personal presentations.

Application blanks for juniors and seniors who are candidates for the position of community ambassador are available at the office of the high school principal. College students who are home for the holidays may secure them at the photography shop of Ronald B. Johnstone, Main Street. These should be forwarded by mail to Dr. Grant D. Morse, chairman of the exchange student committee of the local Rotary Club, so that they may be received by him not later than Jan. 5.

In addition to high school and college students eligible, others will be considered if they are Saugerties High School graduates of the past two years, even if they are not now college students.

Debating Team To Compete in Legion Contest

Eight members of the Saugerties High School debating team will vie for the honor of representing the Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion, in the nation-wide oratorical contest when they enter the local division competition at the Saugerties High School Auditorium tonight 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Harold Behr, SHS debate coach, has announced team members who will enter the contest are Rebecca Sacks, Nancy Celli, Kristine Wrolsen, Elizabeth Farquharson, Frank Mauro, Charles Hall, Bonnie Fous and Dorothy Haeussler.

The winner of tonight's contest will enter the Ulster County competition at the Rondout Valley High School in January as a candidate from the local American Legion. The county winner will then compete in the New York State finals at Highland High School in March.

The final oratorical contest of all state winners will be held at a date still to be set, with the national winner receiving a $4,000 scholarship for higher education, provided by the National American Legion organization.

The public may attend tonight's performance. There is no admission charge.

Christmas Pageant Presented at P-TA

Approximately 150 persons attended St. Mary's of the Snow Parent-Teacher Association Christmas program Sunday night when students of the fifth and sixth grades entertained with a presentation Planet Journey to Bethlehem.

Donald Beckert, treasurer of the P-TA, welcomed the assemblage and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Plover opened the program with a prayer.

The theme of the play depicted the various planets being attracted to the earth and the birth of Jesus. Principal parts were portrayed by Janet Thornton as Mary, and William Buser as Joseph.

A student choir furnished background music of Christmas carols in answering questions asked of earth by the other planets. Selections included What Loving Infant Can This Be?; Silent Night, Holy Night; Hark the Herald Angels Sing and O Come All Ye Faithful. Mrs. Mary Bunyar accompanied on the organ.

Refreshments were served by second grade mothers.

Lutheran Church Notes

Sunday the Rev. Walter Cowen of the Atonement Lutheran Church will broadcast on WGHQ at the 8 a. m. Sunday devotions. Instead of the usual sermon he will present a Christmas story written by him. The story, Isn't It the Truth, was written originally by the pastor for a Sunday school Christmas service at Rochester, and was given here at Atonement Church for a similar service two years ago.

Again this year the manger scene with life sized figures will grace the front lawn of Atonement Lutheran Church throughout the Christmas season. Light for Today, daily devotional booklets for January-February-March are available at the church, free of charge, and members may take copies for use in personal and family daily devotions.

The annual congregational meeting will be conducted Sunday, Jan. 14, at 7:30 p. m. in the church basement. It will be preceded by a covered dish supper. The supper will be arranged by a group of Atonement Lutheran Church Women. Reports will be given. Council will be elected for a period of three years, and to fill unexpired terms.

Village Activities

There will be no rehearsals for the Saugerties Drum Corps for the next two weeks. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Jan. 4 at the municipal auditorium at which time the annual reports will be given and election of officers will take place.

Cub Scout Pack 36 of St. Mary's Church will hold its monthly meeting and Christmas party at St. Mary's Hall, Thursday, 6:30 p. m. this week instead of the usual fourth Sunday of the month. All Cubs and their parents may attend.

Lewis Robinson of Elm Street, who has been a member of the Saugerties Methodist Church for 50 years, was presented with a special recognition certificate for his devotion by the pastor, the Rev. Joseph Rainear, at last Sunday's morning worship service.

Monday Club Holds Annual Holiday Fete

Mrs. George Werner presented a Christmas monologue at the meeting of the Monday Club this week at the home of Mrs. Warren Myer, Mt. Marion. The club held its annual Christmas party.

At last week's meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Rainear a review of the week "Dr. Ida" and an account of the many acts of mercy and heroism she performed was given by the hostess.

Mrs. Robert Freligh will be hostess at the next meeting Jan. 8.

Rental of Halls For Bingo Aided Gamblers: Charge

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Former professional gamblers rented halls for the promotion of bingo games "to keep themselves in the picture," the head of a state commission studying bingo says.

Thomas B. Gilchrist said the effect of the rentals was to siphon off funds that otherwise would go to charities.

Gilchrist commented Tuesday at the close of two days of public hearings on bingo. The hearing next moves to Utica.

Gilchrist said he had definite legislative recommendations in mind to strengthen the bingo control laws. He did not say what they were, however.

Fat around beef and ham steaks is usually gashed to prevent curling during cooking.

OLEANDER'S CHRISTMAS EVE — By JAY HEAVILIN

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Among the issues that are likely to stir up a big fuss in the next few weeks and months is a growing split in thinking between labor and management. It's complicated by a decided administration interest in the outcome.

Along Old Lines

You can see the issue building up in such actions as rising orders for steel as a hedge against a strike next summer.

And you can hear the issue in a flow of pronouncements by management spokesmen, labor leaders, administration officials.

But some of the terms they are using are more complex—productivity, automation, hard core of unemployment, inflation and the cost of living, profits and the rate of economic growth, competition with the European Common Market and Japan in world and domestic markets.

That is, some of the battle between labor and management will be along traditional lines: How much pay can we get? How can we hold down costs and maintain or boost profits? How high will prices go?

While deep down, and growing, is a split over more fundamental issues. This is a real difference of opinion as to what is best for the country—or, as Washington would put it, just how much of labor's objectives and management's goals will work to the maximum good of the country.

Will Get Louder

The turmoil is likely to get pretty loud shortly. Let's try to see what some of the high-sounding issues mean, without attempting to decide which side will win, or should win.

The productivity situation is this: A gain in productivity usually means that new machines or methods permit more goods to be produced with the same amount of man hours. The issue: How much of this gain should go into higher wages, how much into profits, how much into holding down or cutting prices.

Automation involves productivity. It also means sometimes that some workers are no longer needed, that some haven't the skills to handle the new machines. The issue: Should this be corrected by shorter work weeks to spread the remaining work, by retraining laid-off workers, by waiting for general prosperity to provide more jobs elsewhere, as it often has in the past?

Split on Inflation

The hard core of unemployment is defined as the unskilled worker for whom demand is dwindling. To the ranks are being added younger workers just entering the labor force and older workers whose skills are outdated.

The inflation issue finds labor and management split as to what causes the rising cost of living—steadily rising wage scales, or prices rising enough to keep profits rising, too.

Labor charges that boosting prices unnecessarily to get more profits has caused the demand for higher wages. Management contends that profits aren't rising as fast as they should if industry is to get the funds it needs to expand at anything near the rate of economic growth which the Kennedy administration has set as a goal. The administration says the growth rate must be greater if the economy is to provide, among other things, more jobs needed for a growing labor force.

And even the foreigners are getting into the debate—if only as a warning of what the United States is up against.

The prospering Western European nations and Japan are giving many U.S. companies a hard time selling abroad, or competing here at home with foreign goods.

Management says this is because wage costs here are so high that our prices aren't competitive. Labor says it is management's yen for profits—and high executive salaries—that helps keeps prices high.

The administration hopes it can keep the dispute in bounds—stave off more inflation, keep our goods competitive abroad, make the economy grow faster.

The consumer? He just hopes prices don't go much higher.

Weaker Trumps Change Tactics

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Don't think that someone has erred and printed the same hand two days in a row. This time South has a slightly weaker trump holding than yesterday.

The play starts out the same way and you as South get the lead with the king of hearts at trick two. You lay down the ace of trumps and collect the trey and deuce.

Now you should see that you have to lose two trump tricks against any combination of cards and your problem is to find the play that gives you the best chance to avoid losing three trump tricks.

You note that all plays work against an even trump break and that no play will work if the king, jack and another trump are in either hand.

How about king in one hand and the rest in the other one? The queen play will be disastrous, but any other play will be all right.

How about jack in one hand and king-nine-eight in the other. The ten play will lead to three losers, any other play will succeed.

Our research is completed. We lead a low trump and will win the hand if it is possible to do so.

Do Not Agree

Some cooks always pour off the fat as it collects in the skillet during the frying of bacon in the belief that this procedure helps make the bacon extra crisp; other cooks do not agree with this proposition. Try this way and judge for yourself.

Art Among Dirty Clothes

LONDON AP)—The newest thing in art galleries is a launderette in a suburb of London. The owner, Michael Osterweil, 29, is a painter and 30 of his canvasses hang between the bottles of bleach and the washing powders. "People come from miles around to see them," he said proudly. "They bring their washing with them, too." Osterweil said European artists have heard about his exhibition and keep asking him for wall space. "I'm only too happy to oblige, but there are so many of them that I'm going to have a waiting list," he said. Each show will last two weeks.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Pumpkin Pie Gets a French Touch

DELIGHTFUL international situation results when French preserves are used in an American pumpkin meringue pie.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

International Christmas pie—there's a sweet suggestion. Use some imported French fruit preserves made of pure fruit and sugar, such as orange slices, myrtille (huckleberry), groseille (currant), Reine-Claude (green gage), peach, apricot and strawberry, in a meringue pumpkin pie or tarts.

ORANGE-PUMPKIN MERINGUE PIE
(Yield: 6 servings)

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon salt
1teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
3 eggs, unbeaten
1½ cups mashed, cooked pumpkin
1 cup milk
Pastry for one-crust, 9-inch pie
3 tablespoons French orange preserve syrup
6 French orange preserve slices Meringuee
Meringue

Combine sugar, flour, salt and spices. Beat in eggs. Stir in pumpkin and milk. Pour into a 9 inch pie plate, lined with unbaked pastry. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees F.) 50 to 55 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Remove from oven and spread 3 tablespoons French orange preserve syrup over the top of warm pie. Cut 6 slices orange preserves into halves and arrange over pie. Top with meringue. Bake 15 minutes in a preheated slow oven (325 degrees F.). If desired, garnish with additional orange preserve slices.

MERINGUE

1/16 teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
¼ cup sugar

Add salt to egg whites and beat until they stand in soft, stiff peaks. Gradually beat in sugar. Spread over top of orange-pumpkin meringue pie.

County Council Gets Advise on Social Security

Reports on public service provided by the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies, were made at a recent meeting held at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

Area organizations wishing to contribute Christmas baskets to families in need were asked to notify Charles Ryan.

George Johnson, director of the local Social Security Bureau on Albany Avenue reported on the service offered the public by the SSB. He noted that the greater part of those services is in the areas of old age assistance and disability insurance and workmen's compensation.

Johnson explained that benefits are accrued by 20,000 people in Kingston, 13,745 in Ulster County and 6,661 in Sullivan County. Changes that have been beneficially made were noted by the speaker.

The introduction of a counseling service to prepare for retirement is of great significance, the SSB director said. It is a practice that is gaining wide acceptance to prepare for retirement early in life.

Counseling service, Johnson explained, will help all individuals and the service is of particular assistance to those of 65 years of age or older. Trained interviewers are well qualified to advise people where they may receive additional help.

The director stated that the Social Security office can be of great aid to widows and/or with children in deciding on distribution of their benefits.

The public is invited to visit the Social Security office at 61 Albany Avenue, which arranges evening hours for those persons who are unable to seek advise during the day.

The Council's meeting was presided over by Henry Hopper, first vice president.

U.S. Reds Likely To Ignore Ruling As Officers Did

WASHINGTON (AP) — The members of the U.S. Communist party—more than 10,000 by FBI estimates—have until midnight tonight to register as agents of a foreign power.

They are expected to follow their officers' lead and ignore this third—and last deadline. If they do, the Justice Department could try to send them to jail.

When the party itself ignored a Nov. 20 deadline to register with the attorney general and the leaders did the same Nov. 30, the Justice Department got an indictment against the party.

If convicted, the party could be fined $10,000 for each day of non-registration. Officers and members are subject to the same penalty, plus five years in prison for each day of violation.

The registrations were required by the Internal Security Act of 1950, upheld by the Supreme Court earlier this year after a 10-year legal battle.

Party officials had declared well in advance that they would not comply with the registration provisions of the act. They also require the disclosure of party printing press locations, financial contributions and expenses.

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Visions of using robot computers to help doctors diagnose diseases; a theory that chemicals suspect as cancer-causes may hitchhike rides on viruses; and a new and healthier paint for submarines are among latest examples of science at work.

Robot Medics

New research suggests that eventually electronic computers may help doctors diagnose heart disease and certain other ailments.

The robot medical aides might also be employed in "mass screening" of large population groups to help detect unsuspected ailments.

That's the word from a team of U.S. Public Health Service, Cornell, and industry researchers. They report preliminary but promising results in using a computer to help tell whether a given person has a normal or diseased heart.

It does so, they say, by digesting punched card data corresponding to electrical and other signals given out by the heart—and automatically comparing it with similar data stored in the machine's memory department.

Hitchhikers

Certain chemicals present in man's environment have long been strongly suspect as among causes of cancer—even though they are present only in trace amounts, says a group of Seton Hall Medical College researchers.

How then, could they possibly cause cancer? It might be, say the scientists, that common viruses—such as those that sometimes cause polio, colds and other ailments—might serve as carriers of such chemicals. They might take them right into susceptible body cells which viruses themselves can invade.

As any sailor can tell you, the Navy is always painting something—to protect ship hulls and machinery from corrosion. In submarines—especially in long-submerged nuclear subs—there's another reason for frequent painting and repaintings: to prevent sailors from getting psychological problems that might arise from a monotonous environment.

With oil-based paints formerly used, the Navy found that such frequent changes of interior scenery led to a build-up of potentially unhealthy compounds released from the paints long after they had dried.

Now, the Naval Research Laboratory has come up with a new, semi-gloss "acrylic-latex" paint—with a rubbery base—which scientists say solves the problem.

Recovery Hopes Slim for Monkey Shot in Atlas

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An Atlas missile took a tiny Rhesus monkey named Scatback on a 600-mile ride into space but chances appeared slim today that the little fellow will be recovered.

A ship bucked heavy seas in the south Atlantic Ocean searching for the capsule containing Scatback.

Officials expressed hope the capsule bearing the four-pound animal would be found, but admitted the odds were not good. It may have sunk in the rough water, with waves running seven to nine feet high.

Scatback, with a radio transmitter and biomedical sensors imbedded under the skin, was in the capsule attached to the side of an Atlas which blazed away from the Cape at 10:32 Tuesday night.

The Atlas worked with perfection, unleashing the capsule on a 15,000 m.p.h. ballistic course six minutes after launching.

Less than 30 minutes later, the capsule, a 6-foot-long cylinder, plummeted into the intended impact zone more than 6,000 miles down range. A flotation bag was to give it buoyancy.

The package carried a radio beacon and flashing lights to help searchers zero in on it.

Two planes and the range vessel Sword Knot comprised the recovery fleet. The aircraft had to abandon the hunt after about three hours because they were running low on fuel.

Better Shrimp

Cook shrimp in lightly salted water with a celery rib, a sliced carrot and about half a teaspoon of mixed pickling spice; shell and devein the shrimp, then use the strained shrimp liquid in a white sauce in which to heat the shrimp.

SWEETY PIE — By Nadine Seltzer

"That sign is misleading! They don't need any little actors!"

A tablespoon of catchup and a teaspoon of prepared mustard gives good seasoning to a pound of ground beef to be used for hamburgers.

National Federation of Music Clubs Offers $1,000 Award to Individual or Ensemble

The National Federation of Music Clubs will again present a $1,000 award to the individual artist or musical ensemble which has done the most to further the performance and appreciation of American music abroad. The announcement was made today by Mrs. C. Arthur Bullock of Canton, Pa., president of NFMC, and Miss Elsie Sweeney of Columbus, Ind., chairman of the International Music Relations Department.

The period covered is from September, 1960, through August, 1961. The award may be won by a conductor, a solo artist, a chamber music group, or a choral or orchestral ensemble.

The first award, in 1957, went to William Strickland who presented 28 American works in concerts given by European orchestras which he conducted. The 1958 award went to the Westminster Choir which, in a tour of 22 countries in the far and middle East, gave 147 concerts and presented 41 American works. In 1959 the award went to the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Eugene Ormandy, Conductor, for the most effective presentation of American music in other countries during the 1957-58 concert season. The Philadelphians played nine American compositions in 44 concerts in 14 European countries.

In 1960 the award was given to the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D. C., Dr. Howard Mitchell, conductor. The orchestra in its 12-week tour of 19 Central and South American countries, presented 65 sold-out concerts and included one of 8 American compositions in each of the 39 cities visited.

The 1961 award went to the Howard University Choir of Washington, D. C. In 80 days, the choir of 60 voices traveled 27,000 miles, sang before 220,000 people plus hundreds of thousands of others in six TV concerts and two radio concerts—to further the cause of American music in 18 Central and South American countries and three Caribbean islands.

Presentation of the award is a project of the International Music Relations Department of the Federation. Its object is the furtherance of international understanding through the medium of music. Artists or groups eligible for the award should send details to Miss Elsie Sweeney, 525 Lafayette Avenue, Columbus, Indiana. Deadline for sending the questionnaire to Miss Sweeney is Feb. 12, 1962.

LARGE HOUSE BUT LIMITED BUDGET

Q. I have had several letters from friends back east who tell me they are coming to this state next spring to attend our State Fair which is quite a big thing. From what they have written, it is quite clear that they would like to stay with me. I have a rather large house and they are welcome to a place to sleep, but as I am a widow living on a very limited budget, I cannot possibly feed these people. Would it be proper to explain this to them and if so, how can I do so tactfully so as not to seem inhospitable?

A. Write and tell them that you can offer them a room in your house and that they are welcome to sleep there, but unfortunately you cannot have them to meals because of your very limited budget.

Both Fathers Are Clergymen

Q. Mine is an unusual problem and so I come to you for your help. My father is a clergyman and of course I had always planned for him to perform the ceremony when I married. It so happens that my fiance's father is also a clergyman and naturally he would like very much to have his father take part too. Is there some way in which both could be included? I want to do the correct thing and not cause hard feelings in any way.

A. This is not at all an unusual situation, and the usual procedure is for the father of the bride (who is in his own church) to read the begining of the marriage service and the visiting clergyman (father of the bridegroom) to read the betrothal, and then the bride's father to end with the benediction.

Long Gloves at Dinner

Q. I would like to know whether long gloves worn at a dinner dance can be left on and just the hand part turned back while eating, or must the gloves be removed entirely?

A. Correctly they are removed entirely.

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet "Clothes of the Bridal Party." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to The Emily Post Institute, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Shopping Around vs. Love In Choosing Life Mate

"Courtship in just like buying a dress or suit of clothes—you shop around before making a choice. You don't fall in love, you grow into it," a family life counselor recently told an audience made up of college students.

If there's one thing today's young people don't need to be told it is that courtship is just like shopping for something to wear.

If there is one thing which today's teenagers lack — it's a romantic conception of love.

True, they are marrying younger than ever but it is rarely for any "We can't live without each other" emotion. Many of today's girls feel that if they don't marry by the time they are 20 they are doomed to be old maids. And so they "shop around" just long enough to find a man who will put an engagement ring on their finger.

Many young men today are so sold on the idea of security that they marry for the same reason they look into a company's pension plan before taking a job—for security.

These young men shop around to find a girl who fits into their picture of a secure future. Whether they choose a girl with a good job, the boss's daughter, or a girl with the "right" background depends on what they think they need to make their future more secure.

And then there are young people marrying today for no better reason than that all their friends are getting married. They shop around a while and decide that this person or that one is probably as well as they can do and some even make the mental reservation, "If it doesn't work out—there's always divorce."

No, young people today don't need to be told to be practical about choosing a mate. They're pathetically practical, already. Maybe that's one reason why so many of their marriages aren't lasting.

Those who "shop around" for a husband or wife instead of marrying only because they are so head over heels in love they are sure there is only one person in the world for them are likely to figure that if the first marriage isn't perfect they can call it quits and start shopping around for No. 2.

Fraternity Starts Memorial Fund at SU in Oneonta

The Donald F. Jalbert Memorial Scholarship has been originated by the Phi Delta Rho social fraternity at the State University College at Oneonta.

In announcing the beginning of this new fund, the fraternity reported it was offering this scholarship to establish a practical and long-lasting contribution to the college. The social group, housed at 88 Elm Street, Oneonta, pointed out that the continuing need for financial assistance experienced by many college students was a major reason for setting up the fund.

The fraternal organization will give its newly created fund an initial boost through a money-raising project during February 10-17. The group will sell donation tickets which will net a winner a set of seven LP records of varied types of music. A local department store has donated the recordings to the project.

The late Donald F. Jalbert was a faculty adviser of the fraternity when it was founded in 1959. He joined the Onteora college faculty in September 1959 as an assistant professor in the English, Speech and Drama Department. He was a graduate of the State University College at Albany and received his master's degree from Syracuse University.

He had completed the course work for his doctorate when he died in December 1960. His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Jalbert, is a member of the Education Division of the State University unit in Oneonta.

The bulk of the money received from the January contributions will be awarded to a selected student, and a small part of the proceeds will be set aside to build the fund for the future. The scholarship will be given to an upperclassman with at least a 2.5 (C+) cumulative grade average and who is not a member of the sponsoring fraternity. Scholarship, participation in college activities and financial need will be considered in selecting the scholarship winner.

Scholarship judges will be Miss Margaret Baughman, Associate Dean of Students at the college, the fraternity's advisers and three student members of the fraternal group.

Phi Delta Rho members stated that the amount of the first scholarship will depend on the amount of contributions received. They said that fraternity alumni and the general public will be invited to donate to the fund. David Butler, fraternity member, has been designated to answer queries regarding the project. Interested parties may contact him or one of the other members of the organization at the house.

Jeannette Wallot, Hubert H. Terbille Exchange Nuptial Vows at Veteran Church

Miss Jeannette Monica Wallot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wallot of Saugerties, exchanged nuptial vows with Hubert H. Terbille, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Terbille of Lake Katrine, on December 9 at a 2 p. m. ceremony in St. John's Church, Veteran. Officiating during the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Daniel H. Daley, pastor. Jane Tonnessen was organist and Lewis Gaylord was soloist.

Baskets of white carnations and mums decorated the church. The pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of bridal satin with appliques of Chantilly lace outlined with seed pearls and sequins, fitted bodice, modified Sabrina neckline, and long tapered sleeves. Her bouffant skirt was floor length and had a chapel train. A double crown of pearls with triple tiered French imported silk illusion secured a crown. She also wore a white fur cape to complete her costume and carried white mums with holly.

Rose Mary Wolff of Glenerie Lake was the maid of honor in a gown of opera green taffeta styled with fitted bodice, full floor length skirt and opera green velvet cap with circular veil. She carried a muff with red carnations and spray of holly.

Robert Dunn of Lake Katrine was best man for his brother-in-law. Ushers were Walter Sutton and Robert Felton of Lake Katrine.

A reception was given at the Mt. Marion Inn for approximately 65 guests.

The bride was graduated from St. Mary's School in Saugerties and Saugerties High School. She was also graduated from the Moran-Spencerian School of Business and is now employed by Adirondack Transit Lines in Kingston. Her husband is an alumnus of Meyers High School, Wilkes Barre, Pa. He served two years with the U. S. Army and is now employed by IBM in Kingston.

For her wedding trip to Florida the bride wore a two-piece knitted beige suit with beige accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Terbille will reside in Kingston when they return.

Joint Commission To Steady Pollution

HARRISBURG (AP) — A joint state government commission task force will launch a series of public hearings next Jan. 25 to examine the much-publicized Susquehanna River pollution controversy.

Rep. Harris G. Breth, D-Clearfield, chairman of the JSCG, announced the series of hearings Tuesday. The first will be held at Wilkes-Barre and the others in strategic areas along the Susquehanna watershed at later dates.

The hearings, to be conducted by the commission's task force on water conservation, will be aimed at studying the pollution situation "and other problems incidental to the management and future of the river," Breth told newsmen.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

We Can Overdo the Bit Of Not Being Protective

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The youngest of six nearly grown brothers and sisters, he was born when his mother had thought she was through with child-bearing.

One day when the minister was being entertained at tea out on his family's spacious lawn, he ran away and climbed to the roof of the house. Then, a small figure against the sky, he called down to the party assembled around the tea table, "Hey, look where I am! Hey, look, at me where I am!"

His father, deep in a discussion of church finances, looked up—and resumed his discussion. His mother, shading her eyes with her hand against the setting sun, waved, nodded and called back to him, "Hello, I see you."

Years later during physcoanalytic treatment for a problem of work exhaustion, this experience became the focus for his most intense resentment at his parents.

A man of 50, he said brokenly to his doctor, "I wanted them to tell me to come down from the roof. I wanted my father to rush up to get me. I wanted my mother to scream with fear for me. I wanted to know that they cared about what happened to me—but they never showed me they did. They never showed me . . ."

The work problem is solved. He's come to understand how people in their 40s may not welcome an addition to a big, half-grown family they are struggling to make ready for life. But he still has to labor with his belief that he must do most remarkable things in order to rate your attention.

In our eagerness to avoid the overprotective parent's anxiety over imagined dangers to children, let's not forget that it's fine for children to know that we will withdraw them from real dangers.

It's also fine for us. Because we don't want to appear overprotective, we sometimes try to pretend that we are unanxious when they climb high trees, announce their intentions of attending parties given by friends we have cause to disapprove or insist on attending school the day after a high temperature has returned to normal.

Nonchalance in the face of real danger not only places unnatural restrictions on us but can suggest that their safety is not important to us.

Youngsters often feel a need for reassurance of our concern for them that we do not suspect.

At such times they will invite it by exposing themselves to danger in order to give us the opportunity to be our most passionately protecting selves. Even when they bluster their disgust with us, they are secretly happy that we've raised such a row.

Wellsboro, Pa., Really Goes for Christmas

WELLSBORO, Pa. (AP) — Christmas may only come once a year, but when it does, townspeople in this northern Pennsylvania community sure do it up big.

Take for instance the giant chandelier hanging over Main Street. The Wellsboro Chamber of Commerce claims its the biggest Christmas ornament in the world.

The chandelier is 12 feet high and 8 feet wide, basically constructed of aluminum and includes 200 feet of weather-coated silver garlands, eight 2½-foot silver candles, Christmas tree ornaments and twinkle lights.

The townsfolk also have another ornament to brag about—a huge American flag in the Penn-Wells Hotel, made of red, white and blue Christmas tree balls. They say its the only one of its kind in the world.

The chandelier was designed by three community men and constructed by Ellsworth Brown, Wellsboro, with the assistance of Christmas tree experts from the town's plant of Corning Glas Co.

The plant, incidentally, claims to be the world's largest single producer of Christmas tree ornaments.

Advice Is Given Korean Veterans On School Rules

Korean conflict veterans were reminded today by Charles L. Culver, NYS veteran counselor, NYS Division of Veteran's Affairs and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency that under the provisions of Public Law 550 (Korean GI Bill) educational training must be initiated within three years after separation or discharge from the Armed Forces.

"There have been numerous cases where a Korean veteran has waited until the last minute to apply for school only to be turned down, and, before acceptance in another school could be arranged, has gone past his deadline," Culver and Tyler said.

Veterans in training in a school or college on a full time basis under P. L. 550 receive $110 a month, $135 if they have one dependent and $160 if they have two or more dependents. The monthly allowance is to cover tuition, books and living expenses. A veteran attending school on less than a full time basis will receive lower monthly rates.

Culver and Tyler further stated that Korean veterans should start making the necessary arrangements now if they expect to enroll in school next semester, and should take a personal inventory to determine just what their individual deadline is for starting such training. By starting now, the processing of the necessary applications and other papers can be completed well in advance of the start of the semester and the veteran will be able to formulate his educational plans.

For information concerning your rights and entitlements under the Korean GI Bill or to any question you may have concerning your veterans benefits contact the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs office and the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston, with branch offices in Saugerties, Ellenville, Kerhonkson and Highland.

Members of the Salvation Army in Kingston are busily engaged in preparations for Christmas, which will be climaxed by the distribution of dinner baskets and sunshine baskets for the less fortunate, this weekend.

Sees Alliance With Soviet Union

Demos Challenge Nixon On Congo Alternative

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democratic senators challenged Richard M. Nixon today to offer an alternative to President Kennedy's "hard choice" of backing U.N. action in Katanga.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said he accepts as "responsible opposition" criticisms made by Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee, of administration policies in the Congo.

"But what does Mr. Nixon offer as an alternative?" Humphrey asked. "If Katanga secedes from the Congo, it is the beginning of the end. The rest of that unhappy country will become then a beachhead for communism. President Kennedy has made the hard choice—either the U.N. or the communists will prevail in the Congo."

Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama used similar words in a separate interview to describe the President's policies. He said it was all very well for Nixon to characterize as "an incredible mess" the administration's decision to back U.N. efforts to force unification of the Congo.

"But what would Mr. Nixon have done?" Sparkman asked.

Nixon said in a copyright article in the Los Angeles Times-Mirror that the United States had been put in the position of allying itself with the Soviet Union and against most of its North Atlantic Organization allies in the Congo. He said the central Congo government was "infiltrated by Communists and Communist sympathizers."

Replying to this, Humphrey said that Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula can be regarded as just as anti-Communist as Katangan President Moise Tshombe. He said if Tshombe and Adoula can reach an agreement he is confident they can repress Communist influence in any resulting government.

Poughkeepsie Stages Late Rally to Nip Kingston High, 60-54

Flowers Sparks PHS Comeback In Last Period

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Little John Flowers, held in check by a tenacious Kingston High defense, broke loose in the final moments of play to lead Poughkeepsie to a come-from-behind 60-54 DUSO verdict last night at the Kate Walton Field House.

Flowers made four baskets in the last quarter, three of them coming in the final three minutes of play. Each one kept the home side from crawling back into contention after it had led almost from the start.

Playing without the injured John Falvey, the Maroon team moved ahead late in the first period and stayed that way until the middle of the fourth period. A combination of backboard control, a great defense and some hot shooting were the keys in the early success.

With 4:58 left in the third quarter, Kingston had a five point margin, 33-28, and the locals were still playing good basketball. A foul shot by Hardrick Moore sliced the margin to four points before backcourt ace Mike Ferrao put in a twisting left handed layup. After George Lawrence hit for Sam J. Kalloch's Pioneers, Ronnie Thomas retaliated for KHS, shoving the margin to six points, 37-31.

Moore and Tony Erena then exchanged baskets and Tom Parker hit twice for the visitors, shaving the difference to two points, the closest the Pioneers had come since the opening minutes of play. Ferraro then scored with a one hander for Kingston and Ty Elting converted two free throws for the visitors, making the scoreboard read, 41-39, starting the final eight minutes of play.

Basket Exchange

Coach John Gilligan's cagers held the slim margin until Elting made two foul shots, knotting the count, 45-45, with 6:40 left. Less than two minutes later, John Duffner hit from underneath to knot the score, 49-49, and then Moore converted a foul to shove PHS ahead, 50-49. Ferraro put Kingston ahead for the last time with a layup, after taking a pass from Thomas and the more than 1,000 fans were in a bedlam.

Then came the game's turning point. With Kingston in possession, Moore stole a dribble near the KHS basket and went in all alone. This zoomed the visitors ahead, 52-51, and they never lost the lead.

Paul Natale, who saw only limited action during the second half because he felt ill, missed a one-and-one foul with 1:44 remaining and then flowers threw in the first of his clutch baskets, a driving layup. After Ferraro converted a foul shot for the home side to slice the lead to a basket, 54-52, Flowers scored twice more, once on another nifty driving layup and then from the corner. This put the visitors six points ahead and for all intents and purposes, put the game out of reach.

The loss was a bitter one for the Maroon players. They had played solid basketball from the start. Ferraro, until the last two minutes, was great. He set up several buckets and was fantastically hot with his jumper from either side of the floor. However, without Falvey in the lineup and with Natale playing only a few minutes of the second half, the visitors started to control the board, giving them more shots. They shot ahead and never lost their composure. Kingston did and it proved to be the difference in the final outcome.

Ferraro swished 24 points to lead both clubs. Elting was tops for the Pioneers with 17 but he had some good help. Flowers, though, was the spark in those final eight minutes. He did nothing wrong.

Regaining Stature

Duquesne Knocks Bonnies From Ranks of Undefeated

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

The dashing Dukes of Duquesne, once a perennial tournament entrant but relegated to lackluster seasons of late, again are bidding to regain their stature among collegiate basketball's elite.

Undefeated Duquesne, ranked seventh in the current Associated Press poll, knocked ninth-pegged St. Bonaventure from the list of the unbeaten Tuesday night with a 74-57 victory at home.

The Dukes from Pittsburgh posted their sixth straight triumph while the injury-riddled Bonnies suffered their first setback in seven starts.

The only other member of the top ten to see action in a relatively light night of activity was Purdue, No. 8. The Boilermakers, behind a 30-point harvest by All-America Terry Dischinger, polished off Nevada 91-59.

Purdue boosted its won-lost record to 4-1. The Boilermakers' only loss came at the hands of the Wichita Shockers, 71-68. Wichita snapped second-ranked Cincinnati's 27-game winning skein Monday night.

Duquesne led all the way Tuesday night against the understaffed Bonnies, who won the Bluegrass Festival over the weekend. Clyde Arnold was high for the winners with 18 points and Mike Rice added 17. Sophomore Miles Aiken was the St. Bonny standout with 20.

Eighteen Players

Purdue used 18 players in its intersectional conquest of Nevada, the Far Western Conference champion last season. Chico Feilback's 18 points were tops for Nevada, whose record now is 1-6.

Undefeated Mississippi State made Memphis State its seventh straight victim with an 83-71 clawing of the Tigers. The visiting Bulldogs broke the game wide open early in the second half to hand Memphis State its second loss in seven games.

Cornell, on the East Coast, and Santa Clara on the West Coast, kept their records unblemished. Mike Berger collected 31 points as Cornell whipped Rochester 72-61 for its fifth straight. Santa Clara turned back Hawaii 67-53 for the second successive night and boosted its slate to 7-0.

Elsewhere: Kendall Rhine's 21 points powered Rice to a 71-64 verdict over Vanderbilt; Texas Tech used a second-half spurt to wallop Oklahoma 70-42; Rich Falk's field goal with 13 seconds to go gave Northwestern a 65-64 squeaker over Colorado; Georgia outlasted Florida 78-72 in overtime; Detroit's five starters hit double figures as the Titans beat San Francisco 71-53; Fordham rallied in the second half to hand winless Columbia its sixth setback in a row and Penn State inflicted Syracuse with its fifth straight loss, 53-44.

AP Selection

Green Bay, Giants Land Most Players on NFL All-Star Team

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay and New York dominate the All-Star team of the National Football League selected today for The Associated Press by a panel of 42 sports writers and sportscasters from the 14 league cities.

The Packers, champions of the Western Conference, landed six players on the 22-man squad. Green Bay put guard Fred Thurston, center Jim Ringo and halfback Paul Hornung on the offensive unit and tackle Henry Jordan, linebacker Bill Forester and corner back Jesse Whittenton on the defensive team.

New York placed end Del Shofner and tackle Roosevelt Brown on the offensive club and end Jim Katcavage, corner back Erich Barnes and safety man Jimmy Patton on the defensive team.

Sonny Jurgensen of the Philadelphia Eagles was named quarterback in a backfield that included Jimmy Brown of Cleveland at fullback, Lenny Moore of Baltimore at flanker back and Hornung at halfback.

Taylor Second

Jim Taylor of Green Bay finished a close second to Brown in the fullback competition. And several voters named both Brown and Taylor, two fullbacks, to the team. Tommy McDonald of Philadelphia also was a popular choice for flanker back, not far behind Moore.

Ringo and Thurston of the powerful Green Bay line, and Jim Ray Smith of Cleveland were overwhelming choices at center and guard. Brown of New York and Jim Parker of Baltimore just edged Forrest Gregg of Green Bay and Mike McCormack of Cleveland for the offensive tackle jobs.

Shofner, traded away by Los Angeles during the off season, was named as first string and on a majority of the ballots. The fleet former Baylor star caught 68 passes for 1,425 yards and 11 touchdowns in the Giants' drive to the Eastern Conference title.

Jim Philips of the Rams, who used to be Shofner's roommate when both were in Los Angeles, won the other job with his league-leading total of 78 catches for 1,092 yards. Ray Berry of Baltimore was a close third and Mike Ditka of Chicago, Rookie of the Year, also drew solid support.

Ellenville Little League Re-Elects Kelder President

Vernon J. Kelder was elected to his tenth consecutive term as president of the Ellenville Little League at the annual December meeting.

Arthur F. Distel was elected vice president; Robert F. Woodhouse, secretary; Sam Levis, treasurer; and Eugene Houck, player agent. Arthur B. Wright will serve as official scorer. Levis was voted the additional designation of assistant to the president and in charge of the training program.

Managers approved for the 1962 season include: Frank B. Muller, American Legion; Robert Wilhelm, Ellenville Noonday Club; James Wilhelm, Jewish War Veterans; Jerry Barber, Lions Club; Everett Joray, Ellenville Fire Department; Enrico Caruso, Ellenville Police Department; Ronald Murphy and Clem Wright, Napanoch Firemen. Jack Gould was named temporary manager of the Elks Lodge team.

It was voted to open the 1962 season on Saturday, May 12, with view of perhaps lengthening the schedule of games at both the Channel Master stadium and Berme Road field, so as to carry the scheduled games and playoffs through the month of July.

Registration for at least 30 places on major teams will be held at the school the second week of April. Financial plans and collection of funds and fees for sign advertisers will take place in January.

The next meeting of the league will be held Thursday, January 18, at 8 p. m. at the town hall. All managers are requested to have an inventory of suits and equipment available.

Name Co-Captains

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. — John Kifner of Chappaqua, New York and Rick Ash of Huntington, N. Y. have been been elected co-captains of the Williams cross-country team for the 1962 season.

KHS Shoots Well But Loses Game

Kingston High players shot almost 50 per cent against Poughkeepsie last night but they failed to win the game. The locals made 24 baskets in 50 attempts. Failure to control the backboards in the second half was the main cause of the loss.

The shooting:

Mike Ferraro 11 for 25, Ronnie Thomas 4 for 7, John Duffner 3 for 6, Paul Natale 2 for 6, Bill Bodenweber 1 for 1, Mike Celuch 0 for 2, Tony Erena 1 for 2 and Glenn McLeod 0 for 1. Total 24 for 50.

Rebounding:

Ferraro 5, Thomas 6, Duffner 11, Natale 4, Bodenweber 3, Celuch 7.

Assists:

Ferraro 4, Thomas1, Duffner 2, Celuch 1.

KHS Jayvees On Top, 32-27

Despite some anxious moments, Bill Hurley's Kingston High jayvee team keeps winning. The Maroon juniors tallied five points in the last 35 seconds to break a 27-27 tie and nip Poughkeepsie, 32-27, last night at the Kate Walton Field House.

Mike Canning hit from outside with a jumper to snap the deadlock and the locals moved to their fourth straight win. Canning had 11 points to pace the winners.

Kramer Abandons U. S. Pro Tennis

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Professional tennis players won't tour the United States in 1962 because the crowds aren't showing up.

Promoter Jack Kramer, who admits about $75,000 has been dropped on the last two U.S. tours, says there will always be a demand in this country for the pros—"but not on an annual basis until open tennis comes."

The pros won't lack for competition—tournaments around the calendar are scheduled in Australia, South America, South Africa and Europe.

"We're convinced our best bet is to take advantage of tremendous interest in foreign countries," Kramer told a reporter. "It's a tremendous gamble to put up expensive prizes. The idea of gambling in America is not as pleasant as gambling elsewhere."

The Australian players, he says like the change—they get more time at home.

Kramer, who hasn't drawn a salary for more than a year because of financial reverses, says open tennis—pros against amateurs—is the only available long-range cure for both sides of the sport.

Lakers End Celt Skein At Nine

The Boston Celtics' nine-game winning streak and the New York Knicks' eight-game losing streak came to an end in the National Basketball Association (NBA) Tuesday night.

The Celtics went down before the Los Angeles Lakers 104-101 in Los Angeles and the Knicks beat the St. Louis Hawks 128-111 in the feature of a doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden.

In the opener of the twin bill the Syracuse Nats whipped the Detroit Pistons, 124-111. And the Philadelphia Warriors, with Wilt Chamberlain flipping in 57 points, defeated the Cincinnati Royals 117-110 at Cincinnati.

Boston overcame a 16-point deficit in the first quarter to lead the Lakers by three points early in the last period. Then, with the score tied at 101 and only 42 seconds left, Frank Selvy won the game for the Lakers with a 15-foot jump shot and a free throw.

Johnny Green scored 10 points as New York went on a 15-0 spree late in the third period to sew up the Knicks' triumph over the Hawks.

Syracuse put on a late spurt to beat Detroit. Larry Costello, with 30 points, and Hal Greer, with 26, sparked the Nats to an 18-point lead early in the last quarter that assured victory.

Chamberlain got his 57 points against Cincinnati on 24 field goals in 47 tries and on nine of 14 free throws.

Snow Reporting Service Ready At Belleayre

Victor Glider, chief of the Bureau of Forest Recreation in the State Conservation Department, announced today that a new service for skiers has been instituted at the State-operated Belleayre Ski Center in the Catskills.

It's a snow-reporting answering service, now in operation 24 hours a day. Skiers may call Pine Hill 2501, any time of the day or night, for the latest report on snow conditions, Glider said.

Last year, nearly 150,000 skiers used the facilities at Belleayre. The season opened December 22 and continued through April 9, with 108 days of skiing.

The opening date for the current season will depend on weather conditions, Mr. Glider said.

Cannon's Class Sparked Houston To Division Title

By CHARLES GREEN

HOUSTON (AP) — San Diego and Houston meet for the American Football League championship Sunday, and the Oilers can just be thankful Billy Cannon took care of the skeptics.

The Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State had a hard time last year when he made his pro debut. He got battered and benched.

He was threatened with the bench early this season because Lou Rymkus, then coach of the Oilers, said he thought it might help Billy play better football.

But Cannon responded. When Wally Lemm took over for Rymkus in mid-October, Cannon started a running binge that led him to the league's rushing title, a one-game rushing record and a tie for the most touchdowns in one game.

Cannon is only part of the story of Houston's nine-game surge from the bottom to the top of the league's Eastern Division.

Solid Records

The Oilers set several records in lining up the title rematch, and some of the marks are good enough to be records in either pro league.

The defending AFL champs are the first team in the AFL or the National Football League to gain more than 6,000 yards in a single season. The Oilers picked up 6,288 in 14 games. No team in either league has ever matched the 4,392 yards Houston gained on passes.

No other team in the AFL or NFL has scored more than 500 points in one season. Houston scored 513.

George Blanda, in his 12th pro year, passed for 3,340 yards and 36 touchdowns—more than any other quarterback has done in either league.

Charles Hennigan caught passes for 1,746 yards, bettering the record Elroy Hirsch set in the NFL a decade ago. Cannon's 948 yards rushing is a league record.

The Oilers and the Chargers—whose 12-2 record is the league's best—are even this year. San Diego won at home, 34-12, and the Oilers won at Houston, 33-13.

Library Shelves Many New Books

One of the most controversial books dealing with nuclear weapons, "On Thermonuclear War," by Herman Kahn, has been added recently to the collection at the Kingston City Library.

The book, widely discussed by men at the Pentagon and White House, deals objectively with the fact of possible nuclear war and its aftermath all over the world.

The new books:

Fiction — Fourteen Stories, Buck; The End of It, Goodman; God Was Born in Exile, Horia; Memed, My Hawk, Kemal; The Best Short Stories of Ring Lardner; Learning to Talk, Greene; Soul Clap Hands and Sing, Marshall; The White Rajah, Monsarrat; Uncle and Other Stories, Wain.

People — Garbo, Billquist; A Matter of Life and Death, Peterson; Basic Writings, 1903-1959, Russell; Sinclair Lewis, An American Life, Schorer.

Places—The Man Next to Me, Barker; Alone Across the Atlantic, Chichester; African Encounter, Collis; Report From Berlin, Donner; The Pyramids, Fakhry; House Without a Roof, Hindus; Enjoy Japan, Sheldon; Tibet Is My Country, Thuben.

The U.S.A.—Civil War in America, Barker; The Future of Our Cities, Futterman; String Too Short to Be Saved, Hall; Foreign Aid, Loeber; Education and Income, Sexton; The Horse America Made, Taylor.

Science and Economics — The Forest and the Sea, Bates; The Atom and Its Nucleus, Bamow; Biography of Physics, Gamow; On Thermonuclear War, Kahn; The Stages of Economic Growth, Rostow.

The Arts—How to Keep House, Gilles; Victorian Comfort, Gloag; How to Make Colleges, Lynch; Five Plays, O'Hara; Jewish Art, Roth; The Spectra Hoax, Smith.

Religion—Had You Been Born in Another Faith, Bach; The Layman and His Conscience, Knox; History of Religion, Olmstead.

Personal Statements — The Faces of Justice, Bedford; The Fate of Man, Brinton; The Predicament of Democratic Man, Cahn; On the Contrary, McCarthy.

The Soft Touch

Next time you take a bath, fold up a clean, fluffy towel and place it against the tub in back of your head. It will serve as a soft cushion while you relax and revive in warm soapsuds.

Delicious compote: thawed frozen peaches mixed with fresh orange and grapefruit sections.

Dedrick on Bail In Fire Series; Held for Burglary

A Greene County teen-ager, out on $10,000 bail in connection with a series of barn burnings in Oak Hill and Durham is in trouble with the law again. John Dedrick, 16, of Oak Hill was picked up by state police on charges of burglary, third degree, in connection with the theft of a case of liquor from the home of Louis Maierbott in Cooksburgh, just over the Albany County line from Greene County.

Dedrick is being held at Albany County jail, according to state police of the Leeds and Selkirk barracks. He waived examination before Justice Harold White of South Bethlehem who ordered him held for grand jury action.

Dedrick was released in $10,000 bail on Nov. 27 in connection with three barn fires, two in Oak Hill and one in Durham earlier in November.

Coxsackie Man Hit By Car, Fair Today

A Coxsackie man, struck by a car on Route 385 in the village of Coxsackie Tuesday night, is reported in fair condition today in Greene County Memorial Hospital.

According to Trooper M. H. Cannon of the Leeds Barracks, Wolodymyr Trembacz of RD, Coxsackie, stepped in front of a car operated by John George Davis, 36, of New Street, Coxsackie on Route 385 about 5 p. m. Tuesday. The man suffered a fractured right leg, multiple lacerations and abrasions, a concussion of the brain and possible fracture of the skull.

Seek New Ways To Cut Down Grid Fatals

CHICAGO (AP)—The record of 15 prep football deaths in the 1961 season has the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations seeking new safety measures.

Clifford B. Fagan, executive secretary of the association, told the Associated Press Tuesday.

"The federation is going to campaign for stricter enforcement of regulations governing such things as piling on and tackling out of bounds. We also want to see a reduction in the use of forearms on defense."

The federation began keeping records in 1931 and represents 20,000 high schools in every state except Texas. The 15 direct deaths are the highest on record. There were 14 recorded in 1935, 1946 and 1957.

There were seven other football fatalities which fell in the indirect category. These included players stricken by heart seizures in warm-up routines or who died from various infections and diseases.

Nine of the direct fatalities occurred during games, six in practices. The federations said 720,000 boys participated in prep football the past season making the death ratio 2.08 for every 100,000.

Upstate Cage Powers Beaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In battles of giants Tuesday night, two Upstate New York college basketball teams were tumbled from the unbeaten ranks by still undefeated teams.

Ninth ranked St. Bonaventure was walloped by seventh-ranked Duquesne at Pittsburgh, 74-57, while Cornell slammed visiting Rochester, 72-61.

In other action involving Upstate teams, Penn State handed visiting Syracuse its fifth defeat, 53-44; Albany State drubbed host Utica, 84-69; Alfred outfought host Upsala, 68-66; Yeshiva beat Hartwick, 84-62 in New York, and Oswego trimmed Le Moyne, 66-61 at Oswego.

The Bonnies, hampered by the loss of starters Ed Petrovick and Tom Hannon, never caught up with the Iron Dukes after a close first half. Clyde Arnold led with 18 points for the Dukes while the losers' Miles Aiken had an even better 20.

Petrovick has been examined for an enlarged heart and Hannon has a sprained ankle.

Cornell was never headed by Rochester after the 10-minute mark although the losers' Mike Berger dropped in 31 points. Jerry Szachara was high man for the Big Red with 19.

Corsage Hanover Top 2-Year-Old

SARATOGA SPRINGS — Corsage Hanover, top two-year-old trotter at Saratoga Raceway in 1959, has posted an impressive number of wins in her new home country, Italy, this year. She was sold earlier this year to European interests by Ernest B. Morris of Loudonville.

Latest win by Corsage Hanover was in an international race for $3,200 in Milan, Italy. This was one of the international races through the European "Grand Circuit" and the field included four ex-Americans among the six starters.

The distance was about one and a quarter miles and Quick Song was the favorite, but broke stride and placed sixth and last.

Corsage Hanover trotted the distance of 2,000 metres in 2:42 2/. In second place was the Italian five-year-old Mauier and third was Elise Hanover.

Branch Rickey 80 Years Old

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Branch Rickey, the elder statesman of organized baseball, celebrated his 80th birthday today still visualizing the creation of a third major league.

The father of baseball's farm system predicted that the National and American Leagues would expand to 12 teams each in the near future and then to a third league.

"The 12-team league will last a year or two, then they'll have a hassle and go to a third league with eight teams each," Rickey said.

"Are the present clubs happy?", the former president of the defunct Continental League added. "If they answer at all they'll tell you 'no,' especially the two newer clubs in each league. It's too expensive of a proposition."

National Milk Marketing Plan Under Study Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Stabilization Advisory Committee on dairy products has asked the Agriculture Department to supply it with more information on a program for federal management of milk production and supplies.

The committee, appointed recently by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, closed a two-day session Tuesday and planned to return about Jan. 12 to consider the possibility of recommending a national milk marketing order for controlling production of milk and dairy products.

Members said most of the committeemen would favor such an order as an alternative to less income from milk and dairy products.

Department officials estimate that the cost of the dairy price support program this fiscal year may run as much as $500 million over last year's cost of $272 million. They said the administration goal is to work with milk producers to develop and enact a workable program to maintain farm income and reduce government costs to an acceptable level.

Baltimore was second in total yardage with 4,922 yards and San Francisco third with 4,904. The Western Champion Green Bay Packers finished fourth with 4,714 yards and the Eastern champion New York Giants fifth with 4,597.

REACTIONS OF WOUNDED BIG GAME

BIG GAME, BY ITS REACTIONS, MAY SHOW SIGNS OF BEING SHOT EVEN IF IT DOESN'T LEAVE A BLOOD TRAIL. IT MAY JUMP OR RUN ERRATICALLY. IT WILL USUALLY HEAD FOR THE NEAREST HEAVY COVER. VITALLY HIT, IT USUALLY HEADS DOWNHILL, AND A GOOD TRAIL OF BLOOD OFTEN DEVELOPS QUICKLY. UPHILL DEPARTURE USUALLY MEANS A LESS VITAL SHOT, PERHAPS WITH LITTLE BLOOD TRAIL AND A LENGTHY JOB OF TRAILING, BUT DON'T GIVE UP.

GAME MAY NOT REACT, SO FOLLOW ITS TRAIL A BIT TO BE SURE!

GOP Legislator to Fight Move to Date N.Y. Milk

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Republican legislator vows to "fight to the last ditch" plans of his party leaders to repeal the legislator's 1960 law that abolished New York City's milk-dating requirement.

Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason, R-Delaware, told The Associated Press he anticipated substantial support from other Upstate Republicans.

Gov. Rockefeller and the Republican leaders of the legislature are expected to win the dispute, however.

Rockefeller, with the leaders' support, will recommend that the 1962 Legislature allow New York City to reinstate a requirement that milk-containers bear the date the milk was pasteurized.

The GOP high command reportedly feels that the ban on milk-dating has become a political liability, partly because of complaints about sour milk.

Mason, whose original bill was enacted at the urging of farm groups, defended the ban on milk-dating as sound from health, scientific and economic standpoints.

He said modern refrigeration facilities would keep milk for at least one week, with no adverse affects on taste or freshness.

In a telephone interview, Mason, at Stamford, Delaware County, said Tuesday the 40-year-old practice of milk-dating had become obsolete. All other cities in the state had abandoned the system.

He had no comment, however, when asked about the Republican leaders' view that the law he sponsored should be repealed in the interests of the party.

Despite Mason's plans to fight a repeal of his law, and prospects of Upstate support, a coalition of Democrats and Republicans from New York City is expected to have sufficient strength to repeal the measure.

Democrats opposed the ban from the outset and have made it a major political issue.

Mason, a lawyer in the dairy country, claimed that Democrats had raised "a spurious issue to distract attention from the mess they have made in New York City."

The vote in the Democratic-controlled council was 24 to 1. The lone discenter, Republican Stanley M. Isaacs, said: "Santa Claus, in all his wildest dreams, never even imagined the kind of Christmas gifts we are handing out today..."
